Warn of Despotism at U. of C. Parley.

BY GEORGE MORGENSTERN.

The learned congress assembled at the University of Chicago in celebration of the Midway's 50th anniversary analyzed the national economy yesterday and reached the conclusion that many more missteps may well result in irretrievable catastrophe.

A group of the nation's leading economists and experts in business administration, who evaluated the status of business and industry after eight years of the New Deal and who attempted to forecast what the future might hold, noted these trends:

1. That constant expansion of government controls over the system of free enterprise has warped traditional economy beyond all recognition.

2. That the principal function left to the innovating spirit of business management is to find means of conforming to government restriction.

3. That the war economy into which the nation is now heading will be a more completely controled economy than the nation has ever known.

4. That labor has demanded and the government has granted "rights" which already are in excess of the ability of the economic system to produce.

5. That small business, altho more efficient than giant corporations, is being crushed by the priorities system and failure to share defense production.

6. That big business will survive because the government has found that it can keep its finger on all business more effectively by dealing with large scale units.

7. That the present economic drift is toward totalitarian socialism and that a new leadership of power grabbers will rise under this system.

The most biting castigation of the trend was delivered by Prof. Raleigh W. Stone of the University of Chicago, who said that one of the principal factors preventing utilization of the human resources of the nation was the popular insistence on rights in excess of the ability of the system to produce.

Current Burden of Rights.

"The current burden of rights," he said, "includes the right to organize and bargain collectively, without any significant hindrance to monopolistic practices; the right of the closed shop; the right to the five day week masquerading as a right to hea'th but currently a device to jack up wages; the right to social security; the right to suitable employment, and the right to social justice.

"This is only a partial catalog, but it adds up fairly close to the notion that the nation 'owes me a living — not just a living, but an American standard of living. Just what the American standard of living is, is open to competitive bidding on the up side; the floor is another matter.

"President Roosevelt's floor thus far is loosely stated to be, 'There shall be no sacrifice of our social gains,' which would appear to establish a popular equity in the notion that the new floor will always be the old top.

Collect Rights in Advance.

"Rights have not only been expanded, they have taken on a new character. They are no longer goals toward which a person has a free and fair opportunity to work with a reasonable prospect of success. Nowadays rights, like rents, are something to collect in advance."

Dr. Stone said that altho European experience should have taught the nation something, apparently it has not. He said that, simply stated, the European chain of events was:

1. Free enterprise and democracy disappeared because of failure to solve the problem of unemployment.

2. Europe failed to solve the problem of unemployment because persons who had goods or services to sell refused to sell at prices others could pay.

3. They refused to sell because they had "rights."

4. The sum total of rights reduced to monetary terms added up to substantially more than the national income, which, of course, precluded making good the rights.

5. The basic freedoms and free enterprise went out with the rights.

Mexicans Riot at President's Home; 4 Killed

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 23 (AP).—Four or more persons, including a union leader, were killed and 16 wounded today when Mexican troops fired upon munition workers who marched on the suburban home of President Manuel Avila Camacho to demand the removal of Gen. Luis Bobadilla Caberos, war plants director.

Manuel Avila Camacho.

Unofficial reports said 14 were killed and dozens wounded. Among the dead were Guillermo Rojas, a union secretary general, and Col. Maximano Ochoa, in charge of the troops. Official sources said some members of the president's military guard were among the wounded.

Shot by Guards at Home.

One thousand laborers were said to have been in the throng which ascended Chapultepec heights to demand a personal hearing from the president, who is a prime collaborator in hemisphere defense policies.

Warned away by the guards, officials said, the workers insisted on entering the president's home and the guards then fired.

In an open letter to the president this morning the workers asserted that Gen. Bobadilla Camberos was farming out war orders to incompetents and placing his relatives and close friends in key factory positions.

Tell of "Chaotic Condition."

The workers also accused the general of uniting with ousted union officials, who, they charged, had made a veiled attack on the president and his international policies, which include close coöperation with the United States.

The workers asked the president's intervention to end what they described as a chaotic situation in the war industries, and alleged that their ousted union officials and Bobadilla had been making them out falsely to be communists.

British to Use Water Hose on Internees Who Riot

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 23.—As a result of the riots by British Fascists internees in an Isle of Man camp, the guards, who are forbidden to shoot, have been equipped with rubber hoses, with which they will be "able to disperse rioters with strong jets of water," it was announced today.

REPORT BRITISH SHIP ABLAZE OFF FLORIDA; 14 FLEE IN LIFEBOAT

Flagler Beach, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP).—A wooden freighter, believed to be the 115 foot, 201 ton British motorship Arawak, tonight burned fiercely 28 miles off this coastal resort town, while coast guard boats sped to the rescue of 14 persons who abandoned the vessel in a lifeboat.

The Arawak, built in 1938, left Jacksonville this morning for its home port of Nassau, Bahamas, and coast guardsmen said the description of the burning ship tallied with that of the British freighter.

When it left here the Arawak carried nine crewmen, a married couple not immediately identified, two children, and a male passenger.

Officials of the British consulate declined comment.

SEATTLE HEARS WHEELER'S PLEA FOR FREE SPEECH

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 23 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] assailed President Roosevelt's foreign policies tonight before a crowd that overflowed into the street.

The Montana isolationist spoke at the Metropolitan theater after the Eagles lodge canceled the America First committee's reservation of its big auditorium. The crowd filled the theater's 1,700 seats and as many more heard the address by loud speaker outside.

Wheeler's declarations that United States interests lay in keeping out of Europe's conflict drew frequent applause from the crowd.

Referring to the opposition to his appearance here the senator declared:

"I begin to think that instead of going over to Europe to fight for the four freedoms we ought to come to Seattle and fight for the four freedoms here."

WAR TAKES BACK SEAT FOR STREET WALKING TIGER

HOLMFIRTH, England, Sept. 23 (AP).—The town council in this Yorkshire community has a problem which is making the war take a back seat. The problem is a tiger—a pet which the owner, Wilfred Overend, insists on taking for walks in the street.

Overend says the animal is entitled to exercise, but many persons have had nasty scares, especially in blackouts, when they have encountered the big cat creeping along at the end of the leash.

Councilman A. Brooks said the tiger had better be kicked out quickly.

"I understand," he asserted, "this tiger is going to have young ones in the spring. Then we'll have a whole street full of tigers!"

Houston, Tex., Feels Lash of Coastal Storm

Houston, Tex., Sept. 23 (AP).—Houston, Texas' largest city, late tonight was at the very center of the tropical hurricane which hurled its fury against the Texas coast this afternoon between Matagorda and Freeport, where winds reached 90 to 100 miles an hour.

Fierce winds—65 miles an hour—struck the Houston area. The barometer before midnight dropped to 28.72, the lowest point yet recorded in the present disturbance. Rain fell in torrents, whipping in thru closed windows. The Houston Post editorial room was covered with half an inch of water.

Utility Head Electrocuted.

D. E. Saxby, superintendent of the Gulf States Utility company, was electrocuted at his home here as he tried to disentangle a live wire.

Most communications, except for a few telephone lines, were out. The weather bureau said the storm should lose its intensity soon as it curved northeastward, but warned that destructive winds would travel inland as far as 100 miles northwest of Galveston.

The death of one seaman was reported, but there were no reports of fatalities ashore. The steamship Myriam radioed the coast guard that a seaman died of the effects of salt water after being washed overboard and rescued. The message did not give the victim's name.

Tides Maroon Hundreds.

In Galveston bay damage to piers fronting fashionable bayshore homes was estimated at $200,000. High tides marooned hundreds of bayshore residents. . . .

Meanwhile at Corpus Christi, about 130 miles down the coast from Matagorda, tides dropped swiftly and the wind slacked off to 20 miles an hour.

Army officials at Camps Wallace and Hulen, near Galveston and Palacios, respectively, said no injuries had resulted from the storm. Camp Hulen was deserted, except for a few service troops, after 2,000 men were moved to higher ground at Wharton.

Hard hit was Freeport, site of the new 25 million dollar Dow Chemical plant and of the Freeport Sulphur company, industries figuring in the nation's rearmament production. About three-fourths of the residents fled inland.

Most residents of Port O'Connor, a fishing village of 500 persons at the entrance to Matagorda bay, fled to safer Port Lavaca.

Business houses at Bay City, 21 miles north of Matagorda, were boarded up.

PRESIDENT SAYS AID TO BRITAIN MUST GO THRU

Will Ask Change in Neutrality Law.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—President Roosevelt today announced the United States is heading toward the arming of American ships and the merchant ships of Latin American republics to keep American supplies moving to Europe in an effort to halt what he termed the most outrageous movement in all history—the effort of a certain group of people to dominate the whole world.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed he is preparing to ask congress to permit American ships to carry guns. American ships are now forbidden to arm themselves by the neutrality act.

Indicates Request for Repeal.

It was indicated that he will ask repeal of the act. Repeal of the act, rather than modification to permit the arming of merchantmen, would also permit American ships to carry war supplies to Britain. The repeal of the act would do away with the forbidden war zones the President has established by various proclamations under the act.

At the same time Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that he feels that he can order the arming of merchant vessels without the consent of congress, in citing such action by President Wilson during the World war. He also disclosed that he has already made a survey of the number of guns available for American ships, and is confident that, while there is not enough to arm every American ship, there will be enough to arm those which would ply North Atlantic waters.

Brings Immediate Opposition.

The President's position on the arming of American merchantmen brought immediate opposition from the noninterventionist group in congress.

Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho] said Mr. Roosevelt would have "the toughest fight in congress he ever had." Senator Charles Tobey [R., N. H.] saw arming of merchantmen as "another step in the pattern leading toward war."

Senator James E. Murray [D., Mont.] said he did not know whether "it would be a successful method," and wanted indorsement "from naval and military experts."

"If the naval experts recommend this step, it will go a long way toward putting such a measure thru congress," he said.

Won't Predict Outcome.

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] said there would be a "tremendous fight" in the house against the REPEAL NEUTRALITY, USE U. S. ARMY WHERE NEEDED, KNOX URGES

Quincy, Mass., Sept. 23 (AP).—Use of the United States army "where it is needed and when it is needed," together with immediate repeal of the neutrality act, were urged today by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox in a speech delivered after the launching of the 35,000 ton battleship Massachusetts.

Speaking extemporaneously, Knox asserted "we must have done with that type of thinking that argues that our army must be circumscribed in its action in defending America."

[The selective service act restricts the movement of draftees outside of United States territory.]

He said it was "foolish thinking" to regard "our safety as only directly concerned when an enemy puts a foot on our soil."

The secretary said "the time is past for us to play with laws like the neutrality law that cripples us in our efforts to help those who are fighting Hitler. We should waste no time repealing that law. It is no longer an asset and it is a liability."

He referred pessimistically to the chances of Russia in the battle against Germany.

More than 50,000 persons watched the 70 million dollar battleship slide down the ways of the Fore river yard of the Bethlehem Steel company.

As the Massachusetts slid down the ways an overhead crane started to lay the keel of a new cruiser, the U. S. S. Flint.

Argentina Acts to Foil Revolt of Nazi Plotters

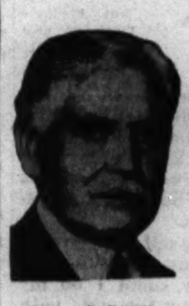
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 23 (AP).—Argentine troops occupied the nation's two most important military airdromes today and were reported to be moving fast into all the air bases in the country to forestall any surprise move by Nazi conspirators. Argentina's highest military leaders held an urgent meeting here.



Ramon S. Castillo.

[A. P. Wirephoto.]

A radical member of congress declared dramatically on the floor of the chamber of deputies that Acting President Ramon S. Castillo himself "joined in the totalitarian plotting."

Ramon Damonte Taborda, chairman of the Argentine "Dies committee" investigating subversive activities, said some army officers were involved and a number had been arrested.

Confirm Army Movements.

Taborda made the announcement of the military measures involving all the country's air bases after the occupation of two military airdromes—at heavily German populated Cordoba and Parana—had been confirmed.

Taborda said the air fields being taken over by the military included El Palomar, just outside Buenos Aires; Gen. Urquiza airdrome in Parana, El Plumerillo in Mendoza, Coronel Pringles in Villa Mercedes, San Luis province.

The military airplane factory at Cordoba also was under guard.

Lieut. Col. Edmundo Sustaita, air corps officer at Cordoba, and a lieutenant named Krauss at the Parana base were among those reported arrested.

Battalion Takes Airport.

Parana dispatches said the 3d signal corps battalion occupied the army airdrome there. That city is the headquarters of the 3d army corps area.

The 13th infantry battalion took up position at the airdrome at Cordoba, rail and air line hub for central Argentina. A battalion in the Argentine army includes five companies totaling 900 men.

Besides the military activities in Cordoba and Parana, headquarters of the 5th corps area at Salta confirmed reports prevalent here since Sunday that troops were being quartered in Tucuman, in northwestern Argentina.

Cordoba is the capital of a province of the same name in central Argentina and Parana is the capital of Entré Rios province, in the east central part of the country north of Buenos Aires. All three provinces are heavily populated by Germans.

Claims Country Is Calm.

Upon emerging from the military conference here Acting President Castillo said the government had taken preventive measures and that he was "certain that the country as a whole is calm."

Earlier he had taken cognizance of persistent reports of unrest in a certain part of Argentina by declaring there was no truth in them.

[The Argentine chamber of deputies on Sept. 15 censured Edmund von Thermann, the German ambassador. A demand was made that leaders of allegedly subversive Nazi organizations be ejected from the country.]

Rumors of unrest began spreading simultaneously with last Friday night's demonstration in which two bombs were thrown in front of the embassy residence of Von Thermann. Stones were flung at the embassy building and extra police were called to put down this hostile demonstration.

F. D. R. AND THE NEUTRALITY ACT

In a speech on Oct. 29, 1940 —just before his third term election — President Roosevelt said:

"By the Neutrality Act of 1935 and by other steps . . . we made it clear to every American and to every foreign nation that we would avoid becoming entangled (in war) thru some episode beyond our borders. These were measures to keep us at peace. And thru all the years of war since 1935 there has been no entanglement and there will be no entanglement . . . we shall continue to go forward in firm faith. We shall continue to go forward in peace."

SMASH 3 SOVIET COUNTERBLOWS, GERMANS CLAIM

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (AP).—Russian counteroffensives in each one of the three major sectors—the most widespread yet mentioned in Nazi dispatches—were reported today, but all were declared broken in a series of German victories highlighted by announcement of the destruction of 50 Red divisions trapped east of Kiev.

Before Leningrad in the north and Poltava in the south, German informants asserted, it was a similar story, with the Russians losing heavily in vain efforts to stem the Nazi advances, which in the south were continuing toward the Donetz basin city of Kharkov.

[Russians were reported counterattacking over a hundred miles of the front to relieve German pressure on armies of the south. Story and map on page 5.]

Battleship Left Sinking.

German planes bombed a soviet battleship today and left it in a sinking condition in the Gulf of Finland, the news agency DNB reported late tonight. It did not identify the battleship, but did say the old 23,250 ton Oktiabrskaya Revolutzia [October Revolution], lying in a port [presumably Kronstadt] was hit again by two bombs after having been damaged yesterday.

At the same port a cruiser and destroyer were reported sunk, another cruiser and two destroyers hit and a tanker and a destroyer set afire.

In the Black sea off Odessa, dive bombers set fire to a Russian cruiser, damaged a torpedo boat and a patrol boat and destroyed nine freighters aggregating 15,000 tons.

Claim 380,000 Prisoners.

Of the vast force claimed destroyed in the Kiev sector—numbering about 750,000 men—380,000 were said to have been taken prisoner in a continuing constriction of the German trap. Authoritative commentaries thus brought to a grand total of 2,000,000 their estimate of the number of soviet war prisoners—a figure equaling the number of Russian captives taken in four years of the World war.

The great battle of Tannenberg in the World war netted the Germans 100,000 Russian prisoners, while in the Smolensk battle of the present war Germans claimed 310,000 prisoners. The encirclement battle between Smolensk and Minsk bagged 400,000 Russians, according to German figures.

Russian enlisted men were credited with fighting doggedly over every inch of ground in a series of counterattacks about Poltava in the lower Ukraine, Leningrad on the northwest front, and about Smolensk at the center, but all their supreme efforts were described here as failures

One of History's Greatest.

It was the battle east of Kiev, where four Red armies are encircled, that was stressed. Authorized persons described it as one of the greatest—and perhaps the greatest—engagement of its kind in all history.

Russian loot already taken, the high command said, included more than 570 tanks and 2,100 guns and "these figures are constantly increasing."

The situation east of Kiev was thus presented by authorized informants:

The vast encirclement begun 10 days ago had now resolved itself into a series of smaller encirclements each of which the Germans were mopping up. To make this breakup into smaller units possible the German strategy first was directed toward erecting "a wall of firearms" on the east side of the encircled area, both to prevent the Russians from breaking out and to prevent relief from entering.

The Barrier Is Completed.

Despite the bitterest of Russian resistance—in which civilians joined—this "wall" was completed. The Russians next tried to interfere with bringing up German supplies, but their attacks were not effectual.

Meanwhile, army corps after army corps of German infantry kept reaching appointed stations in a churning process by which it was claimed that the Russians were chased by the tens of thousands into murderous Nazi fire.

After three days—so went the German version — the Russians were jammed into such a relatively small area that they had little freedom of movement and the Germans merely had to feel out the weaker spots and then concentrate the attack.

SCHENCK BARES HIS FIRM'S MOVIE STAKE IN BRITAIN

Doesn't Know Details, He Tells Senate Quiz.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc., which controls Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, shrugged and waved his hand today when a senate subcommittee asked him to explain the financial structure of the 150 million dollar movie corporation which he heads.

Nicholas M. Schenck testifying before senate committee.
[AP Wirephoto.]

Names of subsidiaries or what properties Loew's holds do not interest him, Schenck asserted. He said they are merely the mechanics of the business and he hires accountants to handle them.

"I've trained myself to discard such things out of my mind," he told the senators. "How could I do my job if I locked up my thoughts with things not worth remembering?"

Has Investment in Britain.

However he did testify later that his company had a $3,500,000 investment in the Gaumont-British chain of theaters and owned interests in seven Australian and three Canadian theaters.

When he repeated that he could not remember the names of any subsidiaries of Loew's except Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] declared:

"If you are Exhibit A of the average corporation director in this country, God save the stockholders."

Questioned further on how he guides the destinies of Loew's, he told Tobey:

"They bring me papers and I sign them—if I see my lawyers' names on them first."

"Do you sign checks the same way?" Tobey asked.

"O, I don't sign checks," he replied.

Spends Day on Stand.

The subcommittee is investigating alleged war propaganda activities in the movies and radio. It is a preliminary inquiry on a resolution introduced by Senators Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] and Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.].

Schenck, bronzed and gray haired, who was nattily turned out in a powder blue suit with matching shirt and tie, remained on the stand the entire day. He remained unruffled under detailed questioning on both the financial and production phases of the industry.

Previous witnesses have charged that the industry is a monopoly controlled by a few men who are producing propaganda pictures thru which they hope to wreak personal vengence on Adolf Hitler by inflaming the American people to war.

From a Hollywood point of view, today's session was the most colossal since the hearings started several weeks ago. Beside Schenck on the stand and a corps of minor movie executives who sat eyeing him approvingly, there was the unscheduled appearance of Darryl F. Zanuck, of 20th Century-Fox, who smiled for photographers while spectators thronging the chamber ogled at him.

Willkie in Background.

Wendell L. Willkie, moving picture counsel, was shoved into the background by the battery of eagle eyed lawyers who marched into the hearing in Schenck's wake with a phalanx of stenographers and brief case bearers. Willkie, who ran for President in the last election, was hired to speak for the Hollywood people for a reported fee of $100,000.

Not until after the hearings started did the movie industry realize that Willkie's forensic talents would avail them little under the senate rules which forbade him even a minor speaking rôle in the proceedings.

At the request of the committee, Schenck spent some time brushing up on some of the details of how Loew's operates and what it owns and controls. Later in the afternoon he was able to supply the answers to several questions that he was unable to answer earlier.

Monopoly Denied.

Schenck refused to concede the existence of a monopoly in the industry. Asked whether the five top producers of moving pictures are able to prevent the showing of independent productions thru their control of movie houses, the witness avoided a direct answer by saying he could not "imagine" such a thing happening.

"We five could never get together," Schenck declared. "To do that would be absolutely a crime and something that we have no right to do." Observing that each of the companies had thousands of employés, he asked:

"How could you keep a secret of that kind—combining and conspiring to injure some one?"

The chairman said he was not implying that the companies would do it but was contending that they could take such action.

Puzzled by "Satellite."

"It is a fact, isn't it, that the smaller companies are mere satellites to the five big ones," asked Senator Clark.

"What? Satellite? What's that mean?" the witness demanded, eyeing the committee chairman suspiciously.

"I mean the smaller companies exist thru the sufferance of the larger ones, don't they?" the senator persisted.

"Absolutely not," Schenck declared firmly. "What are 129 theaters Loew's controls out of 2,800? Just a small show window for us to advertise our product. There is plenty of room for all."

Most of the questioning was done by Senator Clark. Following are some of the exchanges:

Clark—How many subsidiaries does Loew's have?

Schenck—Really, I can't tell you. I used to know, but many have merged. Now I leave it to the lawyers.

Q.—You certainly know what boards of directors you are on? A.—No, I don't.

Q.—What companies in Great Britain does your company control? A.—Well, there's Gaumont-British.

Q.—Loew's has 24 per cent of the stock, doesn't it? A.—I don't know how much stock. But I can tell you how much money—3½ million. [The figure 24 per cent was later corrected to read 14 per cent.]

Q.—How many theaters in England does your company control? A.—I haven't the least idea.

"God Help Stockholders."

Q.—[By Senator Tobey]: I am a little old-fashioned, I'll admit. But I must confess amazement at your lack of knowledge of your directorships, and details of companies to which you have lent your name. If you are Exhibit A of average corporation director in America, God help the stockholders.

Schenck—May I answer that.

Tobey—Yes, indeed.

Schenck—Certainly. Thank you. Until 1927, I was second in command and did all the work. Since then I've been first in command and I don't watch those things. Anyway, we've been successful and I work hard. I haven't had a vacation in two or three years.

Tobey—You're having one now.

Schenck—I don't look at it that way.

Report 25% of Lend-Lease Eggs Sent to Britain Spoiled

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—Officials admitted today that they have received "unofficial reports" that up to 25 per cent of the early egg shipments sent to Britain under lend-lease were spoiled, but they said that situation has been corrected.

They claim the British have not registered any official protest altho reports of such spoilage have come from England.

Officials explained that when the first shipments of fresh eggs were sent last spring the British counted on cool spring weather to keep the eggs fresh during transit without refrigeration. It appears, however, that this calculation went wrong and heavy losses were sustained both thru spoilage and breakage.

Using Refrigeration Now.

Now the British are refrigerating the fresh eggs and also taking larger quantities of dried eggs which keep and ship better. The United States government bought in the market 15,487,000 pounds of dried eggs, 66,189,000 pounds of frozen eggs, and 1,296,000 cases of fresh eggs in the period between last March 15 and Sept. 13, a large portion of these going to Britain, and the remainder used for relief distribution or storage.

Meanwhile plans are going ahead for sending more canned, boneless chicken to the British under lend-lease. Chicken canners met here today to discuss with agriculture department officials the technicalities involved in bidding on canned chicken and the best methods of processing.

Food Value Lost.

It was admitted that part of the nutritive value of chicken is lost in canning it, and the aim is to find the most efficient processing.

The government, thru the surplus marketing administration, has already bought 52,800 pounds of the delicacy to be given the British. It is a certainty that none of the canned chicken was given to reliefers.

Altho the government will not disclose prices paid for the meat, it is estimated to cost more than $1 a pound. Officials denied reports that the cost ran as high as $1.50 a pound and refused to confirm rumors that the government planned to buy as much as 8 million pounds additional of the chicken for shipment to Britain.

No invitations for bids have been issued since the first purchase in the week ended Sept. 13, officials said. But the meeting here indicated that large purchases were contemplated.

FIGHTS ANY BAR ON LEND-LEASE AID FOR RUSSIA

Stettinius Makes Appeal to House Hearing.

Plenty of U. S. Salmon

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 23.—One million cans of salmon and 225,000,000 pounds of cheese, nearly half of the normal production in the United States, will be sent to Britain under the lend-lease act, Minister of Food Lord Woolton announced today. A similar quantity of canned salmon is coming from Canada. Canada also plans to send four times the prewar amount of bacon to Britain.

From these supplies, after substantial allocations for the fighting services, about 60 per cent of the normal prewar consumption will be available to the general public, it was announced.

After announcing that Britain now has a bigger stock of wheat than ever before in its history, the ministry ordered a reduction in the prices of bread. A four pound loaf of bread will sell for 16 cents starting Oct. 6, a reduction of 1 cent.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP).—Opposition to any restriction that would prohibit lend-lease assistance to Russia was reported to have been expressed before a house subcommittee today by Edward R. Stettinius, lend-lease administrator.

Before the same group Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard also testified that a minimum of a billion dollars would be needed to keep England supplied with food over the next five months.

Both spoke in behalf of the new 5 billion 985 million dollar appropriation recently requested by President Roosevelt for the lend-lease program.

Given Advance Credits.

Stettinius, however, was said to have conditioned his statement on Russian aid with an explanation that it was not the policy of the government to give the soviet government materials bought with lend-lease funds.

Russia has been paying for her purchases, but recently was given advance credits on certain Russian exports to this country in order that she might buy war materials here.

Nevertheless, Stettinius was emphatic in opposing any amendment to the bill which would prevent help to the soviets.

Wickard testified that Great Britain was "dependent upon North America for huge quantities of food stuffs. . . ." Unless the British are to lose to Hitler, he said, "the deficit has to be made up from this country and Canada."

He testified that up to the start of this month about 433 million dollars had been allocated to the agriculture department under the original 7 billion dollar lease-lend appropriation. He said that a request for a billion dollars of the new appropriation "is the very lowest estimate of funds needed for the commodities the department has promised to supply to Britain."

Satisfied with Progress.

Of the billion, he continued, about one-third would be used to purchase pork products, including lard; another third for dairy products and eggs, and the balance for tobacco, cotton, and a number of vitamin-rich fruit and vegetable products.

The secretary said the program for supplying food for England had proceeded "much more rapidly than we thought." The first British request for farm products arrived in March, he added, and by mid-April ships loaded with these supplies were sailing for England.

"The rate of shipment has been increasing steadily ever since," the secretary said. "By the end of August we had sent about 420,000 long tons of farm products and had reached a rate of about 200,000 tons a month. Some of the items sent in largest quantity include evaporated milk, cheese, canned tomatoes, starch, lard, dried beans, dried fruit, corn, and pork."

TAXES ON LIQUOR LIKELY TO YIELD BILLION YEARLY

33⅓ Per Cent Boost in Spirits Levy.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—The torrents of whisky, rum, gin, brandy, wines, and beer, which annually course down the gullet of the American drinker, will cost him approximately a billion dollars in federal taxes during the 12 months beginning Oct. 1.

Awe-inspiring are the statistics showing the volume of alcoholic intake by the citizens of the United States. In 1940, they tossed down 103,981,635 gallons of domestic distilled spirits [which excludes imported liquors such as Scotch and Irish whisky]. Nearly 60 million barrels of beer were consumed and more than 100 million gallons of wine.

The taxing agencies of the government have long been aware of John Barleycorn as a profitable source of revenue. The latest tax bill, enacted into law by President Roosevelt's signature last Saturday, carries heavy increases on all potables except beer. Next year's measure will undoubtedly raise the stiff taxes on all alcoholic beverages to new highs.

Consumption on Increase.

The latest figures available, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1940, show that the government collected liquor taxes amounting to $634,253,156, as compared with $587,453,455 in 1939, an increase of 6.2 per cent. The largest increase was in distilled spirits, for which collections increased 12 per cent over the previous year. Approximately $347,000,000 came from the taxes on distilled spirits alone.

The distilled spirits tax in effect for the fiscal year 1940 was only $2.25 a gallon. Last year the tax was increased to $3 a gallon. In the new tax bill it will be $4 a gallon. Tax experts confidently except that close to 700 million dollars will be collected yearly in hard liquor taxes when the $4 rate goes into effect next week.

Brandy Differential Dropped.

The new bill eliminates a differential in favor of brandy, which was in the present law. The tax on brandy was $2.75 a gallon in comparison with the $3 tax on other distilled spirits. Beginning Oct. 1, brandy will be taxed at $4 a gallon like other spirits.

All the federal taxes on wines are increased in the new bill. Wines containing not more than 14 per cent alcohol by volume will be taxed 8 cents instead of 6 cents a gallon. The tax was increased from 18 to 30 cents a gallon on wines containing 14 to 21 per cent alcohol. It was raised from 30 to 65 cents a gallon on wines containing from 21 to 24 per cent alcohol.

Wines containing more than 24 per cent alcohol are taxed as distilled spirits at the rate of $4 a gallon.

Sparkling Wines Doubled.

The taxes on sparkling wines were doubled. The 3 cent tax on each half pint of champagne, sparkling Burgundy, etc., was raised to 7 cents a half pint. The rate on artificially carbonated wines and on liqueurs and cordials was increased from 1½ cents to 3½ cents a half pint.

All liquor dealers must pay a floor-stocks tax equal to the difference between the present taxes and the new rates. Every dealer must pay a $1 tax for every gallon of liquor in his store on Oct. 1. The floor-stocks tax on wines will range from 2 cents to 35 cents a gallon, depending upon the alcoholic contents of the wines.

Beer Tax Unchanged.

The federal tax on beer, ale, and porter remained at $6 a barrel of not more than 31 gallons. In the tax act of 1940, the defense tax had caused an increase from $5 to $6 a barrel. This tax, which would have expired in 1945, was made permanent by congress this year.

In the fiscal year 1940, taxes collected on fermented malt liquors totaled $267,776,187. While the official figures for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1941, have not been published, the $1 a barrel increase and an estimated increase in consumption will probably bring the collections well above the 300 million dollar mark.

There are many government taxes assessed against the manufacturers of alcoholic beverages. Breweries with a capacity in excess of 500 barrels a year pay $110 annually to the government. Breweries with a capacity of less than 500 barrels pay a $55 tax. Wholesale dealers in beer pay a $55 a year tax; retailers pay $22.

Wholesale liquor dealers pay $110; retailers $27.50 a year. Rectifiers of distilled spirits pay $200 a year. Manufacturers of stills pay a special tax of $50 a year and $22 for each still manufactured.

Not a Record High.

The new $4 a gallon tax on whisky and other spirits is by no means a record. From 1918 to 1927 the tax was $6.40 a gallon and it will probably exceed that mark in a year or two. After prohibition was repealed in 1934 the tax was made $2 a gallon. It remained at that point until 1938 when it was raised to $2.25. In 1940 it was made $3 and goes to $4 on Oct. 1.

In the early decades of the 19th century there was no government tax on whisky except for the five year period following the war of 1812, when it varied from 9 cents to $2.70 a gallon, according to age and proof. In 1862 it was only 20 cents a gallon, but it rose to $2 a gallon by 1865 when the Civil war ended. In the 24 year period between 1894 and 1917 the tax was $1.10 a gallon.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 23 [Special].—In four years of married life she only saw her husband 16 days, Marjorie Weaver, film actress, testified when she was granted a divorce today in Reno from Lieut. Kenneth George Schacht of the United States navy, now stationed in Manila.

The decree was awarded to the Tennessee girl on the ground of extreme cruelty. She was given the right to resume her maiden name, under which she appears on the screen.

The couple was married in an elopement to Goshen, Ind., on Oct. 22, 1937.

"We will discuss our future when he plans to visit here in April," Miss Weaver said. "And if there is a chance we can be happy together there is a possibility we may re-wed."

U. S. DECLARATION OF WAR IS URGED BY HARVARD HEAD

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 23 [Special].—Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university, today advocated a declaration of war by the United States against the axis powers in delivering an address at the university's opening chapel service in the Harvard Memorial church.

"To my mind, until congress does declare war, we as a people are dwelling an an ambiguous half way house," he told the students. "By failing to act with our full force wer are delaying the hour of final victory, the hour of peace."

60 BILLION SUNK SO FAR ON WAR EFFORT IN U. S.

Total Includes Lend-Lease and Foreign Orders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—The rearmament program involved a total expenditure of 60 billion 16 million dollars from July, 1940, to Aug. 31, 1941, including appropriations, authorizations, commitments, and foreign war orders, of 3 billion 659 million dollars, the Office of Production Management announced today. Actual disbursements were 9 billion 187 million dollars.

Actual obligations of the United States totaled 56 billion 357 million dollars, including the first lend-lease appropriation of 7 billion dollars. In addition, another lend-lease request of 5 billion 985 million dollars now is before congress, making an immediate prospective outlay of 62 billion 342 million dollars.

World War Cost 23 Billion.

In comparison the direct costs of the entire World war to the United States from April, 1917, to April 30, 1919, were only 23 billion 850 million dollars. In addition there are unpaid foreign debts to the United States of more than 13 billions.

Of the allocations in the rearmament program from June, 1940, to Aug. 31, 1941, the biggest portion, 12 billion 518 million dollars, or 20.8 per cent of the total, was for airplanes. Other allocations were:

Ordnance: 11 billion 937 millions, or 19.9 per cent of the total.

Marine construction: 11 billion 512 millions, or 19.2 per cent of the total, of which 8 billion 154 millions was for naval vessels, and 3 billion 358 millions for merchant vessels.

Industrial facilities, including machinery and real estate: 5 billion 954 millions, or 9.9 per cent of the authorized program.

4 Billion for Construction.

Allotments for construction of posts, depots, fortifications, and residential housing came to 4 billion 783 millions, or 8 per cent of the total.

Funds for all other purposes, including clothing, supplies, pay, subsistence, travel, and combat equipment other than ordnance, totaled 13 billion 312 millions, or 22.2 per cent of the total.

Most of the foreign orders, included in the above figures, were British, but no breakdown was provided.

AMERICA FIRST ORGANIZATIONAL WORK DISCUSSED

Sixty chapter chairmen and representatives of the speakers' bureau of the America First committe met last night at 122 South Michigan avenue to report progress in organizational work of that group.

Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, was in charge of the meeting and urged that a special effort be made to interest the nation's farmers in the committee's work. P. R. Fredericks, chairman of the Crystal Lake chapter, supported this plea by declaring that the farmer is overwhelmingly in favor of America First "since, unlike men living in the city, he can think independently."

There also was a discussion of the Union Now movement by John W. Maseiter of the speakers' bureau.

MILK FOR BRITAIN RUINING BUTTER OUTPUT, CHARGE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP).—Ralph E. Ammon of Madison, Wis., chairman of a group representing the United Dairy committee, said today that the government's method of purchasing dairy products for Great Britain was "almost wrecking the butter industry."

In buying for Britain, Ammon asserted, the government is concentrating on cheese and evaporated milk. The prices of these are skyrocketing with the result that farmers are leaving the creameries that produce butter and diverting their milk to condensers and cheese factories, Ammon said.

Meanwhile, approximately 40 dairy state senators and congressmen named Representative August H. Andresen [R., Minn.] to head a committee to handle legislation intended to counteract government encouragement of use of oleomargarine as a butter substitute. The action was taken after Oscar Swenson of Nicollet, Minn., a United Dairy committee member, expressed doubt that new federal standards permitting oleomargarine to be colored and made to taste like butter could be changed except by congress.

SHORTAGES SLOW TROOP TRAINING, GENERAL FINDS

Discusses Faults Bared in Maneuvers.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Natchitoches, La., Sept. 23.—Following a closed critique attended by 1,000 field and staff officers of the 2d and 3d armies, Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, director of the general headquarters maneuvers being held here, today discussed the results of the first phase of the war games with the press.

The chief deficiency exposed by the maneuvers, Gen. McNair said, was a lack of small unit training due principally to inadequate leadership by officers.

The general made no attempt to dodge issues. He answered all questions put to him by reporters, simply and to the point.

Praises Energy of Troops.

He praised the personal energy of the troops and said that "if the troops' equipment were completed they would give a better account of themselves today than American troops did in the World war, which is not saying too much."

The general referred to the many shortages of modern weapons and equipment which have handicapped training ever since the men entered the field.

The general hastened to say that he was not reflecting in any way on the courage or performance of duty of American troops in the World war but was emphasizing that many American soldiers fought in that war with less training than those in the present maneuvers have received.

The plan now is to go back to intensive small unit training, bearing in mind the lessons learned in the maneuvers. It is hoped that ammunition will become available for extensive target practice. The general said it was planned that in four months task forces would be organized for training in coördinated operations by conventional ground forces, mechanized units, and air forces.

Discusses Deficiencies.

Here are some of the deficiencies as discussed by Gen. McNair:

Inadaptability of maneuer area to use of mechanized equipment—He was not responsible for selection of the area, he said, but there was not enough tank and air equipment available to profit extensively no matter what the terrain. He predicted the appearance soon of new M-4 medium tanks, armed with 75 mm. guns instead of the present 37 mm. weapons. These tanks will be potential tank destroyers.

Failure of defensive methods—Ground was not organized properly and only in a few cases were counterattacks employed. Reconnaissance and security measures were neglected. Engineers were not used efficiently in covering retreats with demolitions. Road jams showed lack of proper traffic direction.

Failure to maintain communications—The general blamed lack of radio equipment largely for this. He said that foot messengers and field telephones were inadequate, particularly when tank operations were in progress. Some of the failure of commanders to meet situations in the field were due to lack of information because of poor communications.

Indifference to air attacks—Since the bombing demonstration at Barksdale field yesterday it is expected that troop commanders will appreciate the deadliness of air attacks on troops in concentrated groups. During the maneuvers the air attacks with flour bag bombs were generally ignored because practically none of the troops and few of the officers had ever seen bombs explode. Every available officer saw the demonstration yesterday. On the other hand, from the viewpoint of the air force, the general said, the support given the troops was highly effective.

Gen. McNair predicted a rapid development of coördination of air and ground troops, and with the arrival of equipment quick determination and development of anti-tank groups. Several provisional units were tested in the maneuvers.

"The tank threat has been long appreciated as perhaps the most serious problem facing our army, and the efforts directed to solution of the problem are now approaching definite form," he said.

WISCONSIN GAS DEALERS FLAY ICKES' EDICTS

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23 [Special].—Members of Wisconsin Retail Gasolene Dealers association today attacked Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior and petroleum coördinator for tossing an impractical and indefinite program on the laps of dealers and leaving enforcement up to them.

"The President has appointed Ickes as coördinator but there is anything but coördination," Louis M. Faber, secretary of the Milwaukee Retail Gasoline Dealers said. "There is no definite program from the administration, except that the dealers in the east have been told they can get only 90 per cent of the gasoline they have been getting."

An official canvass by the association showed that most of the members are not opposed to a curfew but see no need for rationing gasoline. They wil laccept a program of closing from 7 at night to 7 in the morning. President Edson Stubbs, Fond du Lac, said the dealers see no necessity for rationing. "There is plenty of gasoline," he said, "and plenty of transportation for gasoline but there is need of better coördination in handling the transportation problem."

BRITAIN URGED TO TELL AMERICA OF ATLANTIC WAR

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP).—Maj. William D. Whitney, assistant to the coördinator of American aid to Britain, criticized British propaganda today as having failed to impress the American public with the seriousness of the battle of the Atlantic.

"It's better to run the risk of informing the enemy than run the risk of not telling your partner," he declared in a luncheon address before the English Speaking union.

Whitney said that during the critical months of the battle, American correspondents urged Britain in vain for information that would have let them tell the story to the United States.

ARMY'S BIG NEED IS DIVE BOMBERS, EXPERTS AGREE

Builds Only 100 of an Old Style Type.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shreveport, La., Sept. 23.—The pressing need for a comprehensive American dive bomber program—a program that has been the subject of intensive study but of virtually no executive action by army air corps authorities during the last four years—is one of the important lessons learned from the first phase of the army maneuvers that reached their midpoint last Friday and will be resumed for another week here tonight.

High ranking officers of the air corps admitted today that the few dive bombing squadrons that were with the second [Red] and third [Blue] armies in the simulated battle of Louisiana, were just about the most potent air weapons against troops in the field. This, of course, is not strikingly original because the Germans and the British reached the same conclusions after the Spanish war and in the Polish and French campaigns in 1939 and 1940.

Few Dive Bombers Ordered.

But even today the army has let no large contracts for dive bombers. In fact the only contract for this sort of aerial weapon that has been signed during the last year called for delivery of 100 obsolescent types of dive bombers by the Douglas Aircraft company. That contract has been completed and production halted. These planes are considered by the army as trial machines.

Perhaps the situation here in relation to the dive bomber is not as dark as the picture would appear because the navy and the British both have signed contracts with American manufacturers for planes of these types. Curtiss at Buffalo and Brewster of Newark, N. J. are making large, long range dive bombers for the navy. Vultee Aircraft of Nashville, Tenn., is at work on an enormous British contract for a long-range dive bomber to be called the Vengeance.

Experts Disagree on Value.

In the past air corps action on the question: "To have or not to have dive bombers" has been complicated by disagreements among experts in the air corps itself. One group held that the light bomber capable of 300 miles an hour while flying from 40 to 400 feet off the ground was a better weapon than a plane that dropped its bombs while in a vertical dive on its target.

Another group, equally sincere, said that the light bomber could do certain jobs better than the dive bomber, but that the dive bomber was the only satisfactory air extension of artillery that could be used against moving objects such as tanks, ships, attacking infantry, scout cars, and against such strong points as pillboxes, bunkers, and mobile light artillery.

MOLDED PLASTIC PLANE, A FLYING PIANO, IS TESTED

Made of Materials Not on Priority.

New York, Sept. 23 [Special].—A new molded plastics-and-mahogany airplane of advanced streamline design, reported more resistant to fire and heat than metal, and said to afford mass production possibilities from materials not now on priorities lists, was demonstrated today by test pilots at Roosevelt field.

The comparatively small plane, traditional in appearance except for the refinements of its streamlining, was described by aviation experts as unusual in its wooden surfaces, which show the grain of the wood of which it is constructed.

Has Two Engines.

It is 20½ feet long and has a wing spread of 35 feet, weighing 2,300 pounds. For power it has two 65 horsepower Franklin engines, rated to give it a cruising speed of 125 miles an hour. The plane has a landing speed of 48 miles an hour, described as a safety factor of prime importance.

With present power the plane will carry a pilot and two passengers. Later models, it was said, probably will have 90 horsepower engines, enabling them to carry the pilot and four passengers.

Built by the Langley Aviation corporation, the ship presently is known as the Langley "Flying Piano," because of its mahogany content, polished to a bright sheen.

Process Kept Secret.

Details of the process by which the plane was manufactured in an experimental plant at Manhasset bay, on Long Island, are secret, but it was said that plywood is not prefabricated and then bent and fastened to a previously constructed frame, a process which already has been used in plane construction. Instead, thin sheets of mahogany treated with plastics are placed in wooden molds, inserted with the latter into sacks of rubberized fabric and then subjected to heat and pressure.

This method produces the plane, unit by unit—such as the wings, control surfaces, cowling, and half sections of the fuselage. Each unit thus fabricated comprises both structure and surface, and the units are bonded into place, eliminating bolts and rivets and said to result in adding at least 10 miles an hour to flying speed.

FIND U. S. BOMBER IN MOUNTAINS; CREW OF 6 DEAD

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 23 (AP).—Three veteran forest rangers completed late today an arduous 12 hour climb to the spot where a twin motored army bomber crashed near the summit of 7,700 foot Mount Constance two weeks ago.

They reported by short wave radio that all six aboard the plane apparently were killed instantly. The dead included Second Lieutenant Edward T. Valorz of Chicago.

The rangers—Tony Zacardo, Hugh Wolcott and Jack Conrad—were guided to the scene of the crash by smoke flares dropped from army planes.

BRITISH PUT UP FORTS IN CAPITAL OF SIERRA LEONE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 23.—Military preparations are being hastened in Freetown, capital of the British African colony of Sierra Leone, next door to Liberia and French Guinea, it was learned here tonight.

Fortifications are being erected, air raid shelters are being constructed, and a big underground airdrome is being built.

French reports also say that 4,500 men have arrived to join the armed forces at Freetown and new naval units also have been dispatched there. Three American cargo ships also are in the harbor unloading war materials, including planes. The French were especially interested in reports that De Gaullist [Free French] elements also are gathering in Sierra Leone.

The Swedish freighter Ossian, 1,564 tons, has been sunk by an aerial torpedo from a British or Russian plane while traveling in a German convoy in the North sea, marine circles said. They said the vessel, en route from Cuxhaven, Germany, to Rotterdam, went down near the Frisian Islands with a loss of two lives. Marine sources also reported that the British freighter Newbury, 5,102 gross tons, was torpedoed recently in the north Atlantic.

REDS POUND FOE ON NORTHERN AND CENTRAL FRONTS

Seek to Relieve Pressure on Armies of South.

MOSCOW, Sept. 24 [Wednesday] (AP).—The Russians, gravely concerned by the growing German threat to the vital Donetz basin industrial area, counterattacked against Nazi forces over hundreds of miles of the front today in a determined effort to relieve pressure on Red armies in the south.

From the arctic to the Baltic and in the Smolensk sector Red forces were on the offensive with successes reported particularly around Leningrad, where a continuing day and night drive was declared to have resulted in 50,000 Germans dead, wounded, and captured.

The early morning communique announced that in the west, above Smolensk, two regiments of a German division were defeated and their remnants thrown back across the Dvina river.

Retreat in Murmansk Area.

In the Murmansk area of the far northern front, front line dispatches said the 3d German mountain infantry division was in disordered retreat. This was believed to have eased somewhat the developing Nazi threat to Russia's big arctic port.

But it was a dark picture in the south, where Marshal Semeon Budenny was making a heroic effort to extricate the bulk of his army from the area behind fallen Kiev in order to defend the vital cities of Kharkov and Rostov.

Kharkov is the center of the teeming Donetz industrial region and Rostov is the important port on the Sea of Azov, at the mouth of the River Don.

The soviet press spokesman, S. A. Lozovsky, vice commissar of foreign affairs, admitted that the loss of these cities plus the Donetz basin not only would gravely impair Russian industrial capacity but be the prelude to an attack on the Caucasian oil fields and the Iranian [Persian] link between the soviet union and the British empire.

Dispute German Claims.

The claimed toll of 50,000 casualties inflicted upon the Germans in the Leningrad area represented by far the most heartening news from Moscow.

This figure was reported to the army organ Red Star by Lieut. Gen. N. Vatitin from the bloody theater of war south of Lake Ilmen, 150 miles below Leningrad. In the same dispatch Vatitin reported the Red army units in that sector not only were halting the Germans but successfully counterattacking in various places. He denied flatly a German claim that three soviet armies had been routed in the area.

Leningrad's own defenders were described as meeting continuous German attacks at the approaches of the city with ever stiffening resistance. One dispatch said a bayonet charge had driven the Germans back 7 miles in one place.

[A Moscow radio broadcast heard in Los Angeles said heavy snows were falling on wide areas of the Russian-German battlefront. Authoritative British military sources in London said that they regarded the situation at Leningrad as not unfavorable.]

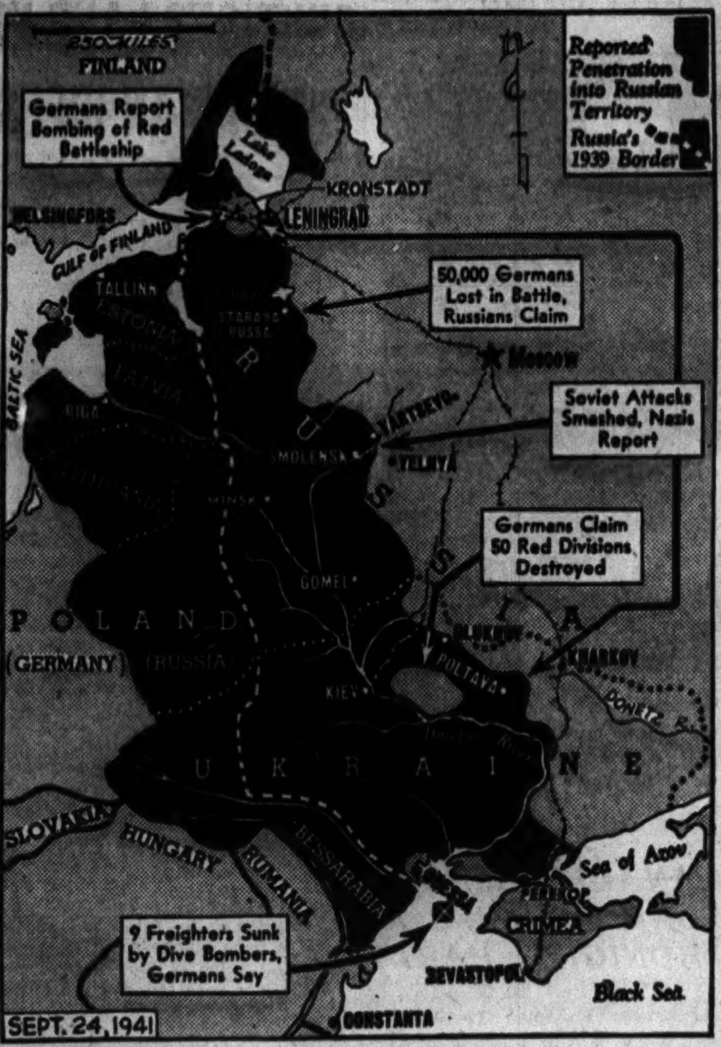
Attacks Far to South.

Official reports of both government and army indicated that isolated counterattacks were extending far south along the central front.

[Advices reaching London said the successful Red army counterattacks had extended as deep as Glukhov, which is 160 miles northeast of Kiev and 230 miles from Smolensk, where the main soviet counteroffensive has been centered.]

German planes caused slight bomb damage in a three hour raid on Moscow last night, the first night in which blackout regulations were relaxed. A squadron attempted to reach the capital soon after nightfall when the squares and main streets were illuminated for the first time since the war began. The city immediately was plunged into darkness. A communique said only two planes reached the city, dropping several small explosive bombs and a few incendiaries.

Opposing Claims on Eastern Front



Captions indicate developments on the eastern war front yesterday as announced by Russian and German officials.

1,100 AXIS REFUGEES FROM IRAN MISSING ON TRIP TO TURKEY

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 23.—Axis circles here tonight expressed concern over the fate of a caravan of axis refugees which left Teheran, capital of Iran [Persia], seven days ago en route to Gulbulak, on the Turkish frontier.

The refugees, numbering more than 1,100 German, Italian, Hungarian, and Bulgarian diplomats, women and children, have not been heard from since.

Several Germans said the party might have encountered difficulties at Kazvin or Tabriz, Iran, which have been occupied by the Red army.

U. S. AND BRITAIN RULE SEAS, KING INFORMS GREECE

LONDON, Sept. 23.—King George of Greece, broadcasting from London to the Greek people, tonight said that any one who crossed the Atlantic could not fail to be impressed by the absolute control of the seas exercised by Britain and the United States.

The king said that any one who found himself in Britain—"mighty outpost of civilization"—would see a great transformation, wherein Britain has been turned into a gigantic impregnable fortress. Any one seeing the increasing strength of Britain and her allies, as well as the "incomparable fortitude" of the British people, could not possibly doubt the certainty of victory, he said.

"The blue and white standard of Greece still is proudly flying," King George said. "Officers and men are rallying, and soon the Greek middle east army will be putting a full division on the field."

He predicted that freedom will return to Greece in the "not too distant future."

Illinois Will Observe Roosevelt Thanksgiving

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23 (AP).—Illinois will celebrate an early Thanksgiving day again this year.

Gov. Green hasn't issued the formal proclamation but he has indicated that he will follow President Roosevelt's leading designating Nov. 20, the third Thursday in November, as Thanksgiving day.

SMOLENSK A NAZI VERDUN, LOSSES HUGE, REDS CLAIM

Say Steady Grinding Saps Germans' Power.

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY.

WITH THE RED ARMY ON THE CENTRAL FRONT, Sept. 23 (AP).—The German-Russian slaughter on this front has become a Verdun 10 or a 100 times multiplied, Maj. Gen. Vassily Sokolovsky told front correspondents today.

In this continuous grinding of men and material, he contended, the proportion of losses over the last two months has been two to one in favor of the Russians in men, and five to one in favor of the Russians in material. This, he said, was because of superiority of Red army planes, tanks, and artillery in this sector.

Sokolovsky, a husky, dark, clean-shaven officer of the modern soviet school, talked quietly and confidently of the progress of the Red army's counterattacks in the center.

Cites Examples of Success.

On a 60 mile front, Sokolovsky said, the Germans have been pushed back from 6 to 30 miles in the direction of Yartsevo. Sipping tea as he spoke, Sokolovsky cited these examples of soviet successes:

On one front, the Germans lost 22,500 in dead and wounded from Sept. 1 to Sept. 10; on another sector, they suffered 20,000 casualties in the first seven days of September.

Eighteen German divisions are estimated to have lost 50 to 70 per cent of their men and equipment in soviet counterattacks around Yelnya, Yartsevo, and on the flanks above and below Smolensk. In man power, this means the loss of perhaps 135,000 to 189,000 men.

The German air force, Sokolovsky estimated, has lost 1,950 planes in the central area since the start of the battle of Smolensk.

Germans Now "Digging In."

In a single sector, he went on, the German material losses in the first 10 days of the month were 148 tanks destroyed, 17 captured, 103 cannon destroyed, 86 captured, 41 mortars destroyed, 53 captured.

"This," he said, "is evidence of how quickly the enemy is being exhausted."

Over hundreds of miles of the front, the general related, the Germans now are digging in and "what lies ahead of them is trench warfare and the winter mud of Russian roads."

But, he said, "what we depend on for resources is not only the U. S. S. R. but also the British and American peoples. . . . Every extra plane, shell, tank, and gun will be more than welcome, and the sooner they are here the sooner victory will be achieved."

CHURCHILL GETS NEW JOB, LORD OF CINQUE PORTS, AND A CASTLE

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill has been appointed lord warden of the Cinque [five] ports, but will not be installed or take up residence at Walmer castle until after the war. He succeeds the late earl of Willingdon.

The honorary post carries no salary. It might well be regarded as a liability, as the holder must pay taxes on the official residence. The original "Cinque ports" are Hastings, Sandwich, Dover, Romney, and Hythe. In the old days they were intrusted with the defense of Britain's shores and the protection of passage to the continent.

After the Norman conquest Winchelsea and Rye were added but retained the title of "the two ancient towns."

UNIDENTIFIED MAN DIES.

Hudson avenue police are trying to identify a man who died in the County hospital Monday shortly after being found in a coma at Ontario and Clark streets. He was about 55 years old, had brown hair, and wore a blue shirt and dark trousers.

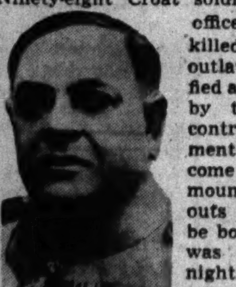
SERBS IN HILLS HIDEOUT KILL 104 CROAT SOLDIERS

Defy Bombs; Win Recruits; Zagreb Executes 50.

ZAGREB, Croatia, Sept. 23 (AP).—Ninety-eight Croat soldiers and six officers have been killed by Serbian outlaws who defied an ultimatum by the German controled government of Serbia to come out of their mountain hideouts willingly or be bombed out, it was learned tonight.



Marshall Milan Nedic.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

News of this disorder in dismembered Jugo-Slavia came after disclosure of the execution of 50 persons in Croatia as the "intellectual instigators" of the recent bombing of the Zagreb telephone exchange. A dozen Germans and seven Croats were wounded when calls were put thru to two secret numbers and set off the bombs.

The 50 who were executed were described officially as communists and Jews.

In Serbia, tension was mounting hourly as a result of continuing disorders.

Recruits Join Outlaws.

The ultimatum to the outlaws, known as Cetnici, was issued by Field Marshal Milan Nedic, the Serbian premier, who told them that refusal to surrender might mean civil war. They refused to comply and more Serbs were reported streaming to the mountains to join them.

German occupying forces, according to informants here, sent another ultimatum to the recalcitrant Serbs, indicating their intention to take a hand in quelling the uprisings.

Four Ustachis, members of the Croatian official party, were reported to have been shot and killed by Italians near Mostar, which is under Italian rule.

Nazis Execute Three Near Lille.

VICHY, France, Sept. 23 (AP).—German execution squads shot three Frenchmen today in the Lille district, near the Belgian border, thus disclosing acts of sabotage in still another sector of occupied France. The three were described by the Germans as communist terrorists and were accused of bombing and incendiarism.

Four Sentenced to Die.

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (AP).—DNB, official news agency, said today in a dispatch from Paris that a special court dealing with communist and anarchist cases yesterday pronounced four death sentences.

The newspaper Bruesseler Zeitung reported that 25 hostages arrested at Tournai, Belgium, were still being held pending search for the slayers of two German policemen.

BRITISH ATTACK BOULOGNE DOCKS, BIG SUPPLY SHIPS

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP).—A British plane was reported today to have hit "a large enemy supply ship" yesterday off the coast of Norway. Bombers attacked the docks of Boulogne, France, without loss to themselves last night, the air ministry said.

It announced the rescue of the crew of a British bomber reported missing last Saturday.

Down Four Raiders: Nazis.

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (AP).—Attempts by the British air force to attack a German convoy in the English channel Sunday were frustrated by a defensive barrage which brought down four raiders, DNB, the German news agency, reported.

DOXEY IS LEADING IN MISSISSIPPI'S SENATE CONTEST

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 23 (AP).—Representative Wall Doxey of Holly Springs took a lead tonight over Representative Ross Collins, veteran member of the house, in a special senatorial election to choose a successor to the late Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

The unofficial vote from 1,320 percincts of the state's 1,673 gave Doxey 55,606 votes and Collins 52,524.

Most of the missing returns were in small rural precincts. Returns already in represented about 90 per cent of the total vote cast. The result may not be determined until tomorrow, or possibly not until the official canvass next week.

Rebellion in Axis Dominated Lands

BRITAIN SPIKES STORY OF GIBRALTAR RAID; ONLY 'A HULK' SUNK

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP).—A British authority declared today that "a hulk was sunk but the rest of the enemy's claim is exaggerated" concerning a torpedo craft attack on shipping at Gibraltar Saturday—a raid in which Italians said four supply laden British ships were sunk. Italians said their raiders torpedoed two vessels in the inner harbor of the British Mediterranean stronghold and the others in the bay.

Scout Fort's Invincibility.

ROME, Sept. 23 (AP).—Italian observers said today that tiny Fascist torpedo craft, reported to have entered Gibraltar harbor and sunk four British ships, had proved the famous stronghold's sea defenses are not invulnerable.

Il Messagero declared it was impossible that Gibraltar could increase its defenses sufficiently to prevent a repetition of such raids by Italy's new "suicide fleet." Observers presumed the boats are driven by noiseless electric motors.

BRITISH BOMB BIG AXIS LINER, BASE ON GREEK ISLAND

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 23 (AP).—British bombers scored nine heavy hits on a large axis liner under convoy in the central Mediterranean Sunday, and the ship halted, the British middle east command said today. The following night planes attacked another convoy in the same area, machine gunning a merchant ship.

The British said that in an attack yesterday on Italian naval installations at Portolago bay on the Aegean Island of Leros bomb hits straddled a floating dock and supply ship.

Italians Bomb Malta.

ROME, Sept. 23 (AP).—The Italian high command said today that Italian aircraft again had bombed air fields on the British Island of Malta, last night. Italian aircraft also attacked British shipping in the eastern Mediterranean, damaged two small vessels which presumably sank, the war bulletin said.

CANADIAN LINER SUNK DURING A MIDNIGHT PARTY

New York, Sept. 23 (AP).—Torpedoing of the Canadian Pacific liner Beaverdale during a midnight party celebrating the captain's birthday was disclosed today.

Marine circles reported that the 9,957 ton ship was sunk by a submarine 300 miles off the Irish coast while the captain, whose name was not learned, was being toasted by fellow officers. The crew was saved. In Montreal, Canadian Pacific steamship officials said the Beaverdale was sunk last April.

REPORT RUSSIAN CHUTISTS LAND IN BULGARIAN HILLS

All Arrested, Nazi News Agency Asserts.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 23 (AP).—The official German news agency, DNB, reported today from Sofia that 11 soviet parachutists landed in Bulgaria Monday night near towns in the Balkan mountains. All were said to have been arrested.

[Sofia charges that Russian parachutists and men from a submarine had been landed in Bulgaria were denied in Moscow.]

Orders Midnight Curfew.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 23 (AP).—A midnight curfew for night clubs, cafés, and public places in Sofia was ordered effective tonight.

Report Troop Concentrations.

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 23 (AP).—Belief that Bulgaria might soon be drawn into the German-Russian war increased here today as advices from Sofia told of new emergency measures there and of fresh German troop concentrations in Bulgarian ports—perhaps for a Black sea thrust against soviet oil fields in the Caucasus.

Sofia was reported under a partial curfew last night, and the port cities of Varna and Burgas on the Black sea were said to have been blacked out completely.

Both the Bulgarian press and German-controled newspapers in other Balkan countries were reported to have sharply attacked George H. Earle, American minister to Bulgaria, accusing him of meddling in Bulgaria's relations with the reich.

An informant telephoning from Sofia declared the general populace of Bulgaria were opposed bitterly to siding against Russia and said pressure for Bulgaria's entry into the war had resulted in disturbances.

Turk Envoy Sees Eden.

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden conferred with the Turkish ambassador today. Presumably he discussed British-Turkish relations in the light of continued reports of German pressure for military and trade concessions from Turkey.

It was believed probable the two also discussed Turkey's position in view of indications, as seen in London, that Bulgaria soon may become an outright belligerent on the axis side.

PINK STAR SUNK UNDER WAR LAWS, GERMANS ARGUE

Assert Nazi Navy Has Not Reported the Sinking.

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (AP).—German submarines or surface craft have not specifically reported sinking the Pink Star, a former Danish ship taken over by the United States maritime commission last July and placed under Panamanian register, authorized German sources said today.

However, they added that whatever happened to the freighter was "in accordance with the laws of war."

In stating they had no word on the Pink Star itself, these sources said, however, that the German navy had reported sinking a large number of ships from a convoy.

"The vessel was Panamanian—not United States," they said, "and we haven't heard yet that Panama is part of the United States. The vessel was sunk in waters clearly defined as a German operations area."

[The American state department said the 6,850 ton Pink Star was sunk last Friday off Iceland.]

At a later press conference an authorized spokesman commented that "letting American ships sail under the Panamanian flag is a favorite way of evading the neutrality law."

These German sources charged that Secretary of State Cordell Hull, in advocating at his press conference yesterday a change in the American neutrality law, was "driving America still another step nearer to war."

Press Assails Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt and "United States imperialism" toward South America were blamed by the German press for recent anti-Nazi demonstrations in Buenos Aires, Santiago and other South American cities.

The official news agency, DNB, said: "It is noteworthy in connection with the Roosevelt tactics that at virtually the same time an incited throng demonstrated before the legation building in the Argentine capital, demonstrators marched to the German legation in Santiago, threw stones at the reich's flag hoisted for a Chilean national holiday and broke some window panes. Also at other places German and Italian flags were torn down and windows broken."

[The demonstration in Buenos Aires occurred Friday, that in Santiago Sunday.]

Blames "U. S. Imperialism."

The authoritative commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said that Germans considered the Argentine and Chilean governments themselves "implicated" in the anti-German demonstrations.

"There can be no doubt in Berlin," said the commentary, which frequently reflects the foreign office attitude, "that the governments, which do not order a halt to the campaign directed against the Germans, cannot be vindicated of a certain measure of blame for the incidents in Buenos Aires and Santiago."

It blamed American "imperialism" principally, adding that "one has the impression that the dependence on Washington influences frequently has gone to such an extent that even the protection due official representatives of the Reich appears to become questionable."

Forestalling Plotters

8 FOREIGN SHIPS ARE ASSIGNED TO AMERICAN LINES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP).—The maritime commission announced today it had assigned eight more foreign cargo vessels to American operators for use in national defense routes. Acquired under the ship requisition act, the vessels include four Italian, on which repairs of sabotage damage are nearing completion, three Danish, and one Estonian.

The United States Lines will charter the Italian freighters Euro and Pietro Campanella for operation out of north Atlantic ports. The Mar Glauco, to be chartered by the Grace line, will carry nitrates from the west coast of South America. The fourth Italian ship, the Aussa, has been assigned to the Waterman Steamship company for operation out of gulf ports from Mobile eastward and Hampton Roads, Va.

The Danish freighters African Reefer and Brohlm will be chartered by the Marine Operating company of New York and the Danish freighter Forde by the South Atlantic Steamship line. The Estonian freighter Meret, laid up at St. Thomas, Virgin islands, will be chartered to Lykes Brothers Steamship company for operations out of gulf ports west of Mobile. The African reefer will fly the American flag but the other vessels will be registered under the Panamanian flag.

FRENCH SHIVER AT NEWS: 60 LBS. OF COAL TILL '42

And After First of Year —No One Knows.

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 22 [via Berlin, delayed].—As the first chilly weather of fall arrived, Parisians learned today that they must prepare to shiver this winter because of a critical shortage of coal in France.

According to the latest estimate, households of three or fewer persons will receive only 60 pounds of coal from now until the end of the year. Larger families will be given slightly more.

Moreover, there can be only limited relief from electric radiators, as new restrictions on the use of electricity make it impossible to employ this kind of heat for more than a few hours daily.

Supplies Cut in Half.

The situation arises from the fact that the country's coal supplies have been reduced to less than half the peacetime level. Whereas the normal consumption of coal was around 85 million tons, much of which was imported from English mines, the present domestic production is only 40 million tons.

France was able to get thru last winter without great suffering because of large reserve stocks in coal yards and homes. These reserves have been exhausted.

The current output averages a ton a year per inhabitant, but only a tiny fraction of this amount is available for heating apartments and dwelling houses. A large part is needed to maintain public services, vital industries, and such institutions as hospitals and schools.

Extra Heat for Babies.

Between now and Nov. 21, families of one to three members will receive 30 pounds. It is hoped that an equal amount can be issued in the middle of December. After that the prospect is uncertain.

Households in which there is a baby less than a year old may obtain an extra 60 pounds a month and special allowances will be made for invalids and aged persons.

Some householders and apartment house owners are stocking wood to burn in their furnaces, but wood is not cheap enough to come into general use.

His widow, Jennie, testified that her husband told her on July 1 that he had been hurt in a train accident in Freeport, Ill., that day.

BLOOD FLOWS DAILY IN FRENCH 'REVOLT,' DECLARES DE GAULLE

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP).—The people of France are "in a state of latent revolt" against the Germans and "every day blood flows in Paris," Gen. Charles de Gaulle declared today in announcing organization of a new national council for his "Free French" movement.

Whatever differences once existed among the French people, the aim of the vast majority now is "the liberation of France," he said.

The council, to be named tomorrow, will have eight or nine members, headed by De Gaulle and with headquarters here. It will function as a temporary administration, De Gaulle said, and will hand over the reins when the French republic is restored.

De Gaulle declared his "Free French" land forces now number 50,000 men.

FINLAND WARNED TO QUIT FIGHTING AT OLD FRONTIER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 23.—On the heels of reports that American Secretary of State Hull's efforts to find a means of mediating between Finland and Russia have failed, it was understood here tonight that the British government has warned Finland, if she persists in carrying on her war against Russia beyond her former frontiers, she will lose the sympathy of this country and be regarded as "a belligerent enemy."

If, however, the Finns cease fighting at the old frontier line, Britain, it is said, will do what she can to improve Finland's relations with Russia.

This warning, conveyed to the Finnish government thru the Norwegian minister at Helsingfors with "the full approval" of the soviet government, is said to represent the British policy, not only during the present war, but also "when the time comes to draw up the terms of a new peace in Europe."

Nazi Army Costs France Another $276,000,000

VICHY, France, Sept. 23 (AP).—The Petain government borrowed another 12,000,000,000 francs [nominally $276,000,000] from the Banque de France today to pay for the upkeep of the German army of occupation, boosting the total obtained by noninterest bearing loans for this purpose to 130,000,000,000 francs [$2,990,000,000].

REPORT JAPANESE TROOPS MOVE TO RUSSIAN BORDER

Army in Manchukuo Gets Ready for War.

PEKING, China, Sept. 23 (AP).—Despite the lateness of the season, which foreign military men say should make a Japanese invasion of Siberia unlikely, advices from Manchukuo indicate the Japanese are continuing preparations there for possible hostilities.

These advices mention fresh Japanese troop movements from Harbin and Hsinking toward the Russian frontier, especially west of Vladivostok. Air raid precautions also were reported being stepped up in principal cities of Manchukuo.

[Shanghai sources said a ban on foreign travel in Manchukuo was being enforced strictly, and that even Germans were unable to enter or leave. The Hungarian minister was reported unable to go to Hsinking to present his credentials.]

Reinforce Border Guards.

Unconfirmed reports from Kalgan said the Japanese recently had reinforced their guards at the outer Mongolian border on the road to Urga after the appearance there of soviet forces.

The Japanese controled Chinese language press in both North China and Manchukuo appeared to have completely reversed its attitude toward the German-Russian war, papers now asserting that a Nazi victory is in sight.

Observers here said that Japanese protests over the alleged appearance of drifting Russian mines in the Sea of Japan could provide a pretext for Japanese naval action if one were desired. The protests apparently have been unanswered.

In this connection the recent departure for Vladivostok of the wives and children of a number of soviet diplomats in Tokio was regarded as an ominous sign.

100,000 Japanese Attack.

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 24 [Wednesday] (AP).—More than 100,000 Japanese troops and scores of bombers are battering against Chinese positions about 50 miles north of Changsha, Hunan province, in thus far indecisive fighting, Chinese dispatches said today.

Capture Railroad Town.

HONGKONG, Sept. 23 (AP).—The Japanese army in China today announced the capture of the tungsten producing railroad town of Toishan, chief city of the West river delta west of Hongkong. Chinese dispatches assert that the Japanese have been repulsed north of Canton, but they acknowledged heavy fighting in the West river area.

Japanese Troops Land.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Sept. 23.—Reports from the Portuguese colony of Macao declare that 2,000 Japanese troops, protected by warships and planes, have landed at Kwanghoi, 50 miles southwest of Macao, and have advanced against Towshan. The Chinese peace preservation corps and village guards are said to be inflicting heavy losses on the Japanese.

REPORT BRITISH TROOPS MASS AT THAILAND BORDER

TOKIO, Sept. 23 (AP).—The newspaper Nichi Nichi today reported in a dispatch from Bangkok that 30,000 British soldiers with mechanized equipment had been concentrated along Thailand's Malayan frontier. Presence of the troops increased pressure on the Thai government, which sooner or later must side with the axis or its opponents, Nichi Nichi said.

Domei, Japanese news agency, reported from Bangkok that the British had based between 400 to 500 planes in Malaya and 100 more in Burma, and said air defense precautions were being stepped up in Singapore, Penang, and Rangoon. The agency estimated that British troops in Malaya totaled from 65,000 to 85,000.

ROOSEVELT'S KIN QUITS NAVY TO JOIN GEN. CHIANG

Alsop Leaves U. S. Junket at Bombay.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—Joseph W. Alsop Jr., a distant cousin of President Roosevelt, has resigned the naval lieutenancy to which he was sworn in by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, it was learned today.

Joseph W. Alsop Jr.

Alsop sent his resignation from Bombay, India, where he was undertaking an intelligence mission, in order to attach himself to Chiang Kai-shek, the Chinese generalissimo, in an advisory capacity. It was understood here that Alsop's duties will be noncombatant nature.

Before he was commissioned a lieutenant, junior grade, Alsop was coauthor of an interventionist newspaper column. The commission enabled him to escape the draft.

Placed in Class 1-A.

Alsop, who is 31 years old and unmarried, was summoned early in the draft and was put in class 1-A and ordered to report for physical examination. A medical board placed him in class 1-B, available for limited periods of service, after his colleague, Robert Kintner, had reportedly suggested that Alsop be deferred because the two had recently signed a new contract for their column, under which they expected to net more than $25,000 a year.

Rather than await his call under the draft, Alsop secured a commission in the navy last June 13 with the understanding that he would get a naval junket. The publication of the column was suspended and Kintner secured a commission in the army intelligence service.

En route to Bombay on his mission, Alsop stopped off at Chungking, the present seat of Chiang Kai-shek's government. There he made the acquaintance of Capt. Claire L. Chenanault, formerly of the United States army air corps, who has been working in an advisory capacity since his resignation from the army in 1937.

Urged to Join Staff.

Chenanault, it was reported here, urged Alsop to become his assistant.

At the navy department it was said that Alsop's resignation probably will be accepted. It was acknowledged that other reserve officers would have difficulty in having their resignations accepted because of what was described as the critical nature of the present emergency.

CUSTOMS GUARD FACES TRIAL FOR KILLING OFFICER

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 23 (AP).—A charge of second degree murder was filed today against John Yeung, a customs guard, who shot and killed Second Lieutenant Martin R. Connelly of the army air corps yesterday. Bail was set at $2,500.

Connelly was shot in an argument over inspection of a package of photographs he was carrying. He had just arrived from Manila en route to San Francisco, Cal., for treatment of injuries suffered in an air crash in the Philippines.

Yeung will appear for preliminary hearing tomorrow.

W. C. Hiberly, collector of customs, said that according to his information Connelly struck Yeung on the head several times without apparent provocation and that the shot was fired "during the excitement."

KATHLEEN MURTAUGH.

Helen Morgan, the singer who is seriously ill from a liver disease, was reported by her physician, Dr. Samuel G. Taylor, to be slightly improved after a blood transfusion in Henrotin hospital yesterday. If her condition continues to improve, an operation will be performed today, he said. Miss Morgan has had four transfusions of blood donated by friends. The first was given by her husband, Lloyd Johnson, a Los Angeles automobile dealer, and the latest by Miss Kathleen Murtaugh, 22 years old, 4819 Jackson boulevard, secretary to the principal of Hicks school.

In addition to these forces, there are substantial but undisclosed American units stationed thruout the islands.

WINDSORS REACH MIAMI TO START U.S.-CANADA TOUR

Welcomed by British and American Officials.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP).—The duke and duchess of Windsor reached Miami by chartered plane today on the first leg of a six weeks' tour of the United States and Canada and were greeted by the cheers of several thousand Miamians.

They were met at the airport by leading officials and representatives of the British embassy and the United States state department and quickly left for an overnight stay in a bay front hotel.

The duke announced before leaving Nassau on a Pan-American passenger plane that he would attempt on the trip to drum up tourist trade for the Bahamas, where he has served as colonial governor since Aug. 17, 1940.

Makes Impromptu Talk.

The duke and duchess paused at the airport just long enough for the duke, in an impromptu radio broadcast, to express his gratefulness for the "moral and material support which your country is giving to Britain."

"I want to observe world conditions during my trip over the United States and Canada before I say anything," he added.

The duchess said she was "glad to be back in my own country." She told visiting dignitaries she had a "lovely trip."

The Windsors plan to entrain tomorrow for Washington, where the duke will discuss means of transporting tourists to Nassau, winter resort capital of the Bahama Islands.

Luncheon at White House.

That mission will be aside from a social program that includes a White House luncheon and a reception at the British embassy.

On their way to the duke's ranch near Calgary, Alberta, Canada, the Windsors are expected to stop in Chicago.

The chief object of the trip, the duke said, is to attend to business affairs at his Canadian ranch, which he has not seen for more than 14 years. There he plans to try horseback riding again after years out of the saddle.

Altho the return itinerary is uncertain, the Windsors may visit New York and Baltimore, the duchess' birthplace, before completing the six week holiday.

If he does go to New York, the duke's reception is certain to be on a much quieter scale than his first visit in 1919 when, as prince of Wales, he was greeted with showers of ticker tape and the cheers of thousands.

Marge Briscoe Is Named Corn Queen of Indiana

Fowler, Ind., Sept. 23 [Special].—Marge Briscoe of Lafayette was chosen queen of the Indiana Corn festival here last night. She will preside over the festival doings Oct. 2 to 4. Miss Briscoe was named Indiana state corn queen out of a field of 13 of Indiana's loveliest girls, chosen in nine counties. A crowd of more than 2,000 persons witnessed the judging, done in the Fowler High school gymnasium.

SEEKS TO ENTER N.Y. MAYOR RACE AS A FOE OF WAR

New York, Sept. 23 [Special].—Petitions were placed in circulation tonight naming William J. Goodwin of Queens county as an Independent candidate for mayor. Goodwin's supporters must obtain 5,000 signatures by Oct. 7 to get his name on the ballot.

Goodwin announced he will run as the candidate of the "American Rock party," a name he incorporated last year. He will run on an noninterventionist and anti-communist platform, he said.

"Since Mayor La Guardia and his stooge, William O'Dwyer, are both behind this drive to push the country into a foreign war, I am running for mayor so that the people against war will have a chance to show it with their votes," said Goodwin.

La Guardia, seeking a third term, won the Republican mayoralty nomination in last week's primary by a slim margin over John R. Davies, veteran Republican. O'Dwyer, Brooklyn district attorney, won the Democratic nomination without opposition.

Chicagoan Escapes Draft by One Foot Five Inches

Henry M. Mullins, 26 years old, of 4421 Jackson boulevard, filled out his draft questionnaire in the offices of local board No. 125 last night, but he hasn't a chance of donning an army uniform. Mullins, who claims the title of the world's tallest human, is 7 feet 9 inches tall. The army's height limit is 6 feet 4 inches.

U. S. CONSIDERS ARMING VESSELS, PRESIDENT SAYS

Will Request Change in Neutrality Law.

repeal or modification of the neutrality act. He would not, however, predict its defeat.

"A repeal would put us into the war zones and many of our ships would be sunk," he said. "It's just a trick to get us into the war by subterfuge."

The chief executive revealed his plans in disclosing that the American owned merchantman, Pink Star, which was sunk last Friday while operating under the flag of Panama, was armed and under escort of Canadian naval vessels, when she was attacked by a submarine 275 miles northeast of Cape Farewell, Greenland. The vessel was carrying general supplies, he said, to Iceland.

23 Survivors Land.

Later today the state department announced that 23 survivors of the Pink Star have arrived in Reykjavik, Iceland. The announcement did not reveal how these were rescued. There was no word regarding the fate of the other 11 members of the crew of the ill fated vessel. There were no Americans aboard the ship.

Mr. Roosevelt, at his press conference would not specify what type of gun the Pink Star carried, but said that if it were an anti-aircraft gun, it could also be fired against submarines. He had no information as to how many other Panamanian vessels are armed.

He said the question of whether the Pink Star was armed or not was merely a red herring, which would divert attention from the main objective—the defense of the new world and the defeat of those who are attempting to dominate the world.

It's Defense, He Says.

The world, he said, is facing the most outrageous movement in all history. A certain group of people are trying to dominate the whole world The United States is trying to prevent this domination, by preventing this group from gaining a foothold or a firing position from which to attack the new world.

That, he said, is the reason for the occupation of such outposts as Greenland and Iceland and for the sending of supplies to Britain. These are steps to keep attack away from America. American merchantmen must be protected so that the supplies can be kept moving.

For this reason, the President said, he did not think that argument could be justified with honesty on such questions as whether such vessels are convoyed or not; such vessels are armed or not, or whether such vessels are flying the American flag or not.

The sea lanes will be kept open, he declared.

May Lend Guns for Ships.

Mr. Roosevelt said that some of the guns on hand and under manufacture would be made available under lend-lease to other American republics, if they are desired. Some of the 20 other American republics have guns with which to arm their vessels and others do not, he said.

Asked whether he would undertake piecemeal modification of the neutrality act or ask for outright repeal, Mr. Roosevelt said that question was under consideration and would be decided early next week.

Sources close to the White House, reported after the conference, that Mr. Roosevelt has already made up his mind and will ask for outright repeal of the act.

The ships have got to move, he said, they can not be tied up.

FORM NEW BODY OF INDEPENDENT RADIO STATIONS

The National Independent Broadcasters' association, meeting yesterday in the Palmer House, took preliminary steps toward reorganization and ruled that its officers no longer need be affiliated with the National Association of Broadcasters.

After hearing charges that the N. A. B. is dominated by the networks, the members voted to set up a new organization. The convention approved appointment of a house of 48 delegates to meet Nov. 5. This group will adopt by-laws, write a constitution, and select officers.

"We will continue to coöperate with the N. A. B. and other similar agencies on important problems affecting the entire radio industry," President Harold A. La Fount said. He estimated that 95 per cent of the nation's 800 radio station would be eligible for membership in the new organization. The convention opposed any special taxes on the industry.

VOLCANO IN JAVA ERUPTS; ASHES BLANKET A CITY

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Sept. 23 (AP).—Java's Smeroe volcano erupted today, covering the nearby city of Maling with a rain of ashes. Scientists said there did not appear to be any immediate danger. Precautions were taken to remove 20,000 natives living on the slopes of the 11,000 foot mountain. Coolies ordered to help extinguish forest fires on the mountain started by streams of lava were so terrified they refused to work.

MAE WEST'S MATE REBUKED; LOSES ALIMONY SUIT

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 23 (AP).—Frank Wallace lost his $1,000 a month temporary separate maintenance suit against Mae West today in a ruling that questioned his good faith in bringing the action against his actress wife.

"There is nothing in this case that would convince me the plaintiff is not motivated by profit in filing this action," said Superior Judge Charles L. Allison. "He who seeks equity must come into court with clean hands."

SUBURBS TO JOIN CITY IN DAYLIGHT TIME EXTENSION

Only a Few Rural Towns Fail to Follow Suit.

Virtually all suburbs and cities in Chicagoland will join Chicago in the advantages of 28 extra hours of daylight during October, a survey showed yesterday.

Starting next Sunday, when daylight saving for the year would have ended under the old plan, Chicagoans will benefit by one daylight hour each day thru the action of the city council last May in voting to extend the system to the last Sunday in October.

Officials Indorse Plan.

While several communities have not yet taken formal action on the extension, city and village officials were almost unanimous in their indorsement of Chicago's plan. The cities and villages which indicated they will stay on daylight saving time thru October are:

Evanston	Des Plaines
Highland Park	Park Ridge
Waukegan	Winnetka
Lake Forest	Glencoe
Lockport	Bannockburn
Wilmington	Deerfield
Lombard	Barrington
Hinsdale	Libertyville
Chicago Heights	Lake Zurich
Homewood	Joliet
Lake Bluff	Lombard
Winthrop Harbor	Hinsdale
Wauconda	Villa Park
Gurnee	Downers Grove
Round Lake	Elmhurst
Round Lake Beach	Glen Ellyn
Mundelein	North Chicago
Geneva	Highwood
Aurora	Zion
Naperville	Blue Island
Batavia	Calumet City
Morton Grove	Harvey
Kenilworth	Flossmoor
Wilmette

It was indicated that Fox Lake, Antioch, Lake Villa, Harvard, Marengo, and Beecher—all rual communities—will not follow suit. The attitude of these village officials was summed up by Mayor Earl O. Hucker of Lake Villa.

"I'm personally for it, but most of the other people here want to go back. Seems as if it's hard to break old habits."

Comments by mayors and officials of other towns were:

Charles Portilla, mayor of Highwood—"We're progressive and we like that extra hour of daylight."

Dr. I. G. Langum, mayor of St. Charles—"A good majority of our people, including the commuters, are all for it. That extra hour for outdoor play is good for health."

Think It's Marvelous.

Frank J. Ronan, mayor of Highland Park—"I don't know why we haven't had it thru October for years. Our people think it's marvelous."

Frank G. Wallin, mayor of Waukegan—"As long as the weather stays nice that extra hour of daylight is grand. On the whole, we think it's a good move."

J. C. McNicol, city manager of Lake Forest—"We naturally have to go along with Chicago. But that extra hour of sun in the evening means more safety on the highway and I think it's fine."

Several cities are planning to take action on the extension during the week, including St. Charles, Crystal Lake, McHenry, Elgin, Grays Lake, and Skokie.

Humming Bird Finds No Food in Loop; Gains Pal

S. H. Patterson of San Francisco, Cal., is attending the National Independent Broadcasters' convention at the Palmer House, but the sessions aren't taking up all his interest. In his room in the hotel he has a humming bird which he found half starved in the loop. He is feeding it honey and water and last night reported the bird was doing well.

RUNAWAY BOY, 11, RIDES 320 MILES TO KEEP HIS DATE

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23 [Special].—When Peggy Randall spent a vacation here in the summer George McLean Jr. promised he would come to see her at her home in Memphis, Tenn. It was a big promise, because George is only 11 years old and Peggy is 8, but George kept his word, even tho he had to run away from home, outwit several detectives, and ride 320 miles by train.

When George's parents found him missing last Saturday they notified police. Detectives spotted the boy in the Union station here—with a $3 doll he bought for Peggy with money taken from a bank at home—but he gave such convincing answers to their questions that they hesitated to detain him. While they hesitated he boarded a train and was gone.

Arriving in Memphis, George found his way to Peggy's home, where he presented the doll. Peggy's stepfather, Bruns McCarroll, notified the McLeans, and George's mother went by plane to bring him home.

DAYLIGHT TIME WINS EXTENSION IN THREE CITIES

Morris, Ill., Sept. 23 [Special].—The city council last night voted to extend daylight saving time until Oct. 26. The vote was a tie until Mayor Tony Anderson cast his ballot in favor of the extension. Daylight time was to have ended Oct. 5.

La Porte Proclamation Issued.

La Porte, Ind., Sept. 23 [Special].—Mayor Alfred Norris today proclaimed another month of daylight saving for La Porte, putting the city in line with others in northern Indiana and with Chicago. The proclamation waived a city ordinance which would have ended daylight time next Sunday.

Valparaiso Council Acts.

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 23 [Special].—The city council last night authorized Mayor C. L. Bartholomew to issue a proclamation extending daylight saving time thru October.

PROWLERS BIND WATCHMAN; THEN FLEE LOOP STORE

Two prowlers broke into the Boston store last night, overpowered one watchman and menaced another, and stole a shotgun and a rifle. They escaped before police surrounded the building, which is at State and Madison streets. The shotgun was found on a fire escape in an alley between Madison and Washington streets on the north side of the building.

The watchman who was overpowered is Alex Litter, 61 years old, 1434 Chicago avenue. One of the prowlers surprised him on the 7th floor of the store and bound him with adhesive tape. The other watchman, Frank Hassellman, 66, 4655 North Kenton avenue, notified police after the second man had threatened him with the shotgun and fled.

Three South Side Streets Close Today for Repaving

Sections of three south side streets will be closed to traffic today for an eight week period while the streets are being resurfaced, Otto K. Jelinek, park district chief engineer, announced yesterday. Western avenue will be closed from 31st to 35th streets; California avenue from 24th to 31st streets, and 31st street from Western to California avenues. Sacramento avenue, which was closed to traffic June 30 for widening and repaving between Palmer street and Logan boulevard, has been reopened.

Winnebago Chief Visits Chicago on Way to Coast

Chief Yellow Thunder of the Winnebago tribe was in Chicago last night on his way to Los Angeles, where he will take part in ceremonies next Sunday, marking California's Indian day. Gov. Culbert L. Olson will induct Chief Thomas Largo into the white race. Chief Yellow Thunder was the first red man ever inducted into the white race. The ceremonies took place last month, Gov. Julius Heil of Wisconsin officiating.

SHOT WHILE CLEANING RIFLE.

Fred Miller, 21 years old, a pressman, was taken to the Edgewater hospital last night in serious condition after a .22 caliber rifle was discharged as he cleaned it in the basement of his home at 5322 Winthrop avenue. The bullet struck him in the stomach.

BAN ON DIVIDENDS OF BUS COMPANY IS BLOW TO 5,000

More than 5,000 holders of common and preferred stock are being deprived of dividends because of an order entered last month against the Chicago Motor Coach company by the Illinois Commerce commission during a hearing on the city's petition to reduce the present 10 cent fare.

This was the statement yesterday of Attorney Irwin Rooks, who appeared before the commission on the company's petition for rehearing of five orders against it, including the one prohibiting payment of dividends.

The company pays dividends to its parent corporation, the Omnibus corporation of New York. Because of the order, however, it will hold up the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share, totaling $43,750, that had been announced for Sept. 30. Because of this, Rooks asserted, the Omnibus corporation also will pass its customary dividends on common and preferred stock.

He said another order which prohibits the bus company from paying part time employés and from granting pay increases to any employé earning more than $2,400 a year would prevent him from collecting his fee.

Formal hearing on the company's petition was set for tomorrow.

Lend me a Minute and I'll give you back 15 seconds

Says PAUL DOUGLAS, well-known radio announcer

Somebody whistles a few bars of a catchy tune.
Others pick it up.
Soon the whole country's whistling it.
It's a hit.

Somebody lights up a cigarette.
Likes it. Passes the word along.
Soon the whole country's smoking it.
It's a hit. IT'S CHESTERFIELD.

The big thing that's pushing Chesterfield ahead
Is the approval of smokers like yourself.
Chesterfields are definitely Milder,
Cooler-Smoking and Better-Tasting.
They're made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos
Blended just right to give you more smoking pleasure.

But even these facts wouldn't count
If smokers didn't just naturally like them.
Once a smoker finds out from Chesterfield
What real smoking pleasure is, nothing else will do.
Yes, fellow smokers, IT'S YOUR APPROVAL
THAT'S PUSHING CHESTERFIELD AHEAD.

BABY FONDLING CALLED AID TO MENTAL HEALTH

Masons Hear Results of Seven Year Research.

BY HAL FOUST.

The fondling of small babies—favored by all grandmothers and disapproved by most modern mothers—was indorsed yesterday by Dr. Clarence M. Hincks, Toronto, Ont., psychiatrist, as an aid to the future mental health of the infant. He spoke before the annual meeting of the Scottish Rite, Supreme council, in session this week in the Palmer House. His speech was a report on seven years of research on dementia praecox financed by the Masonic order.

This mental disease, said Dr. Hincks, is responsible for more chronic invalidism than tuberculosis or cancer. The research, with 70 scientists and 14 universities participating, is making progress, he said, in preventive measures with babies and with school children. He also reported advances in the treatment, insulin, metrazol, and electric shock therapies.

Symptoms Are Many.

The symptoms of the disorder were described as "tendencies to seclusiveness, diminution of interests, emotional apathy, harboring of unrelated ideas, and with illusions, hallucinations and delusions frequently present in the clinical picture." The onset is either slow or rapid.

"Dr. Margaret Ribble of New York has brought to light," said Dr. Hincks, "that the future personality development of the child may be adversely affected if, during babyhood, there is insufficient nursing activity and insufficient fondling on the part of the mother or nurse.

"Insufficient mothering, with resultant emotional starvation on the part of the baby, may lead to precocious sex activity, with resulting behavior disorders and neurotic conflicts. Mothers who come and go, preoccupied with social or professional interests, are a definite menace to the emotional stability of their children."

Relationship Established.

Dr. Hincks reported that research has established a relationship between childhood shyness and dementia praecox in adulthood, probably as close as the relationship of childhood undernourishment to later tuberculosis. He said Prof. William Line and Dr. J. D. M. Griffin of Toronto were developing a schoolroom technique to foster the socialization of children.

As part of this technique, the children discuss each other's social weaknesses, accepting the diagnoses as challenges, and not as a basis for feeling inferior.

Dr. Hincks said that advances made recently by new methods of treatment beckon research to further endeavor.

"Time alone will tell," he said, "if the recoveries and improvements thru insulin and the other shock therapies will be permanent."

DOC BRINKLEY, WHO PUT GOAT GLANDS ON RADIO, INDICTED

Mrs. John Brinkley.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 23 (AP).—Dr. John R. Brinkley, the goat gland specialist, his wife, and six employés of a hospital formerly operated here by him, were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of mail fraud in connection with medical services offered by the Brinkley institution. The indictments cited 15 counts based on letters and pamphlets mailed to persons in many states from Little Rock and Del Rio, Tex.

One of the principal charges in the indictment was that the defendants "did falsely pretend that John R. Brinkley was a great surgeon, scientist, and physician, that he, while visiting medical centers in Europe, had found a real substance which when properly administered would restore to normal sexual vigor sexually weak men and women."

Sues for Reinstatement on City's Police Force

John Scully, 48 years old, filed suit in Superior court yesterday to compel the city civil service commission to reinstate him as a city policeman. Scully, who lives at 4830 Washington boulevard, resigned from the force July 15, 1940, to enter private business. On Aug. 8, 1940 he asked to withdraw his resignation, a procedure which he contends is permissible under state law, but the commission declined to act on his petition.

KELLY AND NASH HAIL DEMOCRATS' JUDICIAL SLATE

Mayor Kelly and P. A. Nash, Democratic county chairman, delivered pep talks before the 50 Democratic ward committeemen yesterday in behalf of the judicial slate which will bear the party's label at the Nov. 4 Superior court election. The committee met in the Morrison hotel.

"This campaign can be won and the sitting judges retained if the people are given the facts, and the Democratic organization must give them the facts," the mayor said. "Seven Republican judges were placed on the ticket because they were good judges. All the Democratic organization wants from them, and from the other candidates, is a square deal for the public in the courts.

"The Democratic organization will start campaigning for the ticket from today on. These judges are not only the best available in Cook county; they are among the best in the country. You will be fighting not for the party, but for the people, and no national issues are involved. The organization wants nothing save the gratitude of the public for having sponsored qualified men."

Ward meetings will be held each week until election, the committeemen agreed, but the candidates will not start making ward speeches until later in the campaign. Chairman Nash asked the committeemen to concentrate on full registrations in their wards.

Feb. 7th. Your sign is Aquarius, Uranus your ruling planet. The new and original have great lure for you; you're an experimenter. Guard against dreaminess, impracticality and indecision. Your mental process is swift but intuitive rather than logical. Life will always be interesting for you, and your sympathy and self-sacrifice will win you many loving friends. Be honestly angry rather than hurt when people impose unduly upon you!

C. J. Evans, Milwaukee
Sept. 15th. Virgo is your sign, Mercury your ruling planet. The financial aspects look bright for you; social relations with business friends should be helpful. You are an independent, original thinker, but you lack sufficient patience and sometimes fail to plan well and become a little reckless in the emergencies that your lack of forethought create. Move cautiously, determinedly, and according to the best plan you can evolve!

M. E. Nuske, Michigan City
Nov. 4th. Your sign is Scorpio, your ruling planet, Mars. Courage, good spirits and fortitude under difficulties are outstanding characteristics. You are lavish with money and affection, the best kind of a companion, but not sufficiently practical about your own affairs or your future. Be more thrifty, and less inclined to live in the present. Eight should be a good number for you.

W. E. Miles, Kewanee, Ill.

Jan. 10th. Capricorn is your sign, Saturn your ruling planet. You have a gift for handling people and you enjoy the foibles of human nature. Nervous tension could be a most destructive force which you must learn to keep under control.

W. Van Der Beek, Benton Harbor, Mich.

L. W. Becker, Tomah, Wis.

T. Morris, Grand Rapids
Oct. 3rd. Libra is your sign, with Venus the ruling planet. A sense of justice, social grace and a gift for diplomacy are outstanding traits. This year will be an eventful one for you.

H. Johnson, Decatur, Ill.

In the coming year you will have important decisions to make regarding personal and business affairs. Be cautious but courageous.

J. E. Larson, Oak Park, Ill.
Feb. 20th. Aquarius is your sign; your ruling planet is Uranus. You have developed the pride, independence and self-reliance that was inherent in your nature. You are persistent; sometimes too much so in matters that are not really important. It would appear that you have a flair for creative activity. You are sensitive and surprisingly hurt by rebuffs, real or fancied. Cultivate detachment.

J. O. Hagans, Berrien Springs, Mich.
Oct. 24th. Your sign is Scorpio, your birth star Mars. Shrewd appreciation of human nature, intensity, pride and reserve are highly developed qualities. Hard, constructive work is enjoyable to you, and you are gifted for forceful leadership. A tendency to be impatient with failure sometimes causes needless worry. Rich and poor alike can be your friends. Others may sometimes take advantage of you, but your natural resourcefulness comes to the rescue.

D. L. Morrison, Chicago

CHAMPS OR JUST PUGS: MICE CAN BECOME EITHER!

It's All in Their Training, Says Expert at U. of C.

The meekest of mice can be transformed into a battling bully if he's matched with a series of pushovers that will give him confidence in his fighting prowess, but the most belligerent mouse will become a craven pacifist if he fights too often out of his class and absorbs too many trimmings.

Prof. Warder C. Allee, University of Chicago zoölogist, speaking before a learned congress yesterday at the Midway's 50th anniversary celebration, described his experiments in inculcating the victory complex and defeatism in mice.

Slow to Start; Fight Well.

He started with a belligerent strain of black mice, a strain of pacific white mice, and an intermediate brownish-gray race which could fight very well but was slow to start. These brownish-gray mice usually lost to the blacks but won from the whites.

Dr. Allee described the process of building up a pacifist white mouse into a terror of the prize ring. The means were reminiscent of those by which Primo Carnera was nursed thru a succession of victories over a number of tankers, or experts in to dry dive, and finally elevated to the heavyweight boxing championship.

After the white mice had fought 60 fights among themselves, one mouse emerged as the dominant fighter of the group and won his next 140 fights. This mouse was then matched with the most aggressive fighter in the black strain, twice a day for eight days. Dr. Allee was forced to toss in the towel for him every time.

He was then returned to his fellow whites, whom he had previously bullied, but lay down and quit to every opponent. It took him 180 fights to regain his form and again become the champion white hope.

Completely Slaphappy.

He was then matched once more with the champion black mouse, who again gave his an unmerciful drubbing, but Dr. Allee forced him to go back again and again to take his medicine. When he was returned to the white group, he was a broken down mouse, completely slaphappy, and never again showed any aggressiveness.

Dr. Allee then built up the most nonaggressive mouse in the brownish gray strain by permitting him to win a number of fixed bouts from meek white mice, but it took him six weeks to lead with his left.

"After this," Dr. Allee said, "he was made to encounter several low ranking whites daily, and as a result of this total buildup he became definitely aggressive—so much so that within an hour after his defeat by the dominant black mouse, the fightingest mouse we had, he defeated his immediate superior in the social scale among the browns.

Fights So Hard He Dies.

"We wanted to have a good, hard fight for a motion picture record. The dominant black mouse had just suffered two of his rare defeats and was nursing a bad shoulder. Even so he was an aggressive, hard fighting mouse. Somewhat optimistically we matched him with the brown mouse that had been conditioned to be a fighter.

"The result was one of the most decisive interstrain bouts seen in the laboratory. The brown mouse finally lost, but he fought so hard he died a few minutes later."

"There can be little question," Dr. Allee concluded, "of the ability to condition a mouse upward, from a passive to an aggressive individual."

DOCTOR CHARGES EMBEZZLEMENT BY AN ATTORNEY

Jay I. Rosenberg.

Two warrants charging Attorney Jay I. Rosenberg with embezzlement were issued yesterday by Judge Charles F. Dougherty in Felony court at the request of Dr. Oscar J. Cowen, 103 East 55th street. Dr. Cowen told assistant state's attorneys that during last August he gave Rosenberg $10,332 and $13,575 to buy stock in a building corporation; that Rosenberg bought the stock, and then pledged it at a bank as security for a loan. Rosenberg said he and Dr. Cowen were partners, which Dr. Cowen denied. Rosenberg was released on bond. He will be arraigned today. Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were filed against Rosenberg 10 days ago in federal District court after had had been reported missing. Rosenberg lives at 2227 Farwell avenue.

vator," said that the pioneering and experimental spirit which has always been a characteristic of American business was being fettered by the transformation of the government into a burocracy with vested interests.

"Perhaps it should be added," he said, "that the government is the greatest of all giant enterprises in this country and its activities may be more subject in the long run to the same dangers of burocracy, lack of innovation in administrative technique, and irresponsibility as are our giant economic enterprises.

"It seems clear that government participation in our economic life is no temporary matter. After the depression, the defense period, and the post-defense period, we will never return to laissez faire."

Thorp said that small business enterprises had proved themselves more efficient, flexible, and inventive than large corporations, which operate more generally by processes of inertia and habit.

It Can Happen Here.

The subject of government callousness to small business enterprises was enlarged upon by Prof. James Webb Young of the University of Chicago, who said: "In England it is reported that more than 40,000 small businesses have been closed. If we think it can't happen here we are in for bitter disillusionment. In fact, it is already happening here.

"The ugly term 'priorities unemployment' is already with us."

Prof. Young declared unequivocally that the drift is toward a war economy, in which the choice will be guns instead of butter.

"Let us be clear," he said, "that this war economy into which we are entering is going to be a more completely controled economy than any we have ever known before. We never reached the stage of control in the last war which we are going to see now. Raw materials, labor, and machines are going to be allocated.

"Prices will be controled. Credit will come in for its share. In short, the controlers are going to have the power to determine who does business and how; what consumers get what satisfactions and when.

How Decisions Are Made.

"But government, we must never forget, is not an abstraction. It is just a lot of fellows down in Washington. Most decisions of government are made by three or four of these fellows getting together in a room and talking things over. Every law has to be interpreted in action, and it makes a lot of difference who does the interpreting and what their predilections are.

"The world forces which have been unleashed may keep us in a totalitarian economy for a decade or longer. It is a peculiarity of planners that they always plan to do you good. But unfortunately they seldom fail in identifying their own concept of good with the public good. A planner may be sure that in a perfect world there would be no cosmetics, even when his wife is a living example to the contrary."

Prof. Frank Knight, University of Chicago economist, said that economic conflicts in present day systems which are not outright totalitarian in character are principally between functional groups represented by such concepts as "capital-labor," and "industry-agriculture."

Tendency in Price Fixing.

The attempt to resolve these conflicts, he stated, largely took the form of price fixing thru unitary monopolistic action, with the various groups trying, each toward its own benefit, to use government in promoting such aims.

"The tendency," Prof. Knight said, "is toward organization of labor, agriculture, and business, each in one or several units, and the settlement of their conflicting claims by 'negotiation.'

"As to the probable outcome of such a movement, the result would certainly be totalitarian socialism, under the domination either of some one of these functional interests, or, far more likely, that of some purely political organization of the sort which call themselves 'parties' in the totalitarian states."

Dr. Knight said this type of socialism cannot exist without a concentration of power in the hands of administrators, and the type of person who makes the best socialist administrator is the type who enjoys power and is therefore least fitted to exercise it.

New and Terrible Despotism.

"If the rôle of the individual is to be preserved," he declared, "and not submerged and lost in a new and more terrible despotism—if, indeed, the material basis of civilization is not to be destroyed in war, between nations or between interest groups, leading to a new dark age—economists and other social scientists, and perhaps especially leaders in moral and religious thought, must find and put into operation more effectively methods both of popular education and of political action to an extent far beyond what such leaders realized in the heydey of liberalism in the 19th century."

Dr. John M. Clark of Columbia university, former New Deal official, said the nation now has a "grab-bag economy," in which the government grants each of many conflicting interests a share of what that interest wants.

He said that altho deficit spending would remain a method by which the government attempts to alleviate the next depression, no real measure of economic stability would be achieved until a system of taxation and wage adjustments is worked out under which outgo will always equalize income.

Learned groups will continue to hold discussion meetings thruout the remainder of the week on the university campus.

U. of C. Anniversary Notes

A race of potential aviators was described yesterday by Dr. Carlos Monge of the University of San Marcos, Lima, Peru, at the University of Chicago golden anniversary celebration. Speaking at the symposium on life at high altitudes and aviation medicine, Dr. Monge said the native Andeans live at an altitude of from 10 to 16 thousand feet. Dr. Monge said an Andean has all the conditions of an athletic heart. It is larger and does 20 per cent more work than the sea level heart. An Andean's pulse rate is low and his blood has a high capacity for combining with oxygen. His heart actually beats more slowly after hard work.

At the same symposium a small guide, or "anti-spin," parachute was recommended for delayed-opening parachute jumps. Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, Northwestern university professor, said a parachutist is given confidence by the early opening of the accessory "anti-spin" parachute, which, "plus falling in a more natural, or semi-erect posture, would decrease the likelihood of inexperienced persons fainting from fright."

Egg whites should be cooked hard and sieved for easy digestion, Dr. Donald D. Van Slyke, chief chemist of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York, said in a lecture on the physiology of the amino acids. Refuting the old theory that raw egg whites are easily digestible, he said "the fact is that they are one of the most resistant proteins to digestion." They pass thru the stomach rapidly because they are soluble, not because they are easily digested.

Save Our Republic

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

As to Controversies Abroad.

The Civil war has necessarily disturbed the social condition, and affected very deeply the prosperity of the nations with which we have carried on a commerce . . . ; excited political ambitions and apprehensions which have produced a profound agitation thruout the civilized world. In this unusual agitation we have forborne from taking part in any controversy between foreign states, and between parties or factions in such states. We have attempted no propagandism, and acknowledged no revolution. But we have left to every nation the exclusive conduct and management of its own affairs.

Abraham Lincoln

Washington, Dec. 1, 1862.

SUBMIT A DECLARATION OF WAR.

Representative Hamilton Fish, New York Republican, ranking minority member of the foreign affairs committee of the house, is preparing a resolution declaring war against Germany and Italy. He says he will introduce it next week. He is joined by Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican, in challenging the war party and the incendiary ex-patriates to accept the issue and put it to the decision of congress in the proper and constitutional way.

Both the Ohio senator and the New York representative are leaders in the opposition to the war conspiracy, but they are willing to accept the judgment of congress. Senator George, the Georgia Democrat who has been on the interventionist side, recently said that it would be more honest to take the decision of congress and thus make the representatives of the people the controlers of the nation's destinies.

The Republican opposition to the war does not believe that the New Dealers and the ex-patriates will meet the issue. These firebrands have been trying to get into the war by going around congress. They endeavor to force a war by creating incidents which they hope will become of sufficient gravity to make a declaration inevitable. The people have voted against war every time they had a chance to express themselves and 80 per cent of them back the opposition.

Here is an honest, above board proposal, and if the war party can carry congress the opposition will accept the decision. The United States, by due processes of its government, will have declared war upon Germany and Italy. Then there will be no disloyalty among the American citizens who have regarded and do regard such a step as a tragic mistake. If congress declares the country to be at war the country will be in the war to the finish. The atmosphere will be cleared of the deceptions and incendiary conspiracies, the clamor of the ex-patriates, and the underground work of persons who have not had the courage to take their issue to the only body authorized to declare war and make it.

Will the war party accept this challenge? Mr. Fish doubts it, but he says that if the administration pigeonholes his resolution in the foreign affairs committee, he will offer it as an amendment to the new 6 billion dollar lend-lease appropriation or to the forthcoming proposal to repeal the neutrality act. He and the Americans who think with him are just as much opposed to the war now as they have been before, but they are willing to take this chance and they will accept its results. The inciters to war are denouncing as disloyal every element of citizenship which seeks to check them. They have sought to create the illusion that the country already is at war but they have not dared to come out in the open. They have hidden behind pretexts.

Mr. Roosevelt has sent American armed forces into the war zone in Iceland, where they are co-operating with British armed forces. He has ordered the navy to protect all vessels, of whatever nationality, carrying American supplies thru war waters. The navy has orders to shoot first if one of our warships sights a German raider—submarine, surface vessel, or bomber. Under these orders our navy can be operating as far as Suez in one direction and to Iceland in another, within 600 miles of Europe. It is plainly the hope of Mr. Roosevelt and the belligerent old men in his cabinet that out of these maneuvers will come an incident of such gravity that declaration of war will follow almost automatically.

The navy must obey Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Knox. The army must obey Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Stimson. And congress sits as helplessly as if it had been abolished by Mr. Roosevelt in September, 1939.

If there is a naval action in which American cruisers, destroyers, or planes attack a German raiding force and lose ships and men, the conspiracy will have come to the culmination desired in the White House and in the ex-patriate circles. The progress toward this desired result has been one of unprecedented hypocrisy and bad faith, of broken promises and studied deceptions. Mr. Roosevelt has not kept his word in any particular at any time with the American people. Everything he has done has been contrary to what he said he intended to do. It is a peculiar experience for the American people to have their system of government so lightly swept aside by a man of imperious will and light regard for pledges.

He dictated the neutrality act which he now proposes to repeal, and he has violated nearly every one of the provisions which he wrote into that law. It hardly needs repealing because it has not been respected by the men who insisted upon its passage. The tricks by which the approach to the war in Europe, Asia, and Africa has been achieved are open to the light of day. Every one can see how they were prepared and what they were intended to accomplish.

No dictator anywhere, at any time, ever took national destiny in his own hands more completely than Mr. Roosevelt has done. He has already presented the people with facts accomplished, each one dangerous to their security and all of them achieved without forewarning. Congress learns that a warlike act has been committed, that the peace of the country has been further jeopardized and the war brought nearer, with never a chance to give its consent or express its opinion. Already several incidents have been procured, none of them as yet of the serious nature designed. But the great incident may be of occurrence almost any day.

It is time to bring this preposterous situation out of the realm of conspiracy and to the floors of congress. Submit the issue and the people will abide the decision.

MR. KNUDSEN JOINS THE EX-PATRIATES.

Mr. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management, was a speaker in whom much interest was taken at a Union League club luncheon which had 1,400 guests.

It was natural that many industrialists and merchants should want to hear what this factotum of new American dictatorship had to say about their lives. They had a right to think that he might be sympathetic with the economic processes of American free society because he has been the beneficiary of them and as a Danish boy sought such enjoyment of a free life as he would find here. A great many people respect Mr. Knudsen for his administrative ability as shown in his connection with a great automobile company. He has been severely criticized by the gentry who want to go overboard in mid-ocean for the war, because for a long time he seemed to have an intelligent view of the consequences of such a war and to be unwilling to sacrifice his American attainments for his foreign heritage.

Well, Mr. Knudsen seems to have gone the way of all flesh. Whether he had been softened up by the dive bombing attacks upon him by the war party or whether he has begun to enjoy his job of distributor of other people's billions, it is immaterial to inquire. He demanded an unequivocal and unreserved devotion to the war plans of a tenant of the White House who has had no authority for any war steps he has taken. The authority upon which this tenant acts is dictated to himself by himself.

Mr. Knudsen not only demanded that every American give unreserved subscription to what the willful man in the White House decides but he told them to prepare to empty their pockets and tighten their belts and do without things that they need. Mr. Knudsen, in spite of all his economic experience and in spite of all his presumed common sense, has, because of his job in Washington, turned out to be as unpleasant an enemy of American economic freedom and American independence as any one of the glitter eyed ex-patriates who fatten upon this country's misfortunes to enhance their own egotism.

This is disappointing to many people who might have expected Mr. Knudsen to keep his head. However, it is but a natural consequence of dwelling and working in a capital which is not the capital of the United States but is a provincial lieutenant governancy of the British empire. The allurement of spending billions of dollars of other people's money in the most reckless fashion, disastrous to the future economy of that country and, indeed, ruinous to the lives of the persons who indulge in the practice, seems to have overtaken a hard headed man who without such excitements might have remained sane. It reveals how an incendiary minority can set fires which cannot be extinguished by the people who are about to be devoured by them.

Mr. Knudsen, surely against the better judgment he had even six months ago, has been swept into the fiery circle and is now in full blaze. It doesn't give the average American much sense of security for his own future when such things can happen.

POLITICAL PORK STILL GETS PRIORITY.

When congress included in the recent tax bill an annual use tax of $5 on each automobile and truck in the country, a treasury employé estimated that it would take 3,800 new federal pay rollers to collect the tax. Recent announcements have been that the tax will be collected thru the postoffice department. Whether this is the method originally planned or is a substitute is not clear, but it is clear that the government has gone about the collection of the tax in the most expensive way and in the way that subjects the motorists of the nation to the greatest annoyance.

It apparently escaped the attention of every one connected with the tax bill that there is not a privately owned automobile or truck in the country that does not already pay an annual license fee. The added labor that would be placed on the state licensing officials by having them also receive the federal tax payment and forward it to Washington, would be unnoticeable. A dozen clerks in the treasury could keep all the books necessary on the account, as similar small forces now keep the accounts of taxes that yield even more than the use tax.

Motorists would be saved the annoyance of a double license application. The only defect in the proposal is that it wouldn't provide jobs for 3,800 deserving New Dealers. The AAA priority in Washington isn't for airplanes or ships or tanks or machine tools. It is for pork.

CORRECTION.

Based upon information which we believed to be authentic, an editorial last Monday entitled "Too Much Monkey Business," stated that Mr. Norbert A. McKenna had resigned as Chief of the Paper and Pulp section of OPM, and that Dr. Cox had taken his place. We have now been officially informed that Mr. McKenna is still Chief of the Paper and Pulp section but that his work has been placed under the general charge of Dr. Cox, who is supervisor of all industrial branches under Leon Henderson's Civilian and Supply division of OPM. Mr. McKenna informs us that he has no intention of leaving OPM.

ACADEMIC FESTIVALS.

The current academic festival at the University of Chicago, celebrating its 50th anniversary, has had three forerunners. The fifth [quinquennial] was held in July, 1896; the tenth [decennial] in June, 1901, and the twenty-fifth [quarter centennial] in June, 1916.

At the decennial, when the Linemaster covered the campus as a student journalist, the central group of buildings began to round into its present form. Never was there such an orgy of cornerstone laying in the history of the higher education. With pomp and circumstance and symbolic wieldings of trowels, construction began, in theory, on Hutchinson hall, Mandel hall, the Reynolds club, the Mitchell tower, Hitchcock hall, the Press building, and Bartlett gymnasium. These structures were completed and put into use two years later. [Exception: the Press building, occupied in October, 1902.]

If there is, among the book exhibits of the 50th anniversary, a copy of a volume called the Decennial Publication, we shall gaze upon it with decided interest. We edited it. That is to say, we took a mass of historical articles, architects' technical chatter, and biographical effusions that somebody dropped into our lap, for some reason about which our memory is quite foggy, and turned it into our idea of readable English. The thing, we suspect, was completely unofficial. Our haziness on the subject may be explained by the fact that we were running on an allowance of five hours' sleep a night.

Frederick Stock's "Academic Festival Prelude," composed for this occasion, has a forerunner in Brahms' "Academic Festival," composed for the University of Breslau in 1881. Brahms wove "Gaudeamus Igitur" and several other German student song themes into his harmonic structure. We are wondering if the tune detectives at the festival concert next Sunday night will discover that Mr. Stock found inspiration in "Wave the Flag for Old Chicago" and "The March of the Maroons."

LONGING FOR HOMELAND.

The country is my mother;
She it is who reared me.

The city is my foster mother.
Never can I become a true child of the city.

Today I would hush the noise of the city
To hear the wild goose call.

I would lift up the sidewalks, forever ringing with the hammer of heels on concrete,
To tread with grateful feet the soft, black earth.

I would seal the smoke expelling chimneys of the city
To breathe the pure, fragrant country air.

I would tear away the veil of tall buildings
To let my eyes travel far across the rolling fields,
To see the crimson splendor of the sun sinking

I would snuff out the bright lights of the city, where night never comes,
To feel the black star-jeweled cloak of night about me.

My mother, tho I ache with longing for you,
I remain woven in the net of the city.
But this I know:
Some day I shall come home.

Among the Meteoric Immortals.

Our heart goes out at this time of year to Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCain of Benld, Ill., for just two years ago, on Sept. 29, their garage was struck by a meteor. During the last 150 years, according to Dr. H. W. Nichols, chief curator of geology, Field Museum of Natural History, there have been only ten other authenticated cases in which a meteor penetrated buildings. Mr. and Mrs. McCain, therefore, are eligible to membership in ISOPWPHBSBM, the International Society of Persons Whose Property Has Been Struck by Meteors.

The McCain meteor now reposes at the museum. It came tearing down between 9 and 9:10 o'clock in the morning, passed thru the garage roof, penetrated the family car, went thru the seat cushion, struck the muffler and then bounded back, where it became entangled in the seat springs. It was not discovered until the afternoon, when Mr. McCain went to get his car. He was surprised.

NO OTHER WAY.

Count not on going back, O homesick heart,
For all the singing roads that you have traveled
Are fenced and closed, and trampled in the mart
Are the perfumed grasses that you gathered.
No way, but on; if you dare turn or cower
Ghosts will attack, and Time will heavy-hand you
And find the tenderest part (if late the hour)
And there with a hell-heated iron brand you.

Be comforted, and spare the flesh and bone;
Each man must tread his road to Calvary
Without fanfare and, thru the crowd, alone,
And mount his cross and meet his destiny.
Soon night will come, and silence soft and black;
And earth will call, and then you may go back.

THE FIVE-DAY CURE OF SYPHILIS.

SYPHILIS—in the acute stage—is on the run. The reason is that the veil of secrecy has been swept aside. Thanks to the public press and the slogan, "Syphilis must go"—accurate information is now available concerning this loathsome malady.

True enough, a small percentage of our population is still afflicted but, for the most part, the disease was contracted years ago. Despite the fact that an individual has received hundreds of injections he may continue to show a positive blood test. These persons may take comfort in the knowledge that so long as medical attention is maintained they are dangerous neither to themselves nor to others. Furthermore, its advance within their own bodies will not continue.

One of the handicaps of treatment is that it is so long drawn out. The patient is obliged to make many trips to the doctor's office and to be faithful and regular in attendance. For those who cannot pay, public clinics are supported by city, county, state, or national health authorities. All that is required is the will to get well—and stick-to-itiveness.

But today we do things in streamlined fashion. A few years ago the suggestion was offered that perhaps massive doses of drugs, designed to kill the causative spirochetes, could be administered successfully. In 1933, 25 volunteers suffering from the disease, received as much neoarsphenamine in five days as would be given ordinarily in about 10 weeks. So promising was the initial experiment that 100 additional patients were selected in 1938. Unfortunately, in this series, a few failed to respond as favorably as had been expected and a change was made in the type of chemical employed. Of the next group of 25, 15 are still under observation and 12 have remained well with negative tests.

This procedure, however, cannot be recommended wholeheartedly as absolutely foolproof. So large a quantity of arsenic, while it may destroy the last living parasite, places a substantial burden on the organs of elimination. In addition, the liver and the blood forming organs likewise may be affected. During the period, the kidneys and the liver are checked regularly for signs of irritation and any drop in function. The circulation is watched carefully to safeguard the cells.

While many will pass thru the ordeal without the slightest disturbance, others may exhibit toxic manifestations. A common complaint is pain in the arm receiving the injection. This no doubt comes about because of disuse inasmuch as the parts are as fixed as tho they were in splints. Headache may be experienced.

Fever denotes that the régime should be stopped, if the temperature reaches 101.4 degrees F. This calls for a thermometer reading practically every hour. If all goes well, the introduction of the medicine may be resumed the following day. It is thought that the rise in body heat takes place because so many spirochetes are being overwhelmed that they act as a poison. Finally, any indication of jaundice—enough to be observed in the skin—means that the liver cannot stand the drug in large volumes, whereupon the wholesale plan is discontinued.

But regardless of inconvenience and discomfort, this ailment must be routed out. Even with small amounts of one of the curative compounds, reactions may occur. But we must not minimize the fact that, unless the greatest care is exercised, they are more likely to arise subsequent to the intensive form of therapy. The five day regimen demands hospital management and constant nursing, as every symptom must be recorded and every sensation interpreted, if disaster is to be avoided. Nausea and vomiting—which may be encountered at the outset—are far less important than the appearance of a yellowish tinge in the whites of the eyes.

PROBABLY NOT.

P. A. writes: I have had hemorrhoids for many years. There is no pain or bleeding. Should I have them removed?

REPLY.

Yes, if they are interfering with the normal functioning of the rectum or are subject to periodic irritation.

WRONG SIDE.

R. W. writes: Does the appendix ever appear on the left side?

REPLY.

Yes, when—in the development of the fetus—normal rotation does not occur. In like manner, the heart may be on the right side and the liver on the left.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE HOARDING SPIRIT.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 20.—Human nature seems to be the same no matter where you meet it.

While waiting for the go sign here today I overheard a couple of women talking:

"If I had all the money them people has I'd of went right down and put in $10 or $12 worth of groceries, a couple of sides of meat, and a ham. You bet your life these high prices wouldn't have caught me."

The other woman agreed and said she would have "laid in even more than that."

Isn't it the people who put in the $10 worth of groceries, the two sides of meat, the extra ham, and even more than that, who are the cause of the sudden rise in food prices?

All that any of us lack is a little money and a chance to protect ourselves.

A PROGRAM FOR THE LEGION.

Manteno, Ill., Sept. 20.—After reading complaining letters in Saturday's Tribune, I wonder if the writers are not like a lot of other Legionnaires I know: Go to a Legion meeting and never take the floor and express their views; then after the meeting get a few on a street corner and condemn the other fellows for what they are trying to do.

I have just finished a successful year as county commander and I feel that the rank and file should try to go to every meeting and if they have anything on their chests that is the place to thresh it out. So let's be good Legionnaires and when the time comes to elect our delegates for all 1942 conventions let's be sure we elect men that will do the mandates of the rank and file.

A Past Commander.

STOPS RACE DISCRIMINATION.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—I am happy to see that The Tribune has taken an interest in fighting discrimination against Negroes in the armed forces. But I think you missed one news story on discrimination that vitally concerned the 300,000 Negroes in Chicago. It concerned an order by President Roosevelt against anti-Negro discrimination in civil service jobs. The order was issued at the suggestion of the OPM committee on fair employment practice of which I am a member.

The President's order said: "It has come to my attention that there is in the federal establishment a lack of uniformity and possibly some lack of sympathetic attitude toward the problems of minority groups, particularly those relating to the employment and assignment of Negroes in the federal civil service . . . It is imperative that we deal with this problem speedily and effectively. I shall look for immediate steps to be taken by all departments and independent establishments of the government to facilitate and put into effect this policy of nondiscrimination in federal employment."

Alderman, 2d Ward.

ONE MORE RULER IN EXILE?

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Because of the German victory in the Ukraine the breakdown of Russian resistance is inevitable. When shall this country offer asylum to Stalin and will Washington become the official seat of the "Third International" and official center of the world's revolution? Michael Tym.

SEE SCRUBWOMEN'S SPECIAL.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—An answer to Sentimentalist: Just how would you go about getting the "palaces of commerce" cleaned? And if you are sympathizing with the women who do the job, don't waste your sympathy. Instead, get on a Halsted-Downtown surface lines car any late afternoon or evening and ride a scrubwoman special to the loop. Hear them jabber and cackle—about as sturdy, healthy, and happy a lot as you'll find anywhere.

A heap more jolly than the snooty crowd pulling out for the north shore ahead of them. The only pity is that a lot of them do have to pay tribute to their union for the privilege of working—but that's what Washington wants, and they don't seem to mind too much. So just don't waste your "sentiment" too quickly. Go out and see a few other angles to the problem before you leap to conclusions.

Realist.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—I note the letter of sympathy for the scrubwomen. In our North Troop street you can watch each evening a mother being driven to a palace of commerce by her own son in a big motor car. The son is one of eight children, all happy and well fed.

Mother of Four.

ESTONIANS GET THE NEWS.

New York, Sept. 19.—The members of the Estonian Women's club have read the reports of your foreign correspondent, Donald Day, from Tallinn, Estonia. This is the first news about our unhappy homeland. Your newspaper has had the courage to tell the Americans the grisly truth about communist régime in Estonia. Mr. Day knows the Baltic regions better than other Americans and can bear witness to how a truly democratic country and her hard working people can be ruined by the Russians in such a short time.

A committee of neutrals ought to investigate the Russian régime, its doings and accomplishments in Estonia. Russian barbarism certainly is boundless.

Isolde E. Eland,
Federation Chairman.

THIS COOKER OUT OF DATE?

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Many of your readers remember the old fashioned fireless cooker so much in use about 30 years ago.

I have tried to purchase one of these but, after inquiring at department as well as hardware stores, I was unable to procure one. Can any of your readers advise where I may purchase such a fireless cooker.

FREE RIDES FOR SOLDIERS?

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The Tribune and its readers would render a real service to the boys in uniform by making a drive to have free transportation for soldiers and sailors in the city on street cars, buses, and the elevated lines, as policemen, firemen, and mailmen are favored now.

Wm. P. Garrity.

OVERBOARD FOR THE RUSSIAN.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 21.—A German and an Englishman and a Russian were riding in the Clipper. In the middle of the ocean the pilot came back and said, "I am sorry, gentlemen, we are running out of gas. One of you will have to go overboard."

The German stood up and saluted, said, "Heil Hitler," and jumped overboard.

An hour later the pilot came back and said, "I am sorry, gentlemen, but one other one of you will have to go overboard."

The Englishman stood up and saluted, saying, "There will always be an England," and threw the Russian overboard.

SOLDIER WANTS LETTERS.

FORT RICHARDSON, Alaska, Sept. 12.—I am a regular army soldier here in Alaska. A friend of mine is a subscriber of your paper and I enjoy reading the news from my home state. I especially enjoy the Voice of the People. As I receive very few letters, I would like to have quite a number of friends in Chicago whom I would like to hear from. I wonder if you would please print this letter in order that I may get in touch with them, for many of them are readers of The Tribune, a great newspaper.

Eldridge W. Sharp,
Private 1st Class, Co. H, 4th Infantry.

QUERY FOR THE NAVY.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—If one of our naval vessels sinks a German raider or submarine and picks up survivors, will they be treated as prisoners of war [from a nation with which we are not at war] or neutrality prisoners, lend-lease prisoners, illegal immigrants, or war refugees?

M. Lyng.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

VOTING RIGHTS.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Are the men in service, regulars and draftees, permitted to cast ballots in elections—municipal, state, and national?

G. K.

Their eligibility to vote where they originally resided would depend on the law of that jurisdiction and on whether it permits absentee voting. Presumably they are not eligible to vote where they are stationed if they are there only temporarily and such does not constitute legal residence.

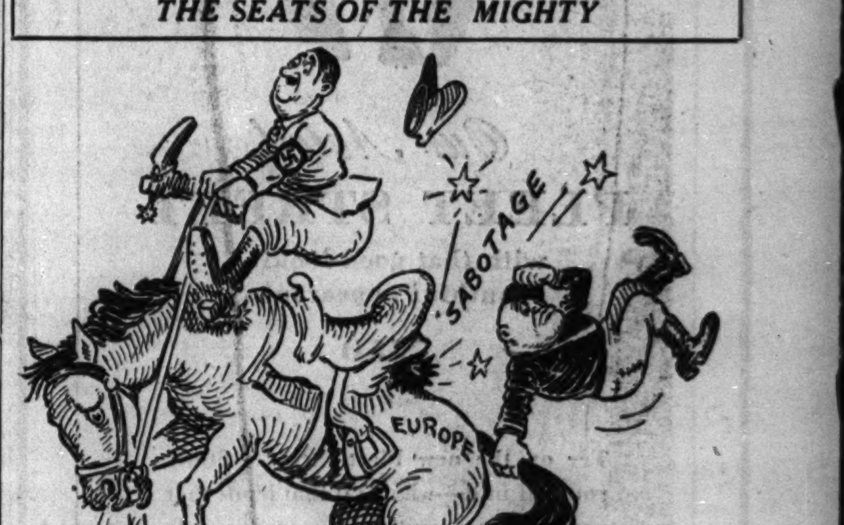
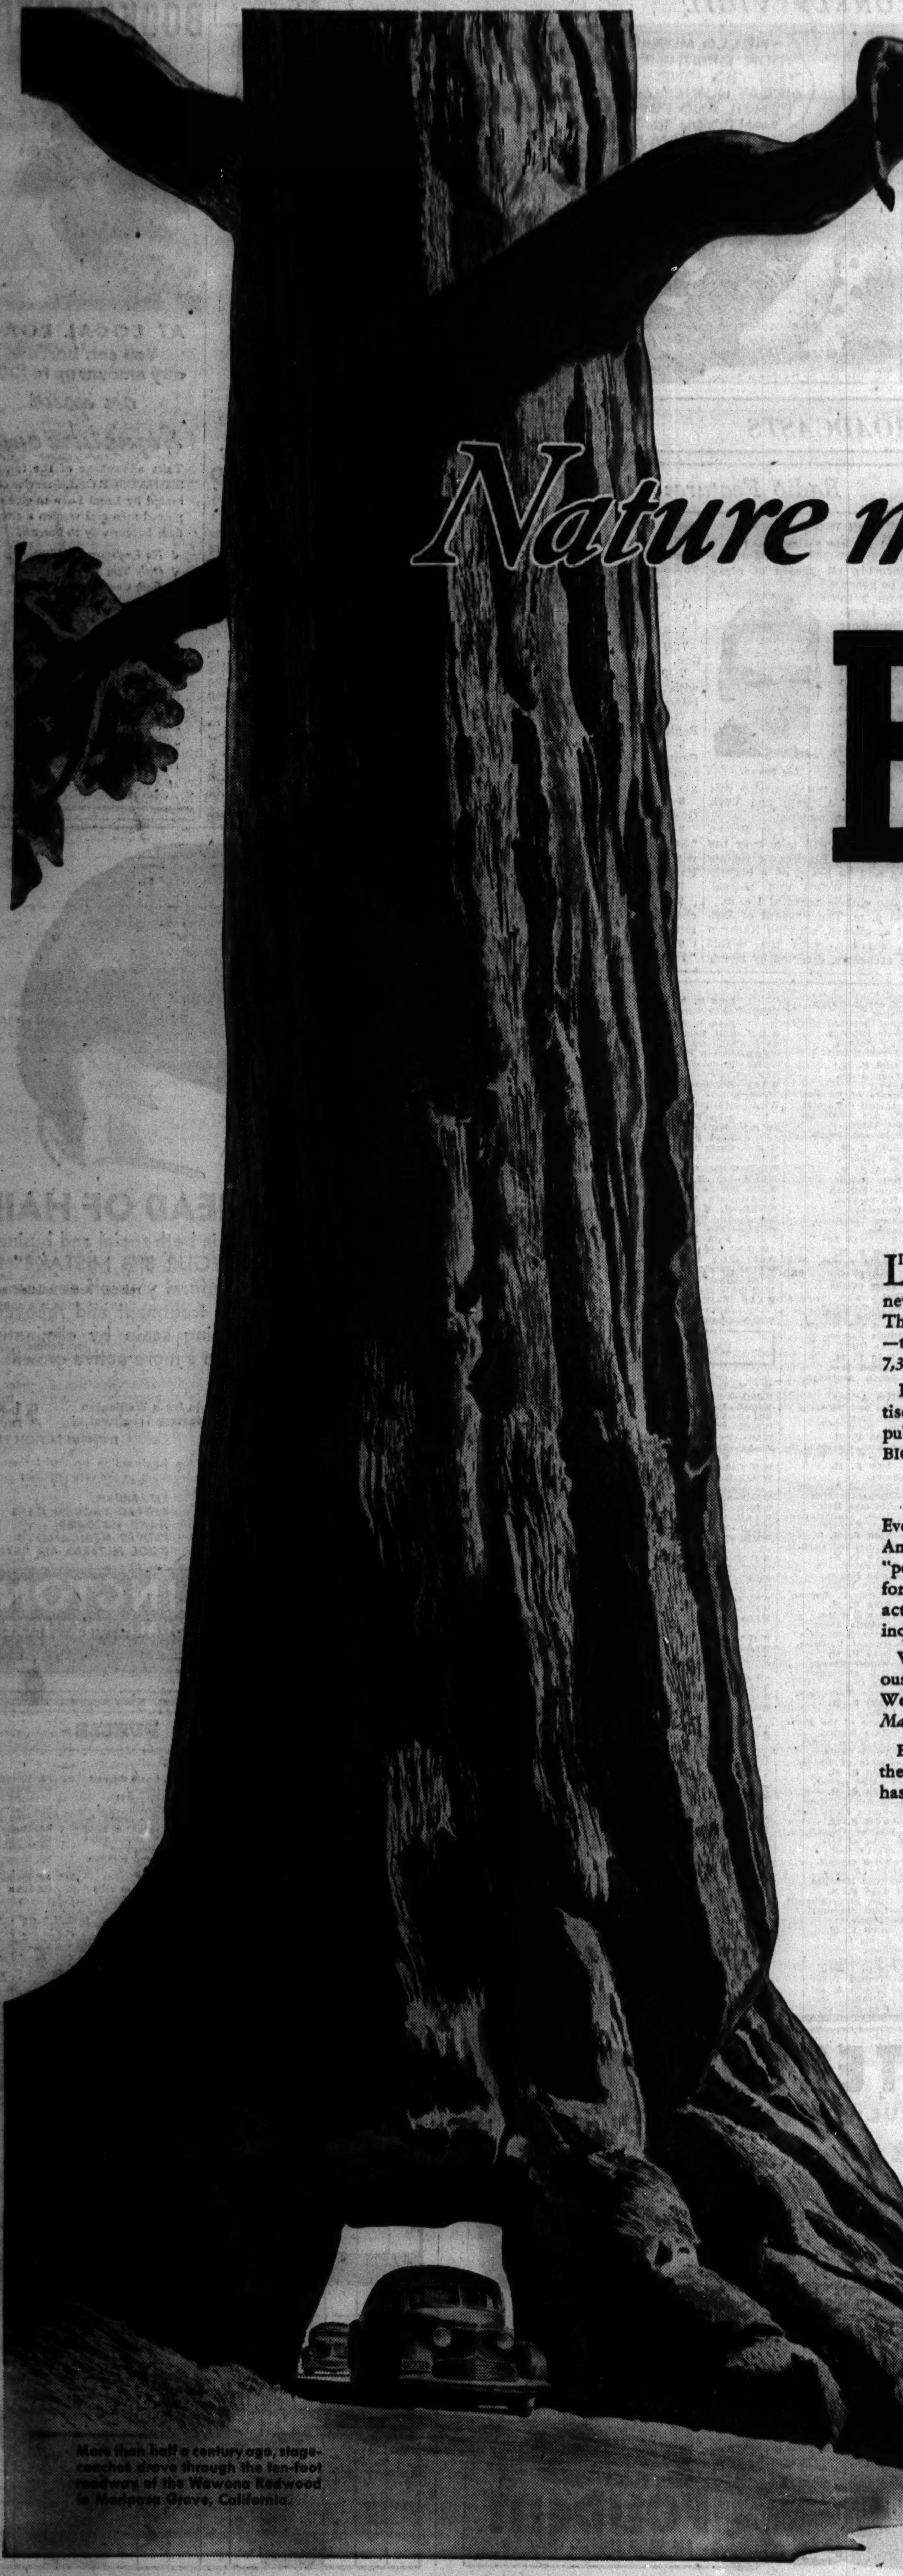
THE SEATS OF THE MIGHTY





More than half a century ago, stagecoaches drove through the ten-foot roadway of the Wawona Redwood in Mariposa Grove, California.

Nature made the Redwood BIGGEST

TREES DIE—but a Redwood lives to grow another year. Some are now three to four thousand years old.

MANY TREES ARE STATELY—but a man forgets them as his eyes follow the upward sweep of a giant Redwood. The tallest is 364 feet.

TREES ARE USEFUL—a few good trees will build a house. But a Redwood has been measured which would make 600,000 board feet of lumber—enough to build a village of 36 average houses.

LIKE A GIANT REDWOOD, The American Weekly, the magazine distributed through 21 great Sunday newspapers from coast to coast, is "a lot to believe." There have always been skeptics not able—or willing—to grasp the full import of a magazine which enters 7,300,000 homes every week.

But here it is, plain to be seen by any national advertiser who will believe his own eyes—the BIGGEST publication of all time, vigorous and GROWING in the BIGGEST INCOME YEAR in the Nation's history . . .

Even in a normal year, BIG COLOR PAGES in The American Weekly are the recognized advertising "powerhouses." They raise the morale of the sales-force—stimulate dealers by the thousand to special activity—expand outlets—make new records for inquiries.

With this kind of power, imagine what a continuous schedule of BIG COLOR PAGES in The American Weekly can do—both with the consumer and the trade. Many important advertisers already know!

BIG COLOR PAGES are the giant Redwood trunk for the giant advertisers. And just as the Redwood also has branches capable of making good lumber, black-and-white advertisements, from 28 lines up—even in lean years—appearing consistently in The American Weekly, have helped in building scores of businesses now flourishing.

But this is a year for GIANTS—or for those who want to be!

Large national advertisers with vision will appreciate the super-economic value of using a cycle of 13 BIG COLOR PAGES in The American Weekly, one every four weeks for the year, at $18,000 each—a total of $234,000. Or, for the smaller advertisers, 26 100-line single-column advertisements at $10.50 per line ($1,050 each) to run every other week, at a cost of $27,300 for the year.

The American Weekly wants only the chance to prove that every advertiser in America now faces an opportunity which, for size and importance, has never been matched in advertising history.

The proof is ready—a major presentation, entitled The Advertising Dollar. Compact. Clear. Conclusive. It can be presented in half an hour. And the advertiser who plans for '42 without this vital half-hour of preparation will miss the most cogent grouping of facts that can be brought to bear. Phone or write to the nearest office listed below.

THREE VITAL FACTS that point the way to Bigger Business!

1. Four million more wage earners with SIX BILLION DOLLARS more a year to spend.
2. In the following income groups, The American Weekly reaches:*

$5000 and over	607,815—⅓ more than any other magazine
$3000 to $5000	1,757,537—almost double any other magazine
$2000 to $3000	2,379,997—double any other magazine
$1000 to $2000	2,299,444—more than double any other magazine

3. In the shaded states of the map on the right—where 95% of defense expenditures, amounting to $13,299,000,000, are being made—there is 92% of The American Weekly circulation.

PROTESTS GOON SLUGGING, LOSES JOB AS TRUCKER

Driver Summoned Before Union Board.

Paul Busch.

Because he protested to 30 goons who were slugging 11 members of an independent warehousemen's union Monday, Paul Busch, 39 years old, truck driver for the National Tea company, had lost his job yesterday and was under suspension by local 705 of the International Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen, and Helpers union [AFL].

When Busch reported for work yesterday morning he was told by a timekeeper that he had been fired. Beside the timekeeper stood Fred Tiedt, president of local 705, who, according to Busch, told him:

"This is for not minding your own business. You will appear before the board of 705 on Oct. 6 and explain your case."

Formal Complaint Filed.

Busch's discharge was confirmed later in the day by officials of the local. They said a formal complaint had been filed with them by local 738, rival of the independent union whose members were slugged.

The complaint, said the officials of 705, charges Busch with "interfering with organization activities of a sister local and with taking the side of the rebels."

The slugging followed a long wrangle between members of an independent warehousemen's union and the teamsters' union over which should be the bargaining agency between the workers and the National Tea company.

Victims Appeal to Police.

Busch said his protest had been prompted by sportsmanship and the fear that the victims might be crippled for life. While he was objecting, four of the independents upon whom the attack was concentrated, escaped from the goons.

They are Frank Tinaglia, 23; Edward Larson, 23; Robert Simpson, 40, and Joseph Siko, 40. With their faces cut and bruised, they appealed yesterday to Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail, who went before Judge Joseph Hermes and obtained 13 warrants charging assault and battery.

Eleven were John Doe warrants and two named David Kahn and M. Formusa, described by Sergt. Barnes as officials of local 738. Seven witnesses to the assault also appeared before Judge Hermes. With them was Attorney Francis Heisler, representing the independent union, local 1 of the Progressive Grocery and Warehouse Workers' union. Executives of the National Tea company said they knew nothing about the affair.

BOY, 11, KILLED BY TRAIN.

PROBATION LOST BY WOMAN, 76; PRISON ORDERED

Judge George F. Rush yesterday revoked an order under which Miss Virginia Warren, 76 years old, was placed on probation last March 24 after she had been convicted of assisting in an abortion and sentenced to 1 to 10 years in prison.

The court had been informed that Miss Warren violated the probation by continuing to permit abortions to be performed in her home at 4102 Kenmore avenue. Witnesses who made the charge in July later changed their stories before the grand jury, and Judge Rush referred to them as sacrificing themselves for Miss Warren.

The judge granted a stay of 30 days on his order that the defendant go to prison. This was done so she might carry on an appeal.

'Day by Day on the Farm' by GAIL COMPTON

The Hessian Fly.

September 23, 1941.

FOR more than a month the 16 acre field back of the sheep barns has been ready to plant to winter wheat. The soil was worked into a good seed bed, the weather was perfect, and the machinery stood ready to move into the field.

Yet because of a tiny fly the planting was not started until this week. It wasn't until the farm manager had received the "fly date" that the wheat drill went to work.

The fly date is the day on which the Hessian fly is considered harmless and too far along in its development to attack newly sown wheat. The majority of wheat farmers who plant a fall crop will never seed until they have received the fly date from their county farm agent or state agricultural college. Wheat sown before the safe period is liable to heavy damage from the little Hessian fly, which is not much bigger than a mosquito.

Years of Research.

Responsible for thousands of dollars of damage each year, the Hessian fly has been the subject of years of scientific research. Now its life history is so well understood that experts can determine almost to the day when a farmer in any certain locality can sow his wheat without fear of fly damage.

There are two main broods of Hessian fly maggots each year. In April the adult fly lays eggs on the leaves of the wheat plants. In May the eggs hatch into maggots which journey down to the stalk, where they feed and mature. In June the maggot goes into the "flaxseed" stage, in which its body becomes hard and brown, resembling the seed of the flax plant. The "flaxseed" is left in the stubble in July, and in the following month the adult fly emerges from the brown pupa. In September the new adult fly lays eggs on the young wheat plants, and the eggs again go into the "flaxseed" stage, in which they winter over among the roots of the wheat.

How They Harm Plant.

If the September adult fly does not find young wheat plants on which to lay its eggs, there is little chance of the eggs surviving. Fly damage results in the ripened grain falling over because the joints have been weakened by the flies feeding. Fall kill, another fly damage, comes from the pest feeding on the roots of the young plant.

The wheat ground at the farm was fertilized before the wheat was drilled. A commercial fertilizer of 20 per cent, nonacid forming, superphosphate was applied at the rate of 200 pounds to the acre.

The fertilizer was disked into the ground and then the wheat was drilled at the rate of a bushel and a half to the acre. After a long summer rest, plenty of fertilizer, and good aeration, the soil should produce a fine crop of winter wheat.

BARBER PLEADS GUILTY TO $5,000 BRACELET THEFT

Guy Susi, 35 years old, 1429 North Clark street, a loop barber, pleaded guilty to petty larceny yesterday before Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Felony court. Judge Dougherty took a motion for probation under advisement when Susi's victim said he believed the barber was not "fundamentally dishonest."

Susi admitted taking a $5,000 bracelet from the home of Fred W. Straus, 442 Wellington avenue, while visiting a maid there. He pawned the bracelet for $80, intending, he said, to win money on the horses and replace the bracelet. Susi's attorney, Harry Busch, told the court that Susi has no criminal record and could easily have sold the bracelet for $500 if he had had "criminal intentions."

CANDY WORKERS MAINTAIN PICKET LINE AT FACTORY

Members of the Confectionery and Candy Workers Union of America [CIO], who called a strike against the Walter H. Johnson Candy corporation at 341 West Superior street on Sept. 10, were still picketing the plant yesterday. The union was chosen sole bargaining agent for the employés at an NLRB election during the summer. Otto A. Jaburek, attorney for the firm, said that the management had negotiated with the union and had granted the pay and vacation awards demanded and that the only point still at issue was a closed shop. He said that the 325 workers were losing about $6,500 a week in wages as a result of the walkout.

KILLER OF FOUR ASSUMES SCOWL BEFORE JURORS

Bernard Sawicki, 19 year old parolee from the Illinois Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, changed his attitude yesterday while he watched selection of a jury to try him for the murder of Park Policeman Charles Speaker—one of Sawicki's four murder victims during a single week-end last June.

Instead of the bright, cheerful Sawicki of Monday, court fans saw Sawicki in a scowling, somber mood. He didn't appear to be afraid, one of those who watched him said, but as if he were scowling in an attempt to frighten any one watching him.

The trial was adjourned after a second panel was chosen and the defense used all except one of its peremptory challenges. Four men and four women have been selected for the jury, which is certain to be completed today in Judge John Sbarbaro's Criminal court. Sawicki is represented by Attorney Morton E. Anderson, assistant public defender.

But Everything's Rosy Now

Herbert Harlan loved his Mrs.,
Showered her with gifts and kisses.
Mrs. H. loved Herbert too;
But his kisses were taboo!

1. Why? Herb's FALSE TEETH were a "sight"
Though he brushed them every night.
The "aroma" they effused
Really couldn't be excused!

2. Said his dentist: "Try a can
Of this POLIDENT, young man;
It soaks your plates clean, sweet and pure;
And stops vile 'Denture Breath' for sure."

3. Herbert did; and now no strife
Darkens his domestic life.
MORAL: POLIDENT'S just right
To keep your plates, and romance, bright.

Coal Heat is Best
—and Costs Less

Coal savings are always worth while. This year they are doubly so! To help you conserve all fuel possible, your coal merchant, providing he is a member of this association, stands ready to assist you in getting the utmost efficiency out of your heating plant. And his assistance can mean a great deal. For in addition to his own experience he offers you the latest technical knowledge derived from the nationally known engineering bureau he helps maintain. Call him today.

Automatic heat regulators are now inexpensive. They keep rooms at constant temperature and usually conserve fuel dollars. Ask your coal merchant about them.

TO CONSERVE FUEL
—MAKE THIS CANDLE TEST

Draft leaks in your heating plant may be responsible for fuel waste. To discover them, pass a lighted candle over the surface of your stack and furnace. Leaks will announce themselves by drawing in the candle flame. Plug them with boiler cement. For other tips on how to conserve fuel, ask any member of this Association for the Heating Chart issued by the Department of the Interior's Consumers' Counsel Division . . . it's FREE.

ST. LOUIS KELLY WRAPS SELF IN SHINING ARMOR

Glance at Record Bares Some Tarnished Spots.

J. Livert [St. Louis] Kelly, colored, a self-styled labor leader and possessor of a police record, sat down by a telephone yesterday afternoon and wove a verbal cloak of respectability into which he wrapped himself speedily.

His theme was: "God's people out this way need more money"; a thought he had expressed the day before in a letter to 491 colored workers who are members of local 444 of the Bartenders, Waiters, Waitresses, and Cooks union [AFL], of which he is business agent. The letter was an invitation to attend a meeting at 366 East 47th street today.

Talks with Police.

Among those to whom Kelly talked were Sergt. George Barnes, head of the detective bureau labor detail, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police. The olive branch to Sergt. Barnes, who had announced six weeks ago that Kelly was thru as a labor facter and would be arrested every time he appeared on the streets, was a bushy one.

"Come around to our meeting, sergeant," he told Barnes. "I am going to resign and walk out of the hall. Then the union will elect officers. Can I help it if they won't nominate anybody but me for my place?"

Sergt. Barnes was polite. He recalled that he had taken a letter to Edward Flore, president of the Bartenders International, saying that Kelly was an unfit leader and ought to be ousted. Flore appointed Edward Miller, a vice president, to investigate. Miller was in Kansas City yesterday and said he still was investigating.

Ministers Come to Aid.

"Many people out here have protested against the campaign to ruin me," Kelly said. "Twenty-one ministers went downtown to tell Mayor Kelly so. They said I was a swell guy. Everything at our meeting will be on the up and up."

Later Kelly elaborated.

"I am a church member," he said, "and I was arrested only once, for being in a disorderly house. That has happened to a lot of people, even big people. If my morals don't suit the police, they suit my people.

"For me to run a book wouldn't be right, but there's no reason I can't run a union, is there? I never did anything more wrong than punching a man in the nose."

Encounters with Law.

Kelly's record shows that he was fined June 23, 1923, on a gambling charge. In August, 1924, he was fined again as an inmate of a gambling house. On April 26, 1926, his bond was forfeited after he had been arrested again as inmate of a disorderly resort.

On Jan. 9, 1929, Kelly was found guilty of carrying a pistol and put on probation for a year. He was fined in March, 1931, for disorderly conduct and on March 25, 1941, he was arrested for assault. That case was dismissed for want of prosecution.

Kelly was head of the colored store clerks' union, which paid tribute to the ex-bootlegger Max Caldwell, ousted czar of local 1248, Retail Clerks International Protective association. He said he had been out of that union over a year.

Sergt. Barnes indicated he would be at the meeting today and take any necessary action.

Illinois Liquor Dealers' Convention to End Today

SHERIFF TELLS WORKERS' FEAR OF CIO SLUGGERS

Testifies at Trial of 37 in Riot.

Winchester, Ind., Sept. 23 [Special].—Pleas from independent workers for protection against violence at the hands of CIO terrorists who sought to prevent them from returning to work were described from the witness stand here today by Sheriff Ora Wilson.

Sheriff Ora Wilson.

Wilson testified at the trial of 37 CIO defendants on charges of assault in a riot which occurred March 27 when the strikebound International Harvester company plant was reopened in Richmond. More than 20 persons were injured. The 37, among 82 arrested during the riot, were indicted by a Wayne county grand jury.

The defendants obtained a change of venue from Richmond and the trial, which began Sept. 10, is being heard by Judge John M. Macy of the Randolph county Circuit court and 13 jurors, one of them an alternate. Those on trial—34 men and three women, including a mother and her daughter—were members of the Farm Equipment Workers' Organization committee, which started the strike and established a picket line at the Harvester plant.

Workers Fear for Lives Told.

The testimony of Sheriff Wilson, who was one of six state witnesses heard today, agreed with that of previous witnesses who said independent workers were afraid their lives were in danger from CIO sluggers. Wilson testified he had hired a number of special deputies in an effort to prevent violence at the reopening of the plant.

Mayor John R. Britten of Richmond, who was the first witness when the trial started, also testified independent workers had beseeched him for protection in returning to their jobs.

Other witnesses—policemen, newspaper reporters and photographers, and Harvester employés—told of the bloody clash.

Axes Found in Truck.

Police Chief Ellis Duckett of Richmond testified a woman telephoned a warning to him that the strikers had prepared heated pokers for use against nonstrikers and that a CIO truck near the plant gates was filled with weapons. Police found two axes, a pitchfork, clubs, and rocks in the truck.

Other witnesses testified that Clifford Kerr, head of the CIO local at the Harvester plant, who is one of the defendants, told a massmeeting March 23 that the union was "willing to spill blood" to gain its end—a pay increase.

Dan Johnson, one of several policemen injured in the riot, identified Willard Klepser and Paul Chuey of Chicago, both defendants, as two of the men who had slugged him. He testified he believed John Hull of Chicago, another defendant, also had been among his attackers.

Attack on Policeman Told.

Charles Baker, a Harvester employé, testified he saw a group of strikers beating Policeman Moses Shores and that he struck Carlos Picket, one of the strikers, when Picket attempted to join the attack. Baker said he also went to the rescue of another policeman, who was being struck by Orville Willis, a defendant.

Policeman Urban Bussen testified that Ray Irelan, a defendant, threatened him with an iron bar when Bussen ordered him from a truck parked near the plant gate. Bussen also testified that Harry Bell, another defendant, hurled a club at him.

Andrew Jacobs of Indianapolis, chief of the defense counsel, has indicated the defense will maintain that the riot was precipitated by the police.

Three on Trial

Three men, all from New York, went to trial yesterday before Federal District Judge William H. Holly on a charge of using the mails to defraud midwestern investors of $300,000 in a cemetery lot sales campaign.

The defendants are Ralph B. Moohr, Richard L. Vidaver, and Michael L. Michaels. Moohr testified in his own behalf that he knew little about the workings of the scheme, that he acted only as a salesman and didn't know how the money collected was divided.

Originally 19 participants in the scheme were indicted. Fourteen pleaded guilty, including the alleged master mind, Benjamin H. Klar. The three on trial before Judge Holly pleaded not guilty. By agreement there was no jury for their case.

Two former All-American football players were in court. They are Assistant District Attorney Harry Connaughton of Georgetown and Willie Heston of Michigan. Heston was subpoened as a witness.

POLICY GAMBLER FIGHTS $420,869 TAX CLAIM BY U. S.

Iley E. Kelley, colored, one of the reputed policy gambling kings of the south side, yesterday filed in Washington, D. C., a protest against a claim by the government that he owes $420,869 in income taxes and penalties for 1936 and 1938.

In the petition, directed to the board of tax appeals, Kelley contended that the government investigators had never examined his books and records and had not taken any statements from him or any of his agents. He said that in some instances items of gross income had been treated as net income and that revenues from businesses in which he had no interest were taxed.

The government has maintained that he reported only $65,350 in 1936 and $81,250 in 1938, and that the correct figures would be $429,525 and $256,921.

● He's more to be pitied than censured—but somebody ought to tell him that the simple answer to his problem is more electric outlets. Then there would be no complicated "hookups" or long, dangling cords.

Lamps could be placed where they look best and do the most good. The radio and other furniture could be properly arranged. Electric appliances could be used without plug juggling or wire stringing.

NEW PRESIDENT LINER STARTS WORLD CRUISE

Van Buren's Staterooms All Occupied.

New York, Sept. 23 [Special].—The American President Lines' new steamer, President Van Buren, under the command of Capt. W. H. Weaver Jr., U. S. N. R., has sailed from Jersey City on her first voyage in the company's round the world service. She will call at 15 ports in 12 countries, making the trip in about 95 days. She is expected back at New York via Capetown in the last week in December.

The President Van Buren was delivered to her owners on Sept. 11. Of 9,937 deadweight tons, she is capable of maintaining a speed of 16 knots. She is 492 feet long and has accommodations for 96 passengers. On her maiden voyage she is carrying a capacity cargo, and all of her staterooms are occupied.

Sixth of a Fleet of Seven.

This is the sixth of a seven vessel fleet ordered by the American President Lines at a cost of about $21,000,000. The last, the President Polk, was launched on June 28 and is expected to be delivered to her owners on Nov. 11.

Three of the company's ships—the President Adams, the President Hayes, and the President Jackson—were requisitioned by the navy department soon after completion. The other two—the President Garfield and the President Monroe—are in the company's round the world service.

The President Van Buren's first trip will include calls at Havana, the Panama canal, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Honolulu, Shanghai, Hongkong, Manila, Singapore, Penang, Colombo, Bombay, and Capetown.

Launch 10 Ships Next Saturday.

In the greatest launching of merchant ships since the World war, ten vessels will be sent down the ways next Saturday. The ceremonies are to take place in Baltimore, Md.; Chester, Pa.; Kearney, N. J.; Wilmington, Del.; Quincy, Mass.; Pascagoula, Miss.; Portland, Ore.; San Francisco, Cal.; Los Angeles, Cal., and Richmond, Cal.

CITY, AIR LINES AGREE ON NEW TERMINAL LOAN

Ald. John J. Duffy [19th], chairman of a subcommittee of the city council's aviation committee, announced yesterday that an agreement had been reached under which major air lines will lend the city $1,200,000 to be used in constructing a new terminal building for the city airport. No interest is to be charged on the loan.

The agreement was made after eight hours of conference between the aldermen and air line officials, Duffy said. The loan is to be amortized in 12 years and the airplane companies are to accept a 10 per cent increase in landing fees and rentals 10 years after the loan is made. The city waived its demand for payment by the companies of the costs of signal tower operations.

Only the formalities of contract signing remain, Duffy said. Next Monday and Tuesday the committee members and Mayor Kelly, accompanied by air line executives, will fly to inspect the terminal buildings in New York City and Washington, D. C.

The island, easternmost of the British West Indies group known as the Windwards, is sometimes referred to as Little England. Its Portuguese discoverers named it Barbados because of the "beards" of moss which dangle from its trees. Its rolling green hills, antiquated windmills, and palm fringed shores provide an unusual attraction for tourists from America. Bridgetown, the capital, once played host to George Washington. The house where Maj. Washington and his brother, Lawrence, stayed in 1751 still stands. Visitors also see ancient St. Anne's fort, the Savannah, with its race course and polo grounds; Hastings Rocks, with hotels, beach, and promenade, and the native market, where necklaces and purses, hand made of brightly dyed seeds, are offered for sale. The city greets newcomers with the glare of winding, coral streets, the bustle of stevedores, and the rattling of two-wheeled carts. Cruise passengers are ferried ashore in native lighters to the foot of Trafalgar square.

PLANE SERVICE IS RESUMED TO HOUSTON, TEX.

Plane service between Chicago and Houston, Tex., on Braniff airways, which was briefly interrupted at the start of army maneuvers in the south, has been resumed, it was announced yesterday.

"During the final phase of the maneuvers we will continue to operate two schedules daily from Chicago to Houston," said Charles E. Beard of Oklahoma City, president of Braniff. "In addition, we will operate 14 daily flights between Houston and other points of our system. Houston, therefore, will be served by a total of 16 daily Braniff flights, eight of which will be between Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth, and other northern points along our system.

"Four will be between Houston and San Antonio and four between Houston, Corpus Christi and Brownsville. Our new limited stop schedule, 'The Chicago Express,' from Chicago to Houston, by way of Dallas, Fort Worth, and Kansas City, is not affected."

Five flights between Houston and Dallas-Fort Worth and to Galveston—only 50 miles from Houston—will be discontinued until the maneuvers end, Beard said.

Britain at War Gives Authors Timely Theme

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

Wartime England has been the inspiration for a number of interesting recent volumes, some of the best of which are here reviewed.

John Strachey, whose previous works have been of a very different sort, tells in "Digging for Mrs. Miller" [Random, $1.25] of the duties of a London air raid warden. Using a mythical "John Ford" as the principal actor, Mr. Strachey relates his own story of heroic labor in bomb smashed London, of desperate yet efficient efforts to dig trapped men and women from the rubble of their homes before gas, a broken water main, or a further collapse of débris makes the work in vain. Mr. Strachey strikes no poses, indulges in no false heroics, but contrives, thru the simple device of relating exactly what he and other wardens do, to create one of the most vivid pictures of wartime London yet set down.

London under the first shock of the blitzkrieg is described by Negley Farson, an exceedingly articulate as well as popular writer, in "Bomber's Moon", [Harcourt-Brace, $2]. After visits to air raid shelters, the east and west ends, Billingsgate, Chinatown, and other quarters of the world's largest city, and after watching the heroic work of volunteer raid wardens and firemen, Mr. Farson concludes that there is no chance whatever that the Germans can conquer England by breaking her spirit. Every one and everything seems to fight back, he says, with a determination that is both grim and even-tempered. This is a thoughtful book, in which the social implications of the war are not neglected. Notable also are the drawings by Tom Purvis.

"England Is a Village," by C. Henry Warren [Dutton, $2.50], is the story of a winter in Larkfield, a fictitious name for a real place. There one meets the simple folks who are the heart of England at their ordinary tasks, and agrees with the author that "England's might is still in her fields and villages." It is a charming volume, illustrated by Denys Watkins Pitchford.

In "The Airmen Speak" [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50] the cream of some 150 British broadcasts by members of Britain's air force are put between covers to make an enthralling group of true adventure stories. Bombing raids, dog fights, escapes by parachute, rescue at sea, and attacks on German submarines are told by the men of the RAF who actually experienced them.

Continues Series

Mazo de la Roche, who adds her eighth novel to her Jalna series in "Wakefield's Course," reviewed below.

"Wakefield's Course," by Mazo de la Roche. [Little-Brown, $2.50.] Published today.

Taking its place with the seven other volumes in the Jalna saga, "Wakefield's Course" adds another panel to the longest and most consistently entertaining tale of life in Canada that has ever been written. With Renny Whiteoak's passion for a horse motivating his trip to Ireland in 1939 just before the declaration of war, with Finch's reunion with Sarah and Wakefield's love affair, and with the Whiteoaks serving their country in France, at Dunkirk, and with a Distinguished Flying Cross being presented personally by the king of England to Wakefield, the saga of the Whiteoaks is brought up to date.

Miss de la Roche has been writing of the vast Whiteoak clan and its affairs since 1927 when the first of the series, "Jalna," won the Atlantic Monthly novel prize of $1,000. And never has one of the Jalna series failed to be the kind of novel that clutches and holds the reader. Some of the eight have been a shade more fascinating than the others—the ones with old Adeline Court Whiteoak in them—but all have been more fascinating than most tales, and that is certainly unquestionably a record.

Grim, Realistic Tale Based on a Sea Tragedy

"The Ocean," by James Hanley. [Morrow, $2.]

BY AL CHASE.

The author of "The Ocean," who has earned his living as cook, butcher, postman, porter, clerk, stoker, and sailor, draws on his sea experiences for the authentic background of this story of five survivors of a torpedoed ship adrift for days in an open boat.

In it are a sailor who assumes command, a priest, and three other men passengers from the sunken ship. Their struggle to keep their nerve, their interminable bickerings, their distrust of each other, and their growing fear of "the immensity of the ocean, to which there seemed no end, no beginning," are told in the author's brittle, rapid fire style.

"The Ocean" is a somber story of the sea minus any of the thrills, humor, or action customary in salt water chronicles. It's a sharply etched, rather unpleasantly realistic study of how each of five men meet a tragic situation.

Mr. Hanley's book is being translated into French and German for publication in Switzerland. It has received high praise in England, where the London Times says "it surpasses anything he has done before."

"Book of Claudia."

"The Book of Claudia," by Rose Franken [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50], contains the two novels, "Claudia" and "Claudia and David," from which the play now current in Chicago was written. Claudia also is on the radio and soon is to be a motion picture.

The INSIDE Story of Finland's "Ordeal by Peace"

BECAUSE the Government of Finland wants the people of America to understand the true reasons for its present war with Russia, it has had this complete Official Blue-White Book radioed direct from Helsinki to the United States.

It shows, through official documents, how Finland was again dragged, step-by-step, into war with Russia—a war which it did not want, and attempted to avert—by yielding to many exorbitant Soviet demands which ran counter to the Peace Treaty concluded in Moscow on March 12, 1940.

The Finns here give to the American public, whose sympathy they earnestly revere, these official documents which clearly show the unfolding of the causes that have led to their present predicament. The Government of Finland is confident that once the true facts are known, all Americans will recognize that the Finns are fighting for their own independence and security.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

If it were only Christmas time and I had awakened this morning to find a check for $18 in the toe of my nylons, I would run, not walk, to the nearest book store and come back with four mammoth books on which I could lean for pleasure, inspiration, or help the rest of my life. You'l feel the same way when you hear about them.

The most comprehensive anthology of poetry which you have ever met is "The Viking Book of Poetry of the English Speaking World." It "contains one and half times as many lines of poetry as appear in the best similar anthology available" [according to the publishers, whose veracity is self-evident], and that abundance is in every field of poetic work, not merely the lyrical which is most often found in anthologies.

The first selection from "Beowulf" goes back to some time between 600 and 800 A. D. and is credited to that most prolific of all poets, Anon. The last is from "The Repetitive Heart," by Delmore Schwartz, who is 27 years old, which gives you a quick idea of the time covered. American poetry is not, as so often happens in anthologies, included in a sort of "by the way," and while you may not find your favorite modern poem here, you'll find most of your favorite modern poets, as well as those who have lived in men's hearts for the years and centuries. It's a GRAND book, this.

Democracy, which has reached in America its most abundant growth, has been nurtured as much by courageous word as by courageous deeds. From the pens and voices which have sent forth those words, Bernard Smith has compiled a stirring anthology of stirring essays, poems, satires, sketches, plays, and stories. Famous people are here, from the signers of the Mayflower compact to Carl Sandburg, great biographer of our best loved President. Some are forgotten people, some unknown, but all of them believed in and spoke for liberty, equality, and justice, the basic ideals of the American way of life. Stirring this book is, inspiriting and inspiring.

How I ever kept literary house without "The Oxford Companion to American Literature" is a marvel to me since I've had it. It is purely a book of reference, but, like its companion volume, "The Oxford Companion to English Literature," it is so full of interesting information that you find yourself fascinatedly reading the other items on the page whenever you look up something. Authors, their best known characters and books, their pseudonyms, forgotten as well as current periodicals, even the forgotten and colloquial names of districts and movements and people that you're liable to meet in American books are all here. To the student of American literature it is indispensable. To any reader with an inquisitive mind it is a gold nugget.

That famous 15 volume history of English literature which those of us who had occasion and opportunity to, have consulted with a little awe at its size and importance has been rewritten, brought up to date with a chapter on "Late Victorian and Post Victorian Literature," and is now available in one out-size but, considering its contents, compact volume in "The Concise Cambridge History of English Literature." It is a complete rudimentary education in the history of English literature, not only painless but very pleasant.

While we're talking about acquiring reference books, we mustn't neglect the new [fifth] edition of "The Bookman's Manual," by Bessie Graham [Bowker, $5], which lists and describes most of the books anybody in the United States will be liable to acquire. Books are conveniently listed not only alphabetically according to the author but in groups according to subject matter.

By making an excellent selection from every book of poetry which has won the Pulitzer prize our fellow Chicagoan, Marjorie Barrows, has brought out an interesting anthology of modern American poetry called "An Anthology of Pulitzer Prize Poems, 1922-1941" [Random, $2.50]. And there also are short biographies of the winners of those awards—Edward Arlington Robinson [1928-1925-1922], Robert Frost [1937-1931-1924], Leonard Bacon [1941], Mark Van Doren [1940], John Gould Fletcher [1939], Marya Zaturenska [1938], Robert P. Tristram Coffin [1936], Audrey Wurdemann [1935], Robert S. Hillyer [1934], Archibald MacLeish [1933], George Dillon [1932], Conrad Aiken [1930], Stephen Vincent Benet [1929], Leonora Speyer [1927], Amy Lowell [1926], and Edna St. Vincent Millay [1923].

Exciting Adventures Unfold in Life Story of a Jungle Dweller

"Jungle Jim, the Autobiography of James L. Price," in collaboration with Samuel Duff McCoy. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.]

The colorful story of James L. Price's life in the tropics is told as a series of episodes—each one a miniature thriller. "Jungle Jim" has lived most of his mature life in Central America, and the account of his bizarre adventures makes exciting reading. The last half of the book is a fantasy in which Jungle Jim's own experiences are woven into an account of the first visits of Spaniards to that part of the world. A. C.

Latin America Is Explored in Several Books

"Havana Mañana," by Consuelo Hermer and Marjorie May. [Random House, $2.]

"Salud," by Margaret Culkin Banning. [Harpers, $2.75.]

"The Other America," by Lawrence Griswold. [Putnam, $3.]

"Yucatan," by Lawrence Dame. [Random House, $3.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

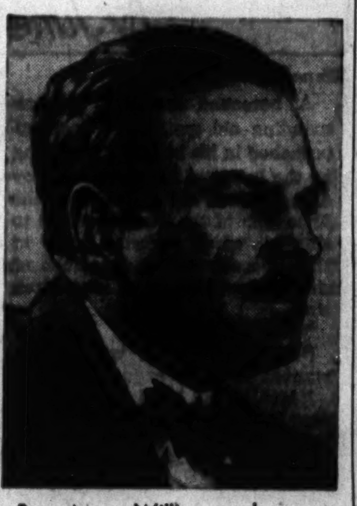
A highly useful, entertaining, and informative book for the American Havana bound is "Havana Mañana," by Consuelo Hermer and Marjorie May. These two young women tell you just about all you need know about the city and its environs. They list hotels, restaurants, food, and drinks for which the place is famous, stores and shops and markets, and they tell you what are the best buys and what to avoid, as well as what to see and do. There are dashes of history, analysis of the Cuban temperament, and jottings on short side trips into the country. How dull the old European Baedeker looks beside a gay little modern volume such as this!

Margaret Culkin Banning tells in a chatty, breezy way of her rapid jaunt thru South America, where she literally "shook hands down one coast and up the other," jotting down her impressions and reactions in a journal which she calls "Salud." She was interested in all kinds and varieties of people, in their social and economic lives, in their politics, and in the relations of their country with our own and with Nazi Germany.

"The Other America," by Lawrence Griswold, is a valuable handbook for the traveler in South America. In concise, readable form the author discusses each country of that great continent, giving all the fundamental facts: its system of government, its chief industries, its climate and altitude, its coinage, and its principal cities and towns. No attempt is made to create a travel book, but between its covers you will find the author has compiled a sort of encyclopedia of practical knowledge about South America.

"Yucatan," on the other hand, is frankly an entertaining travel story of the land of the ancient Mayas. Lawrence Dame, a newspaper man, writes with charm and humor of his adventures on a 700 mile trip thru the jungle, made on a bicycle, on mule back, and on foot. For a time he lived at Chichen Itza, the Ankor Vat of the Mayas, that huge and stately city that was mysteriously evacuated by its inhabitants just as was the town in the steaming jungle of Indo-China. He describes it now and surmises what it must have been like in the 16th century when the Spaniards found it, a dead metropolis, not one of its 250,000 citizens left.

Does New Novel



Ben Ames Williams, whose new novel, "The Strange Woman," is reviewed below.

"The Strange Woman," by Ben Ames Williams. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.75.] Published last Friday.

Against the panorama of a half century in the lumber boom town of Bangor, Me., before and during the Civil war, Ben Ames Williams paints the portrait of a "strange woman" who, on her deathbed, proclaimed herself "two people, two women: and one of them was good and true and generous and fine, and one was ugly and terrible." Melodramatic event follows calm and noble gesture which is again suddenly succeeded by melodrama and climaxed with the publication after her death of one of the most venomous wills and ironic confessions in literature.

Seven men who knew her best are the basis of the book's structure. The first, who met her when she was only 4, for her sake took her wanton mother with him. Her father she made a drunken wreck by wilfully harassing him with dark urgings while she built up for herself in the eyes of the town a reputation for filial devotion. The aged man who married her to save her from her father's wrath she tormented tragically. She drove her husband's son mad with desire, married his best friend, and bore four sons who, only because their father was a man of great character and steadfastness, were not wrecked by their mother.

She secretly bore the daughter of her husband's best friend, whom she also had brought to ruin, and melodramatically laughed from her grave at the reputation which she had in Bangor for good deeds and piety.

"The Strange Woman," altho it has historical background, is primarily the portrait of a woman, who was, despite her reputation, no lady. Its future as a best selling motion picture is inevitable, as its admirers [of whom I am not vociferously one] think its future is inevitable as a best seller among novels. F. B.

Vivid Parallel: The Europe of 1814 and Today

"The Reconstruction of Europe," by Guglielmo Ferrero. [Putnam, $3.50.]

"The situation which has existed in Europe since July, 1940, and the capitulation of France, is the same as that of 1806-1814," says Guglielmo Ferrero in the preface to his extremely interesting rewriting of the history of Talleyrand and his relation to the settlement of Europe's troubles in the Congress of Vienna, 1814-1815.

One uses the phrase "rewriting of history" because the picture which Ferrero paints of Talleyrand is almost the obverse of the picture of the self-glorifier and arch schemer which history has drawn of him. Ferrero finds Talleyrand a man with "the true constructive mind," to which Europe was indebted for an order which lasted for a hundred years. Signor Ferrero supports his point with documentary evidence, which he has found in secret archives and previously unconsulted sources.

As a rewriting of history, "The Reconstruction of Europe" is extremely interesting, but its immediate popularity will be achieved because the author points out the strange similarity between those days and these. He shows how the failure of the Vienna congress to solve justly and permanently the problems created by the Napoleonic wars led at long last to another inevitable European debacle. Signor Ferrero says: "There are striking analogies between the two European wars which gave a terrible actuality to the first. The study of 1814 may help us to understand the situation in 1941 and to discover the way out."

"The Reconstruction of Europe," altho it is strangely timely, was not written for its immediate interest, but is one part of a projected "historical and philosophical trilogy which will thoroly examine the problem of the origin, development, and nature of the revolutionary state," as the author says. The first volume was translated into English under the title "The Gamble." This year's book is the second in the series.

Guglielmo Ferrero is the best known and best contemporary Italian historian. He is living and has lived for some time as a political exile in Geneva, Switzerland. F. B.

Modern Living Softens One; Learn to Walk Several Miles

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We are hearing a great deal these days about the softening effect of modern life and how poorly it equips us for emergency needs. However, we are not one of those pessimists who believe women fail in emergency. They rise magnificently, as history has proved over and over again. Nevertheless, the spirit isn't always sufficient. The flesh must be strong, too, and there's no question that the softening effect of modern living causes woman to lose the free, natural functioning of her body and of her legs, especially.

We talk of walking as a noble exercise in this department frequently. Yet, heretofore, we never talked it without the feeling we were addressing an apathetic audience, and a sometimes spike-heeled audience that couldn't get a mile afoot on a bet. However, the spike-heeled group is a diminishing one. The average well dressed woman [and aren't you all that today] dresses her feet comfortably as well as smartly. Still, if there's a motor or a taxi handy, or a public conveyance, she seems more bent on saving her shoes than on saving the agility of her feet. And never, in the history of the world, outside of the old foot bound Chinese world, have women, on the whole, been less qualified to cover a three mile walk.

Three miles isn't a terrific distance. Yet, women will groan if they do a 10 or 20 block stretch. All of which contains a beauty note, in that women who, on other points, have kept themselves young enough, fail on this free step. Their walk defeats their massages, their coiffures, their dress.

Well, here you have the open season for hikes. Are you up to it? Can you do a mile without panting? Two? Three? You alone know the answer!

Silenced.

A bereaved husband, a commanding old gentleman, was approached in his house of mourning by the ladies of the church. They asked him if he would like the little girls of the Sunday school to sing his wife's favorite hymn at the funeral services, inasmuch as she had loved hearing the children sing.

"No," he answered.

"But Mrs. Blank would have wanted it," they argued gently.

"Mrs. Blank has nothing whatever to say about it," the widower thundered.

Town Library.

Sophie B. Engstrand gets letters this year addressed to "Wilma Rogers," the title of her current novel. A letter she received the other day from Hill City, Kas., that began "Dear Wilma Rogers," offers a bit of midwest Americana. The letter:

"In our town of 1,000 we have a very nice city hall in which the council gave to a small group of women, known as the Library club, a lovely 18x32 foot front room to be used as a permanent library. We live in the dust bowl where we truly have not had a crop for eight years until this season when we had half a crop. With taxes so long unpaid as well as other bills, there will be so little left for books. We are asking authors and prominent persons whom we believe will be glad to have a part in the building of this fine little library out here on the high plains of northwest windy Kansas to give books. . . . We have recent autographed books from Alice Duer Miller, Jan Struther, Margaret Pedlar, Daphe Du Maurier, William L. Shirer, Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Mayor LaGuardia, Emily Hahn, and some 350 other noted persons. Your book would be such a very fine addition to our library. Please may we have an autographed copy of same? . . . I am a nurse and do everything I can for my community. I am also president of the Library club."

Random Notes on Books for the Children

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Here are some rather random notes on books for children, which I have not mentioned in this column before.

"The Turf-Cutter's Donkey Kicks Up His Heels," a fine and charming children's story. "Irish as Shamrock," by Patricia Lynch. Published by Dutton, price, $2. Author of others about this very donkey. Enjoyable by "9" to "13."

For young ballet and music lovers, two books: "Petrouchka" and "The Three-Cornered Hat." Story by Robert Lawrence, with some music notes and pictures in color. Published by Random House. Each story, 50 cents.

"The Master of Mount Vernon," by Belle Moses. D. Appleton-Century company, New York, N. Y., price, $2. It is based on authentic records, is filled with quaint excerpts from old papers and journals, and, most important of all, it is readable. Washington appears not the stern, forbidding, aloof individual, but a very real young man.

Another such book is "Stonewall," by Julia Davis Adams, published by E. P. Dutton Co., New York, N. Y., price, $2. To those boys in their teens, or perhaps younger, who are interested in the Civil war written from the viewpoint of one of its most noted soldiers, this book will have its appeal.

"Susanna and Tristram," by Marjorie Hill Allee. Published by Houghton Mifflin company, New York, N. Y., price $2. A well written and interesting story of the early '50s, revolving around the famous "Underground Railway" in Cincinnati. This tale of the Quakers' efforts to help the escaping slaves thru to Canada is one of the chapters in our history that should be interesting to young people, particularly young girls in their teens.

"Mountains Are Free," by Julia Davis Adams, published by E. P. Dutton company, New York, N. Y., price, $2.50. This is the story of Switzerland's fight for independence. It is a beautifully written book, authentic in its history and engrossing reading.

Since children in the teens read so widely in range, modern, classic, adult, and juvenile books, a list for them would be almost endless. Here are a few that adolescents enjoy, to which may be added the better current novels:

"Bright Morning" [for early teens]. A delightful, old-fashioned family story of Tennessee of long ago, by Charlie May Simon. Published by E. P. Dutton, New York, N. Y., price, $2.

"Littling of Graywood" [early teens], an exciting story of 1742, a Virginia plantation, colonial life, and a lost girl, by Edna Turpin. Published by Random House, New York, N. Y., price, $2.

"Sou'wester Victorious" [a sea story for boys, early teens], by Arthur Baldwin. Published by Random House, price, $2.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Sept. 23.—In a film modestly titled production 2006 for the studio records, Walt Disney has a treasure. An ordinary cash treasure for himself, but for us a treasure for our hearts and for the muscles that make our throats choke up and for those other muscles that make the tummy feel as tho it were thin again after we laugh. When it comes out in New York about Oct. 16 and elsewhere on the last of the month, production 2006 will be known as "Dumbo." It isn't pronounced Dummo, but Dum-bo, because Dumbo is the hapless son of Mrs. Jumbo, the circus elephant.

Production 2006 is not the 2,006th film from the Disney studio. There haven't been that many yet. But when Walt began making full length features he decided he'd better start them with a handy number. "Snow White" was 2001. "Pinocchio" 2002. "Fantasia," 2003, "The Reluctant Dragon," 2004. "Bambi" [still not ready after more than three years' of work], 2005. And now "Dumbo."

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was a treasure because it had seven lovable new characters and three or four smash song hits. "Pinocchio" was good but not perfect; it had Jiminy Cricket, who was memorable, and Monstro the whale. "Fantasia" was superb to some of us, but to others it was a bore, or arty—and it was not for children. "The Reluctant Dragon" was a not too successful experiment in combining drawings and live actors. "Bambi" we haven't seen.

"Dumbo" is top Disney—the kind we had in "Snow White." Ever since I saw the picture three days ago I've been debating with myself, my wife and my daughter over whether or not it is better. I'm still not sure, because "Whistle While You Work" and "Heigh-ho, Heigh-ho" are still as fresh in my ears as the first time I heard them; but the ladies are sure. They like "Dumbo" better. When pressed for a sound reason, the younger of them says, "Well, it isn't so babyish and it's sweeter."

"Dumbo" is a smoother technical job, for years of experiment and improvement have intervened. And the whole thing is lovable. By now you must have heard the theme—about a baby elephant whose ears are so big it's a freak, and nobody loves it but its mother and a tough little jimcagney mouse. Some crows, however, teach the infant to fly by flapping his ears, and from there on he's the hero of the circus. Most Hollywood movies are about Cinderella. This one is about an equally sound character, The Ugly Duckling.

The movie starts with a V formation of storks peeling off and delivering children to all the animal folk in winter quarters in Florida. Mrs. Jumbo's baby is late; doesn't arrive until the circus is heading north on a train pulled by the most amiable engine you ever saw. The stork who delivers Dumbo looks like Sterling Holloway and his voice is, in fact, Sterling's. The stork makes a great ceremony of the delivery, and insists on singing "Happy Birthday to You" before allowing the impatient Mrs. Jumbo to unwrap her package.

In this new picture the Disney artists have forgotten art and gone back to the fundamental things that made Mickey and Donald and Pluto—and Walt. "Dumbo" is a straight cartoon story with no frills. . . . But those who insist on seeking art will find it. The background is the circus—and circus art is the hottest current commodity in the fashionable galleries. Disney's men have unobtrusively dropped in some grand modern stuff, such as roustabouts hammering home tent pegs and a Pink Elephant sequence. Dumbo and his pal, the mouse, accidentally get squiffed on champagne. For a while Dumbo amuses his only friend by blowing square bubbles; then they get delirium tremens, and their pink elephant dream is a lot funnier than Salvador Dali.

Songs? There are some good ones by Oliver Wallace, Frank Churchill, and Ned Washington. Cliff Edwards, who was Jiminy Cricket, is now a sort of Joe Frisco Crow, and he does a song called "Elephants Don't Fly" which is a honey.

Fashion Trend to Be Revealed by Tribune Design Competition

Tickets for the brilliant finale of the second annual American Fashions competition sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE were mailed yesterday.

The competition, initiated to stimulate American design and participated in by noted designers the nation over, culminates in a fashion show to be held Saturday night in the W-G-N audience studio in connection with the Chicagoland hour.

More than 600 social, civic, and professional leaders have been invited to attend the initial showing of winning designs from the 1941 competition. The doors of W-G-N will be opened at 7:50 p. m. and will close at 8:20. The fashion show will be broadcast over the Mutual network as part of the Chicagoland hour from 9 to 10 p. m., but will begin promptly at 8:30 p. m. The first half hour will be broadcast over W-G-N.

The fashions will be presented in an elaborate musical setting and in an unusual program, for the visual audience of 600 will take part in the final judging. From the beautiful array of 15 gowns to be modeled it will select first the semifinalists and finally the winner of first place, which carries a $500 cash award.

The competition, an invitational one, closed July 15. From the hundreds of varied designs submitted from designers ranging from expatriate Parisian to Elgin housewife, a committee headed by Mrs. Grace Pickering, fashion authority, selected the 15 considered best from standpoints of originality, ingenuity in use of fabric, and suitability for market introduction.

These 15, made into original models at the expense of THE TRIBUNE and photographed for reproduction in color in the picture sections of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE beginning Sunday, will be modeled Saturday night. Not until Saturday's showing will any of the winners be known. Each receives a $50 cash award.

Three new fashion trends are noted in the 15 selections, ranging as they do from street suit to ball gown. These, according to Rea Seeger, TRIBUNE fashion editor, are the renaissance of the straight sheath-like skirt, often split to the knees, which first was born in 1914; the lampshade peplum of the Victorian era, highly exaggerated for evening wear, and the use of sequins in brilliant circus colors.

The musical program for the event will include gay light opera selections by Marion Claire, Attilio Baggiore, the W-G-N chorus and the W-G-N concert orchestra under the direction of Henry Weber.

Lily Pons Gives Up Fan Mail in Waste Paper Saving Drive

New York, Sept. 23 [Special].—Lily Pons, coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, today disposed of one of her cherished possessions in the interest of the arms program. She gave up 20,000 fan letters to the government sponsored campaign for collection of waste paper which is to be converted into corrugated boxes for shipments of defense materials.

The imposing collection of fan mail—she said the letters came from children, from adults and from prison inmates, and she answered every one!—were sold subsequently at prevailing prices of about 35 cents per hundred pounds. This netted the opera and screen star $2, which she immediately invested in defense stamps.

"I am very much attached to my fan letters," Miss Pons said, "and I hope the nice, thoughtful people who sent them won't mind their being made into much needed containers for Uncle Sam."

Soup to Nuts Won't Begin to Describe This Festive Menu

Chicago restaurateurs will forget their corned beef and cabbage, potted short ribs, and rice pudding Saturday night when they gather at the Palmer House for the annual dinner of the Chicago Restaurant association. Ernest Amiet, the Palmer House chef, is preparing the banquet.

Breast of duckling Bigarade will be the main dish. It is prepared in a casserole with a brown sauce made from the bird's bones and mixed with lemon and orange peel. South American guava jelly, candied sweet potatoes, and Quasti California burgundy go with the duckling. The meal will begin with borscht Polonaise—a Polish soup finished off with sour cream.

There also will be fresh peas Française, prepared with sliced lettuce, and a chef's salad. Illuminated frozen cake swith peach ice cream will be dessert. An dchampagne? But, of course, m'sieu!

Strange, Giddy Colors Found in Fall Gloves

BY REA SEEGER.

Fashion handouts will be in color . . . strange citron yellows, giddy cerise, glamorous dull blacks with gold kidskin stars scattered all over the long cuffs, brand new jersey silk gloves that reach the shoulders even when they are worn casually wrinkled, very chic and very French looking long gloves in fine kidskin with embroidered cutout designs in the pattern of floral sprays, and the high fashion medium length afternoon gloves of doeskin [usually washable] and the snappy casual types for tweeds, tailored woolens, and spectator sports outfits.

The color assortments available are the largest ever unpacked. For the first time in years you can quickly and easily match difficult dress or costume shades. There are reds from clear bright flame to Chinese vermilion, raspberry, and wine; yellows from chartreuse to old gold; greys from silver to sinister but lovely gun metals; blues from robin's egg tones to the biting blues of a sheet of carbon paper.

Inbetween shades are plentiful. Such neutrals as beige, putty, caramel, cafe au lait, oyster white, flesh, and the russet shades of copper, ginger, and cinnamon to accent dull black, come in slipons of varied lengths, for in most costumes this fall and winter these dramatic colored gloves provide the only important color contrast.

Nineteen hundred and forty-one gloves are gay and gallant affairs, wide cuffs, extra long lengths, decorative embroidery, beads, silver and gold kidskin trim, metallic braid, cutout patterns outlined in tiny colored beads, jet trim, grosgrain ribbon accent, and so on; but it's the brilliant colors that make these glove collections so sensational.

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl sent by a New York firm to Paris to buy antiques, runs into her cousin, Mrs. Hiram Rentrew, a rich widow, who insists Gay stay with her. Soon after Gay moves in, her cousin is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace, an antique dealer, and the servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay visits her cousin in the hospital and runs into Miles Dorsey, a junior partner in the firm that looks after Mrs. Rentrew's affairs; Raoul de Chabenil, handsome gigolo, and Estrella, Mrs. Rentrew's dressmaker. Her cousin insists that Gay take her jewel box, with a valuable antique necklace in it, home and put it in the wall safe. That night Gay dines with Geoff and Catherine Macadam, old friends of hers, and Miles Dorsey. They see Raoul and Estrella dining together and Gay learns that Raoul has an unscrupulous reputation. When Gay gets home that night she hears that Mrs. Rentrew has just died. Gay, unable to sleep, thinks she hears some one in her room and the next morning the jewel box has disappeared. Altho the doctor says her cousin died of a stroke, Horace demands an inquest. Gay is questioned by the police about the disappearance of the necklace, and she realizes they are trailing her when she goes out.

INSTALMENT XV.

CAFE BRAWL.

I played with my spoon. There seemed no valid reason against obliging Miles Dorsey and telling him of Horace's suspicions.

"Well," I said, "Horace asked me last night if Cousin Lou had ever mentioned de C. That's one thing. Of course I said no.

"You see, Cousin Lou had told me not to let on about meeting de C. in her room, and that shows, doesn't it, that she was rather anxious Horace didn't know too much about her private doings? She was like some jam stealing girl, afraid of being caught. In fact, she said straight out what a relief it was to be shut in a nursing home, away from her brother-in-law's nosiness. As tho Horace was her own conscience, see what I mean?"

"But you have told him about de Chabenil now."

"I had to, but nothing of what I heard from you. That's the very thing. I know instantly how terrified Horace had been of her falling into your gentleman crook's clutches. All thru dinner this evening he was mumbling to himself. He said that God knows he'd tried his hardest to save Marise from her own folly, and that if only he could have seen her yesterday afternoon he might have shown her proof that even she couldn't have ignored."

Miles Dorsey swung round. "You're positive Rentrew said that?"

"That's how it sounded. Why?"

"O, nothing. Except that it fits in with my theory."

"Which is?"

All he said was, "Yesterday afternoon. And he didn't see her, of course . . ."

"No, he turned peevish and huffed out. What is your idea?"

I got no change out of him at all. As before, he was staring moodily down at the bubbles on his beer. It was my motioning the garçon that brought him to. He shook himself and observed under his breath that it was a bit soon for any one to build theories. He paid the account—it seemed to rile him to find me trying to settle for my coffee—and then, taking his cue from the garçon, cocked an ear toward the swing doors.

Hell had broken loose. It was inside the Aurore.

"Gosh," I cried, "what's going on?" Up I sprang, and the other pavement people did the same.

"Sale menteur!" thundered a man's voice. Tables scraped back, 20 more voices shrieked, jabbered, and growled. Quick as lightning came a crash. It was followed by a deep, turgid roar.

All my life I'd wanted to see a real French café row. I beat Miles Dorsey thru the doors, ducking right under a waiter's arm. A human tidal wave struck me. It drove me back against a table slopping over with beer, and there I was pinned, able only to catch glimpses.

The act was just finishing, two brawlers struggling to their feet. Above the double seated partition that divides the room lengthwise a face appeared—putty-colored, thin, and fortyish, with snarling wolf lips, and a rivulet of blood streaming from a gashed temple. Not nice to look at—evil, trembling, not beaten. Two waiters gripped the man's arms. The little patron fussed up, too late for the show.

And now the second man rose to view. Slim-waisted, better dressed, still brandishing his weapon—a cognac bottle, its business end a jagged wreck. For half a second I caught the flash of dark murder in his eyes, but the crowd closed in on me. I heard glass crunching, tho, and two words that issued from his lips. I knew enough to recognize them as the very lowest of French gutter filth.

"Police!" screamed the patron, backing to safety. "Edouard, Jacques, va!"

Two waiters bolted into the street. Thru shifting interstices I saw a cleared circle, a capsized table in its center, the enraged couple confronting each other across the obstruction. The glaze in their eyes slowly dissolved. A girl in front of me exhaled a jerky "Ah, la la!" And now I saw why. The young, smooth skinned savage had tossed his wicked bottle aside. He had flung back his shoulders and was moving our way. Cool, dangerous. No one put out a finger to stop him. On he swaggered to the doors.

He brushed past and I got my first good close-up of him. In fact, for a split second, his eyes unseeingly met mine.

Raoul de Chabenil!

My arm was being wrenched from its socket.

"Get out of this," gritted Miles Dorsey, and I got.

The runabout was where it had been last night, round the corner. I let its owner hustle me toward it, but my gaze raked the wide boulevard behind. True enough, in the Raspail direction, a smart sports model was vanishing in a streak.

A small, wiry traffic cop—they breed them small in this country—strode importantly into the Aurore.

"Do let's watch what happens," I begged.

With a sidewise glance Mr. Dorsey said it might mean a longish wait, judging by his experience of the French once they got talking. I said I didn't mind, and there we stood, in the dark, while a buzz from inside the café indicated that depositions were being taken. Short and sweet they must have been. Even I was astonished when some four minutes later the crowd began leaking out and melting subduedly away. Mr. Dorsey signaled a young Frenchman who passed and put a question. The other shrugged.

"Nothing doing," he answered in excellent American. "C'est terminé," he added and closed his mouth with a snap.

"The hurt one was Dr. Borosh, wasn't it?" asked Dorsey, low. A nod confirmed his guess. "Thought so. Did he make any charge?"

"No. No charge."

Their eyes conferred. The Frenchman sucked in his breath significantly and was gone into the night.

The bed was turned down, they hadn't moved me back to my old quarters; but tho the jewels would still be in the safe, the banks having closed before we discovered the theft, I wasn't nervous over spending another night with them, now warnings had been issued. I hardly thought of them, in fact. I was too taken up with the scene in the café.

The letter I started to my mother got stuck in the middle. I kept seeing a mess of broken glass and disordered tables, with two vengeful faces rising into the glare.

No wonder I'd thought young de Chabenil a total stranger. Just an Apache, that's what he'd looked, sharp toothed, thirsting for blood. Shocked terror still seized me when I pictured his smooth olive fingers gripped round the bottle neck and his eyes, dark pools of bestial hate. The crowd seemed to have felt the same.

But the man who had refused to charge him—who was he?

"Le Docteur." A refugee named Borosh. It was all I'd got out of Miles Dorsey on the way home. For my Englishman had again turned clam. I decided I couldn't take to him, after all.

"I'll give him this, tho he didn't sling any more mud at de Chabenil. Or didn't he dare?"

Afraid, maybe, I might take Cousin Lou's view of him as a backbiting rival. Whatever his reason, he'd dumped me like a parcel at my door and not even cut off his gas.

I'd noticed Horace in the study, dealing with notes and cablegrams, but I'd called good night and given him no time to start anything fresh. Now I heard him in the hall saying something to Manx before padding along to his room. For a man of his build he had a surprisingly light tread.

Some one tapped at my door. It was Hortense.

"Why don't you go to bed?" I asked, but she marched in, giving me baneful looks out of her little pig's eyes.

"Who dares take a much needed rest?" she stormed. "Who indeed in an apartment tramped over by dirty police?"

I knew now why Horace's back had looked so exhausted. Hortense had been working off on him the good old injured stuff, and seeing her private belongings had been ruthlessly searched, Horace, her partisan, had been left no weapon of defense. I calmly asked if she'd given notice. It seemed to rouse her to a new spurt of rage.

"And how does mademoiselle suppose I can quit my post, however that may be my wish? There is no freedom here, none, that is, for a poor domestic. I am ordered to remain here, endure insult and humiliation, after my long term of irreproachable service—my sainted mistress not yet in her coffin!"

"We're in the same boat, Hortense. I'm bearing up, why can't you?"

Under my gaze her eyes slid away. Hoping to choke her off I began dabbing cold cream on my face; but unmindful of the hint she went on quivering like a lava lake and launching an ostentatiously loud tirade toward the misty portrait of Cousin Lou. Vaguely I heard her holding forth with unction on the years of serenity and perfect trust which had knit herself and madame into close harmony. Then I caught the word "serpent" and pricked up my ears.

"Gaining confidence, giving herself airs," Hortense hissed into midair. "A young person from who knows where, with credentials a serious domestic would spit upon."

Illinois and Indiana Gardeners Meet to Plan National Show

Fifty representatives of garden clubs of Illinois and Indiana and representatives of the floral and horticultural societies met yesterday at a luncheon in the Stevens hotel to make plans for the 23d annual National Flower and Garden show. The show is scheduled to be held in the International amphitheater at the stockyards March 15 to 22.

A challenge to create a new style garden to be symbolic of America and to be called the American garden was given by Clarence Wademan, national committee member of the Society of American Florists and American Horticulturists who came here from Houston, Tex., to deliver the major address of the meeting.

"We believe there is a definite opportunity to create here a new and distinct type of garden that is American," Mr. Wademan said. "Every one knows what an English garden is or an Italian and Japanese. It's time some one developed a truly American garden."

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Pork picnic shoulder may be purchased fresh or cured. Cured, it cooks, looks, and eats like ham, only you mustn't call it ham, for that's another part of the pig.

Place the smoked picnic on a rack in an open roaster and roast it at 300 degrees for 40 minutes to the pound. This is a longer time than is needed for ham, particularly for the modern, tender hams, some of which take only 15 minutes to the pound. Half an hour before the meat is done remove it from the oven, score the fat, and pour honey or melted currant jelly over the meat. Stick it with cloves, if you like, then return to the oven to finish baking. The honey or jelly will produce a handsome glaze.

Make the applesauce to accompany the picnic with Wealthies. Peel, core, and quarter them and cook them, with just a little water, until tender. Sweeten as much as you like and add a speck of cloves along with a sprinkling of cinnamon and nutmeg. Highly spiced applesauce is not to be recommended, but just a suggestion of these three seasonings will give it zip.

Allow half a squash for each person, and bake in the oven with the meat for 45 minutes or so. A 375 degree oven is better than 300 degrees for the squash, and turning up the heat for the last part of baking probably will do no harm to the picnic. But you can compromise on 350 degrees, if you like, or allow a longer period for the squash at 300 degrees. Brush the squash halves well with butter, and sprinkle with salt and pepper for the baking.

This is a potatoless dinner. Lemon buttered beets, the second vegetable, are easy to prepare. Use boiled or canned beets. Season with butter, salt, and pepper, and sprinkle with lemon juice. Serve hot.

Maple Charlotte.

[Serves eight.]

2 cups scalded milk
3 eggs, separated
1½ tablespoons plain gelatin
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup maple sirup
½ cup chopped blanched almonds
½ teaspoon almond extract

Pour hot milk slowly over beaten egg yolks. Cook in top of double boiler over hot water for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add gelatin, which has been softened in 2 tablespoons cold water for 5 minutes. Add salt and maple sirup. Cook until mixture begins to stiffen. Fold in nuts, flavoring, and stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into cold mold, or individual molds, to stiffen. Serve with cream or whipped cream.

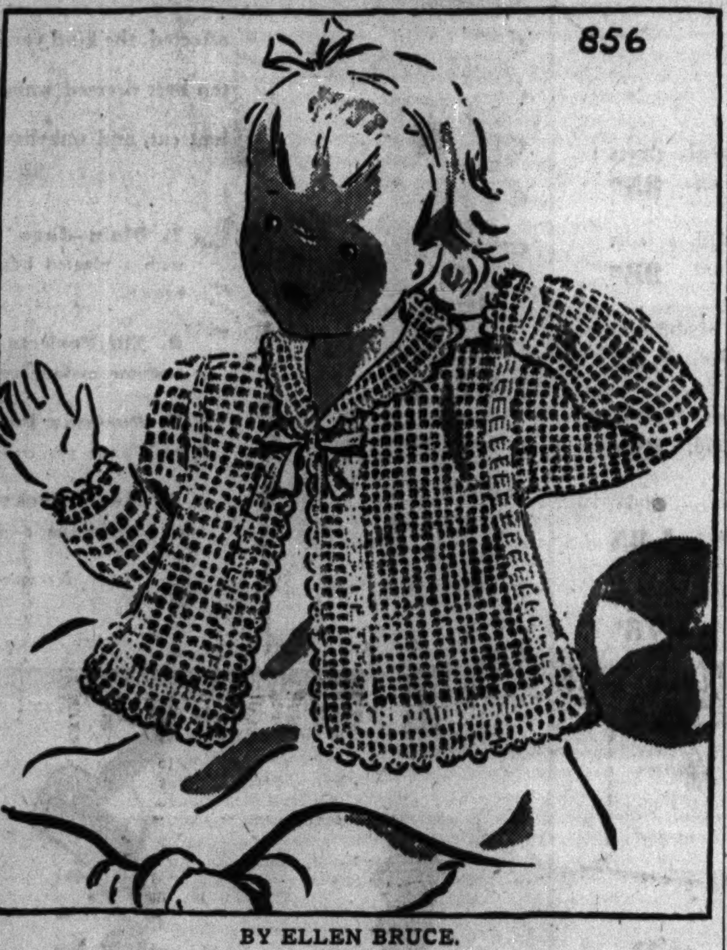
Jacket for the Infant



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This good looking infant's jacket is one of the cleverest of the crochet tricks ever attempted. It is utterly simple, but possesses style in the nth degree. It is crocheted in a mesh design, with a band and border of double crochet. Two vents at each side of the back give it a definite "air." The collar may be stand-up or turned back. It is becoming either way. The jacket may be easily lined if a warmer garment is desired.

For instructions in crocheting the infant's jacket in mesh design, No. 856, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Doris Advises Youth to Shed a Gold Digger

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A youth of 22 finds himself involved with a married woman with a child whose record is such that he's afraid to have his family know of their association.

"She hasn't lived with her husband for some time now," the boy confides. "He left her because she was carrying on with another fellow before me. Since I have known her, however, to my knowledge she has been true to me. Altho she is five years older than I am, I dearly love both her and the child, and I do everything I can for both of them, altho my salary will not allow me to do as much as I would like to do. I am positive that she is in love with me, too. But I am afraid to let my parents know about her because, from my rearing, I am sure they would stop things right away. Do you think I am too young to continue seeing this woman? If so, how can I go about telling her I am thru? What do you advise me to do? I will take your advice because this way, with all the conflict, I am not very happy about the association.

—Saporne."

If you have an uncle, Saporne, or some older friend in whom you might confide, we would urge you to do it, explaining your case just as you have to us. An older man could easily explain how boys of your age often are inducted into such association thru a certain sense of grownupness and, perhaps, even idealism, meaning the desire to protect some, one against public censure.

Our quarrel is not with you, son, but with this older woman who obviously takes advantage of your tender years and heart. We think her type despicable. She's not for you. So do get out from that association.

Holiday Party to Be Shared by Two Buds

ley Briggs, Mrs. Nina Bingham, and Miss Blanche Fulkerson.

Miss June Betts and Henry Hull Lyman Jr., who are being married tonight in Hinsdale, will have a 10 day wedding trip during which they may speculate on where they will make their home. Mr. Lyman has just finished his training at Camp Croft, S. C. and is to be sent to some other army post after his leave.

The wedding will take place at 8:30 o'clock in the Union church, and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Benton Fry, will give a reception following in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Phelps, who are close friends, and whose home is better adapted to a large reception than the Frys'. The bride's sister, Miss Barbara Fry, will be the maid of honor. The bridesmaids are Miss Caroline Hiatt, Miss Helen Bower, Miss Henrietta Rawlins, and Miss Louise McCulloch.

Richard Lyman will be his brother's best man. Ushering will be their cousin, Charles Lyman, Jerry Vernon, Frank Fernhold, Richard Rohm, Donald Anderson, Benjamin Wilde, and Scott Jones. Mr. Lyman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Sr., are here from Middlefield, Conn., for the ceremony.

Lake Forest Group Knits While Studying French.

Mrs. William F. Peter will be hostess today to a group of Lake Forest neighbors who are interested in keeping up their French and at the same time knit for the Red Cross and the British War Relief. They will meet every Wednesday with Princess Marina Wolkonsky directing the French conversation and reading. Others in the group are Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, Mrs. Evans Spalding, Mrs. Albert D. Farwell, Mrs. George Voevodsky, Mrs. Charles Kerwin, and Mrs. W. O. Brackett.

Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, woman's golf champion at the Onwentsia club, walked off with top honors in the golfing events held in connection with yesterday's women's Powwow at the club. Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., who is noted as a tennis player, was runner-up in the golfing events. Nineteen prizes were distributed among 78 golfers, and 125 members gathered for luncheon.

A tea Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy had planned for this afternoon to launch a junior auxiliary to the Illinois Opera guild has been canceled because most of the young women invited had accepted invitations to a Service club meeting. Mrs. Robert Cavanaugh is giving a tea for new members at 4 o'clock. The guild party will be held next week.

Burnet Shyrock's many friends here will be interested to learn that a daughter was born to his wife Monday in Carbondale, Ill., where Mr. and Mrs. Shyrock reside. Mrs. Shyrock and the baby are in the Holden hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. O'Brien announce the birth of a daughter, Denise, on Sept. 19. The baby is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bulger of Winnetka and of the Michael J. O'Briens of Highland Park.

Cornelia Otis Skinner to have gala first night.

The opening of Cornelia Otis Skinner in "Theater" next Monday at the Harris will bring forth a gala first night audience. The Orville J. Taylors and Mrs. Edward B. Blair and her son, Blake Blair, are giving dinner parties before the performance. Others who have taken seats are the Alan Dixons, who will have the Edward L. Ryersons as their guests; Mrs. William W. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Meigs, Mrs. Jacob Baur, the Silas Strawns, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, who are perennial first nighters.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

One of our salons has a quite wonderful plan up its sleeve to foster beauty building for growing girls. It plans to have weekly classes in ballet dancing for girls more than 9 years old.

The object of these lessons is not to make a great toe dancer of the child. Rather it's to shape her youthful body along beautiful lines, to endow her with good posture, and to give her the rythmic grace that is so necessary and attractive.

Subdeb girls need this sort of help, as even the most doting mother must admit. They go thru a dreadful stage when their coördination is poor and their physical grace absolutely nil. It's at this stage too that they are self conscious and act as tho their hands are foreign physical attachments with which they cannot cope.

The ballet dancing, as will be taught at the salon, is designed to give them beautiful coördination, plus the proper body building that will quite likely safeguard their posture and grace for the remainder of their lives. It seems to us the most pleasant and valuable of all methods of fighting such adolescent ailments as sway back, bad walking habits and utter lack of grace.

The girl who is properly trained in ballet has a trim waist, a beautiful bust line, slim legs . . . and she moves with exquisite grace. What's more she has a cultural avocation that will enrich her life.

It seems to us that all mothers of daughters who are at the awkward age should consider a beauty builder of this sort. Surely the daughters will be eternally grateful for the opportunity to overcome adolescent handicaps and to enjoy one of the most beautiful of all arts.

If you have a beauty problem on which you need advice, write to Eleanor Nangle in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. For a personal reply inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your question.

Makeup and Eyes.

J. D. T.—If you will bring rouge well up under the outer edges of the eyes, it will make them seem less protruding. Apply the rouge with a light hand, otherwise you'll achieve an Indian effect.

Thinning the Hair.

E. G. S.—Thinning the hair or singeing the ends doesn't make it grow in faster or heavier. Vigorous brushing and scalp massage will help to promote a good head of hair.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

Squeeze plays vary in complexity to such a degree that some squeezes would be negotiated successfully only by a dozen players in the world, while others are quite within the capability of the average player. The latter type is exemplified in the following deal.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 club	2 hearts
Pass	3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his fourth best club [the proper lead of partner's bid suit]. East won and promptly shifted to the ace and king of spades. When declarer's queen dropped on the second round, East went back to the club suit, leading the ace. Declarer ruffed and, at this point, it was obvious that unless something could be done about the losing diamond, the contract was hopeless.

Now, as privileged spectators, I shall take you inside the declarer's mind and let you follow the simple processes of reasoning that took place.

"Now, let me see, what can I do with this pesky diamond loser of mine, aside from throwing it under the table? Is there any chance for a squeeze? Yes, if conditions are just right. What would these conditions be? Well, obviously, if one defender can hang on to three diamonds to stop the suit, while the other merely keeps a high spade, there is not a thing I can do about it. But suppose one of the defenders started out with four diamonds and four spades. The other defender can hold only two diamonds and, therefore, cannot stop the suit. Well, that's my only chance, so I may as well play for it."

Merely to analyze the situation was to play properly. Declarer led the ace of hearts, then a low heart to the jack, after which he ruffed a spade. This ruff, simple as it was, was the crucial play in that it prevented East from guarding the spade suit. West soon found himself in the position of having to hold on to his jack of spades and, at the same time, guard the diamond suit, an impossible feat. When the last trump was played, declarer had left the A-4-3 of diamonds. West, having to reduce to three cards, had the choice of throwing away the jack of spades, in which case dummy's nine would be high, or reducing to two diamonds, thus unguarding the suit.

Surely a squeeze of this type is not "over the head" of the average player.

ALSAB BEATS REQUESTED BY 4 LENGTHS; SETS RECORD

PULLS AWAY IN STRETCH DRIVE TO WIN $10,000

Sabath Colt Boosts Earnings to $88,065.

New York, Sept. 23 (AP).—A 21 year old track record tumbled today when Alsab, the bargain colt from Chicago, soundly whipped Requested, Texas owned pride of the east, and staked a strong claim to the 2 year old turf championship in their winner take all match race at Belmont Park.

Mrs. Al Sabath.

Flying the silks of Mrs. Albert Sabath, wife of a Chicago lawyer, Alsab came from off the pace in the final three-sixteenths of a mile to win by four lengths from B. F. Whitaker's chestnut colt. With Bobby Vedder in the saddle, the son of Good Goods reeled off the six and one-half furlongs in 1:16 flat, one and one-fifth seconds faster than the track mark set by Audacious in 1920 under 119 pounds. Alsab and Requested both carried 122 today. The time was only one-fifth second off Snark's world record.

12th Victory in 19 Races.

The $10,000 purse boosted the Chicago colt's earnings to $88,065 — a mighty good investment on the $700 he cost as a yearling at the Saratoga sales. It was also his 12th triumph in 19 starts this year. Requested entered the race with a record of nine out of 14 and $47,850 in earnings.

There was little to choose between the pair until Vedder shot Alsab to the front three-sixteenths of a mile from home. Heading into the stretch Alsab came from a length and a half behind to within a head of Requested. They raced that way for a sixteenth of a mile with neither giving an inch. Then, like Whirlaway charging thru the stretch, Alsab bolted to the front and rapidly pulled away.

The highly regarded entries from the Whitney stables broke even in the two divisions of the Futurity trial and William Woodward's veteran campaigner, Fenelon, took the $10,000 Manhattan handicap to complete the star studded program.

Dogpatch Pays $61.10.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver, winner of the Hopeful at Saratoga, lost to Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' lightly backed Dogpatch in the first section of the six furlong trial, but Amphitheatre, owned by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, won the second division.

Dogpatch, with little to show for eight previous races, paid his backers $61.10 in winning the purse of $3,250. It took the camera to give Amphitheatre his victory by a head over Warren Wright's Some Chance in 1:10 2-5.

Fenelon added another $8,175 to his earnings with a front running triumph. He won by three-quarters of a length from Mrs. Whitney's Corydon. Third went to W. E. Boeing's Welcome Pass.

3 Northwestern Football Players Join Air Corps

Ike Kepford, half back; George Benson, full back, and Bus Heagy, guard, of the Northwestern football team have enlisted in the naval reserve aviation corps, but will probably not be called for flight training at the Glenview base until the first of the year. They are enrolled in the Flying Wildcat squadron, composed of former Northwestern students.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE "warmup" opener is, indeed, a thing of the past for Western conference football teams. . . . Witness the lineup of opponents awaiting the chance to test the 1941 Big Nine array: Marquette vs. Wisconsin, Vanderbilt vs. Purdue, Michigan State vs. Michigan, Detroit vs. Indiana, Miami [O.] vs. Illinois, Missouri vs. Ohio State, Kansas State vs. Northwestern, Drake vs. Iowa, and Washington vs. Minnesota. . . . The Miami-Illinois and Drake-Iowa contests are the only ones which possibly could be rated as other than tossups, and there is a chance of upsets even here. . . . For the first time in years, radio announcers will not be plagued by a plethora of jaw-breaking names in the Marquette football lineup. . . . There are, however, a few puzzlers, such as Mel Maceau [Mack-o], Chuck Reger [Reeger], and Ollie Vogt [Vote]. . . . Sports fable: Once upon a time a batter lined a foul into the dugout and the players therein did not arise en masse waving towels in token of surrender. . . . A severe stomachache decided the 1906 White Sox-Cubs world series in the south siders' favor. . . . The sufferer was Third Baseman George Stacey Davis, who became ill on the eve of the series. . . . His sub, George Rohe, took over the berth and paced the winning attack. . . . George slipped into the minors in 1907 and never came back. . . . Bobby Bragan of the Phillies has perpetrated the hidden ball trick three times in the last two seasons. . . . The Cincinnati Reds still lead the National league in after-dark victories. . . . The faded world champions have won 36 and lost 21 since night play was introduced. . . . Brooklyn, however, is the class of the 1941 race with nine victories and three defeats. . . .

A Tennessee team won the amateur baseball championship of Kentucky this year. . . . The town of Pruden, which produced the champs, is on the border between the two states, but the postoffice is in Tennessee. . . . An Atlanta semipro nine had an all-brother infield until Uncle Sam broke it up by drafting one of them. . . . An Algoma [Ont.] golf club provides a Newfoundland dog caddie for favored members. . . . Six Nations, as he is called, not only totes the bags in accepted style, but also is better than his human rivals in locating lost balls. . . . Dizzy Dean still is a hero to St. Louis fans. . . . Every time Diz looks out from his radio booth in Sportsman's park he is cheered as if he had just pitched a shutout.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 23 [Special].—The Cubs turned meanies toward the Reds here today and kept them from clinching third place in the National league by stopping their eight game victory streak with a 5 to 1 triumph. It kept alive Chicago's faint chance of finishing fifth.

Bill Lee turned in one of his best pitching jobs of the season in scoring his eighth victory. Lee kept the Reds from reaching third until the sixth, by which time Johnny Vander Meer, the Reds' starting pitcher, had long since completed his shower. The Cubs knocked out the left hander with a four run attack in the second inning.

Cubs Two Behind Giants.

The Reds need one more victory in their remaining five games to clinch third place, but the Cubs face a more complicated proposition in attempting to overtake the Giants and finish fifth. The Cubs trail the Giants by two games.

Lee drove in one of the four second inning runs off Vander Meer with a single. The ball shot thru Vandy's legs and also sent the lefty to the bathhouse. Ed Lukon gave the Cubs a start in this inning by dropping Bill Nicholson's lengthy liner for a two base error. Babe Dahlgren then doubled to left, scoring Nicholson. Lou Stringer walked and Bob Scheffing's liner caromed off Vandy's shins into short left for a double which brought in Dahlgren.

Bob Sturgeon's fly scored Stringer and Lee then hit his single, which scored Scheffing and brought Jim Turner to Vander Meer's rescue.

Gilbert Does Some Running.

Eddie Joost started making an error an inning for the Reds in the fifth and his first misplay set up Chicago's last run. Charley Gilbert reached first on a bunt which Turner lost in the sun as it bounced over his head. Gilbert raced for second and would have been out had Joost held Ernie Lombardi's peg. Then Gilbert scored on Phil Cavarretta's single to center.

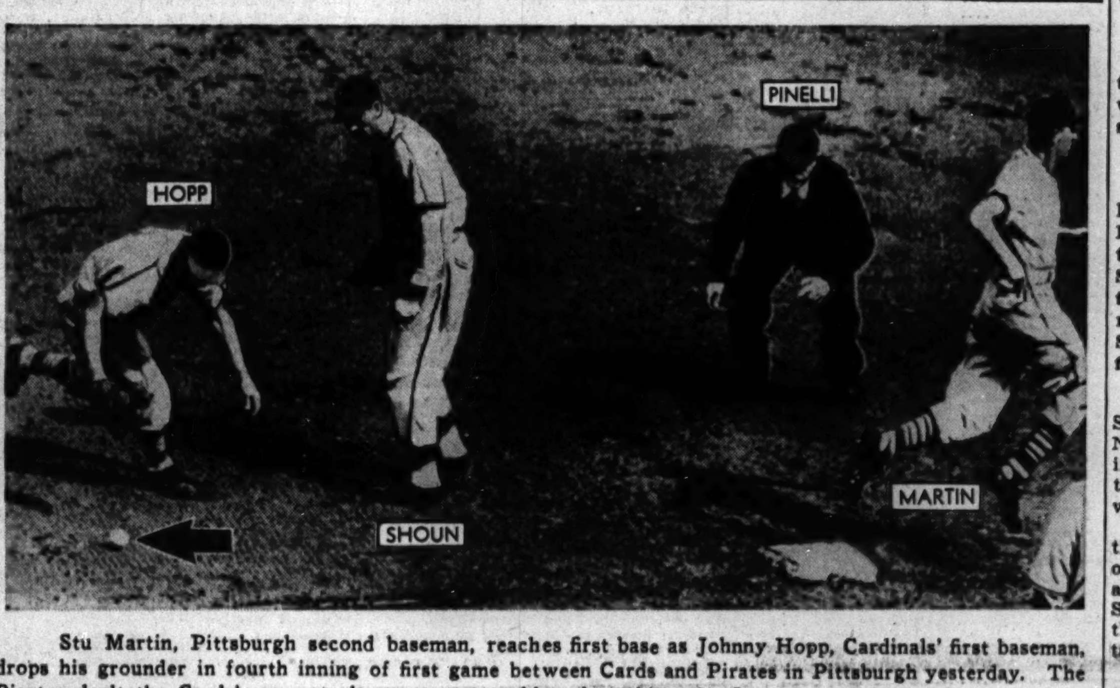
The Reds scored in the sixth on Turner's walk and singles by Eddie Joost and Bill Werber.

Jake Mooty will pitch for the Cubs tomorrow against Bucky Walters.

Harris, Red Sox Pitcher, Classed 1-A in Draft

New York, Sept. 23 (AP).—Mickey Harris, Boston Red Sox right hander underwent his physical examination at Fort Jay today and was classified 1-A by his draft board. He will be called up in about three weeks, a board official said. Harris, who has won 7 and lost 14 this season, left immediately after the examination to rejoin the Red Sox in Washington.

Nothing Goes Right for Cards in This Battle



Stu Martin, Pittsburgh second baseman, reaches first base as Johnny Hopp, Cardinals' first baseman, drops his grounder in fourth inning of first game between Cards and Pirates in Pittsburgh yesterday. The Pirates dealt the Cards' pennant chances a severe blow by taking the first game, 4 to 0. St. Louis won the second, 9 to 0.

NOVA IS CALLED TOUGH FOE FOR JOE LOUIS, IF—

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Sept. 23 (AP).—If you can overlook such things as two left feet and a couple of minor habits that could be fatal against the Bomber, Lou Nova is the strongest, toughest customer ever served up to Joe Louis.

This is no round tummied Tony Galento, no overstuffed middleweight like Al McCoy, no shivering Johnny Paycheck or Max Baer who is going to tangle with the heavyweight boss in the Polo grounds ring next Monday night. Nova is big and powerful, he's still a young fellow, and what's more, he doesn't think Louis has the fighting heart to stand up and belt with him over the 15 round route.

Nova's Confident, Anyhow.

"I'm gonna pop him," the Californian said after his semifinal workout at his training camp here today, "and he's gonna pop me. We'll probably both go down, maybe more than once. But I'll get up one more time than Joe, and that's the one that counts. He's going to get very discouraged trying to put me away after his soft touches of the past."

Manager Ray Carlen agrees with this so much that he announced today he would ask the New York State Athletic commission the day of the fight to instruct the referee not to stop the bout until one or the other is out cold.

Naturally, Ray figures this party is going to be the Bomber. But among the 300 or so spectators who saw Lou work out today in his next to last boxing drill, there was a feeling that unless he changes certain nasty little habits, Nova is going to be merely No. 19 on Joe's list.

See Trouble for Nova.

For one thing, Nova still has occasional lapses when his feet go into a quarter-to-three stance in the ring. It happened in his one round session today with sparmate Jim Neville, and the first thing you knew, Lou slipped right off his pins into a three point landing on the canvas. Another thing that should be very pleasant for the Bomber to see is Nova charging in with his left hand swinging low and his chin sticking out.

LOUIS GETS TOUGH.

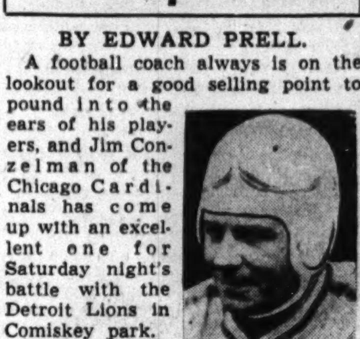
Greenwood Lake, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP).—Champion Joe Louis treated his sparmates rudely but stopped just short of knocking them stiff today as he went thru his most emphatic workout so far in his preparations for next Monday's title defense against Lou Nova at the Polo Grounds.

Punching viciously, Joe had George Higgs hanging on the ropes when time was called and kept Babe Ritchie from going down by holding him up when everything looked dark for the Babe. George Fitch and George Nicholson also took their beatings.

Mr. Dykes Is Stirred; Pays a Compliment

BY EDWARD PRELL.

A football coach always is on the lookout for a good selling point to pound into the ears of his players, and Jim Conzelman of the Chicago Cardinals has come up with an excellent one for Saturday night's battle with the Detroit Lions in Comiskey park.



Full Back Dykes.

He is stressing opportunity as his theme, since a personal search thru records of the Cardinals revealed the south siders never have been able to beat the Lions. This frustration dates back to 1933 and a lot of football players have come and gone since then.

Now, if these 1941 Cardinals can beat the Lions it will be a monumental evening. This is Conzelman's argument to his men. It also will give the Cards their first triumph of the season. They were held to a 21 to 21 tie by a better than ordinary independent eleven in Kenosha, then lost to Cleveland, 10 to 6, because of missed opportunities. Conzelman said some of the boys had to be introduced to each other before that game, he had so many late newcomers. Now they are calling each other by their first names, which is another good sign.

Coach Conzelman Shows His Lads How It's Done.

Chile Walsh and Phil Handler, Conzelman's aids, were busy yesterday in one corner of the practice field at the University of Chicago goading the Cards' linemen to barge into each other in offensive and defensive blocking. Conzelman meanwhile was concentrating on running plays, down to the slightest detail in ball handling, pivoting, and faking. He wasn't too well satisfied with the results and on occasion yelled "Gimme that ball!" then proceeded to give personal demonstrations.

In the midst of all this activity, a noted personage sauntered on the field, cigar in hand. He was the other south side Jim, Dykes by name. When Conzelman found an idle moment he stepped away from his players, walked over and greeted his visitor.

Dykes Hears of a Feat and Is Quick to Pay Tribute.

"You might wonder why I am here, Conzelman," Dykes said. "Well, I heard that your club scored six points in Comiskey park the other evening while I was out of town with the White Sox and I want to shake the hand of any one who had a part in a feat like that."

You could see that Conzelman was worried when he first saw Dykes, fearful perhaps that the baseball Jim would spread some of the White Sox

MICHIGAN STATE PINS HOPES ON A VETERAN ELEVEN

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

East Lansing, Mich., Sept. 23.—Michigan State college has a veteran football squad, but since these seniors have won only seven games out of 17 in the last two years it does not follow that experience necessarily will bring success. None of these veterans, for instance, remembers a victory over the University of Michigan, Saturday's opening opponent. Beating Michigan was the Spartans' proudest achievements from 1934 to 1937.

This may be State's year, however, as the loyal fans of this section assert. More than 15,000 will travel to Ann Arbor Saturday to help set a new attendance record for the series. The magnet is a chance to whip the Wolverines now that Tom Harmon, Forest Evashevski, and Ed Frutig have left the Michigan campus.

If there is a decline in Michigan's playing efficiency, and this seems logical, it also is true that no major team was more unpredictable last season than Michigan State. These same boys, who lost handily to Marquette and Indiana, also whipped Purdue and held Santa Clara to a scoreless tie. Santa Clara failed by one point to tie undefeated Stanford.

It's Up to Veterans.

The 49 players on the Spartans' squad today finished two weeks of drills. They will continue double workouts until the latter part of the week and will not go to Ann Arbor until Saturday morning, leaving here at 10 o'clock on a special train.

"Michigan State's success this year," Coach Charles Bachman said this morning as he watched his first and second elevens plan a defense for Michigan's plays, "depends on the development and performance of our veterans. We are not anticipating much help from our new men and the squad already has lost men by injury who were important in our plans."

Bachman was referring to Edward Ripmaster, 194 pound junior full back from Grand Rapids, who twisted a knee in scrimmage and will be out for at least a month, if not longer, and to Frank Karas. Karas is the regular right tackle, weighs 202 pounds, and comes from Escanaba, Mich. He also was hurt in drill last week and while the coaches hope he can play against Michigan he may not be of great value.

Material Tapers Off.

The right tackle spot, with Karas out, falls to Dick Mangrum, a 188 pound junior, who is supported by Howard Pound, a senior. The latter has played end for the last two years, winning a varsity letter in 1939 and a reserve letter last year. State's material does not run as deep at any

BEAT PIRATES, 9-0, IN SECOND; LOSE FIRST, 4-0

St. Louis Makes 5 Errors in Opener.

If—

THE National league race reached a stage yesterday which made it possible for the Dodgers to determine their own fate, regardless of what the Cardinals do. By winning three of their four games the Dodgers will win the pennant, even tho the Cards take their remaining four. In that event the standing would be:

Brooklyn	100	54	.649
St. Louis	99	54	.647

If the Dodgers win two and lose two, the Cards, by taking their four, will win the championship. The standing would be:

St. Louis	99	54	.647
Brooklyn	99	55	.643

The Dodgers play the Braves in Boston today and tomorrow, rest Friday, then return to Ebbets field to play the Phillies Saturday and Sunday. The Cards meet the Pirates today and tomorrow in Pittsburgh, rest Friday, then battle the Cubs Saturday and Sunday in Wrigley field.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 23 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals' chances for the National league pennant went tottering into the limbo of forlorn hopes today as they divided a double header with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates have been cousins for the Cardinals all season, but they disowned the relationship by capturing a 4 to 0 shutout in the first game and St. Louis' furious 9 to 0 conquest in the second was not enough to overtake the damage.

The split left St. Louis still a game and a half behind the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were idle today.

Mort Cooper Leaves in First.

Pittsburgh's victory in the first game was at the expense of Mort Cooper, the Cardinals' expert young right hander. The Pirates pounded him from the mound with three runs in the first inning and then coasted home on the southpaw slants of Ken Heintzelman.

Shortstop Martin Marion made a bad throw on Eddie Stewart, the Pirates' leadoff man in the first inning to sound the tenor of the game. It was the first of two errors for him and the beginning of a nightmare of five St. Louis misplays.

Stewart raced to third on Elbie Fletcher's double off the right field wall and both scored on Vince DiMaggio's sharp single to left. DiMaggio reached second on the futile throw to the plate and a moment later scored on a single by Debs Garms.

Shoun Pitches Well.

At this point Cooper gave way to Clyde Shoun, who pitched his heart out in a losing cause until removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The setback apparently shocked St. Louis into action in the second game and the Pirates returned to their familiar rôle as the stooges who had lost 14 out of 18 to the Cards before today.

Lefty Max Lanier pitched steady if not spectacular eight-hit ball, choking off repeated Pittsburgh threats, and the Pirates bolstered the Cards' eight-hit attack with four errors.

Two of the St. Louis hits were home runs and each came with men on base. Rookie Stan Musial hit one with one on in the fifth and Estel Crabtree connected for another with two on in the seventh. But the game already had been won. Rip Sewell started for the Pirates and was followed by Joe Sullivan and Johnny Gee. Scores:

OLD CROSSBOW II. (AGE 8 YEARS) WINS 3D IN ROW

Tunes Up for $5,000 Speed Stake at Hawthorne.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Crossbow II. tuned up for his engagement in Saturday's $5,000 Speed handicap by putting on one of the best stretch runs of the meeting to win the Man O'War purse yesterday at Hawthorne. Jockey Steve Brooks brought him from last place to first, setting him down in front in the last few yards. The 8 year old horse was going so fast that he drew out to a lead of three-quarters of a length in those last few strides. Remote Control was second and De Kalb third.

This was the third consecutive victory for Crossbow II. and the fans fancied his chances so well that they made him the 3 to 2 favorite. He ran the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5. His mutuel payoff was $5, $3.20 and $2.20.

Takes Place at Rear.

De Kalb, the 3 to 1 second choice, got away with his usual early speed and opened up a lead of two lengths on the run for the turn. Commencement was in second place and Royal Master third, while Crossbow II. was bringing up the rear in the six horse field.

On the swing into the stretch he was still last, but Brooks took him to the outside and sent him after the leaders. De Kalb held on well until the last 16th, when he began to falter. Remote Control had moved up with a strong challenge and was wearing him down. Then came Crossbow with his determined rush, sweeping past both of them and getting it all in the closing strides.

Falerno Breaks Down.

An effort to patch up the consistent old Falerno and get him back in shape to run, failed yesterday when he broke down in the fourth race. It cost considerable money to find out about his condition because the fans had made him the 2 to 1 second choice to Killarney Lass, the ultimate winner. Joseph Barrett claimed Falerno for $1,250 last month at Washington Park. He finished second in that race after having won four in a row for Paul Kelley. He came out of it lame, however, and his handlers didn't attempt to get him to the post again until yesterday when he was dropped into the fourth race with a $1,000 claiming tag on him. While Killarney Lass was setting the pace Falerno made an effort in the early stages. Then his right foreleg began bothering him and by the time they reached the head of the stretch he was so lame that his rider had to pull him up.

Smacked Gets Top Weight.

Racing Secretary Julius Reeder yesterday announced the weights for next Saturday's Speed handicap. The Arcturus stable's Smacked, most consistent sprinter campaigning at Hawthorne, was allotted top impost of 124 pounds. This 3 year old gelding is conceding considerable weight to all of his rivals for Red Dock, a 4 year old, is second high with 118. Crossbow II., Cadmium, and Certainty will carry 116. Twenty have been nominated.

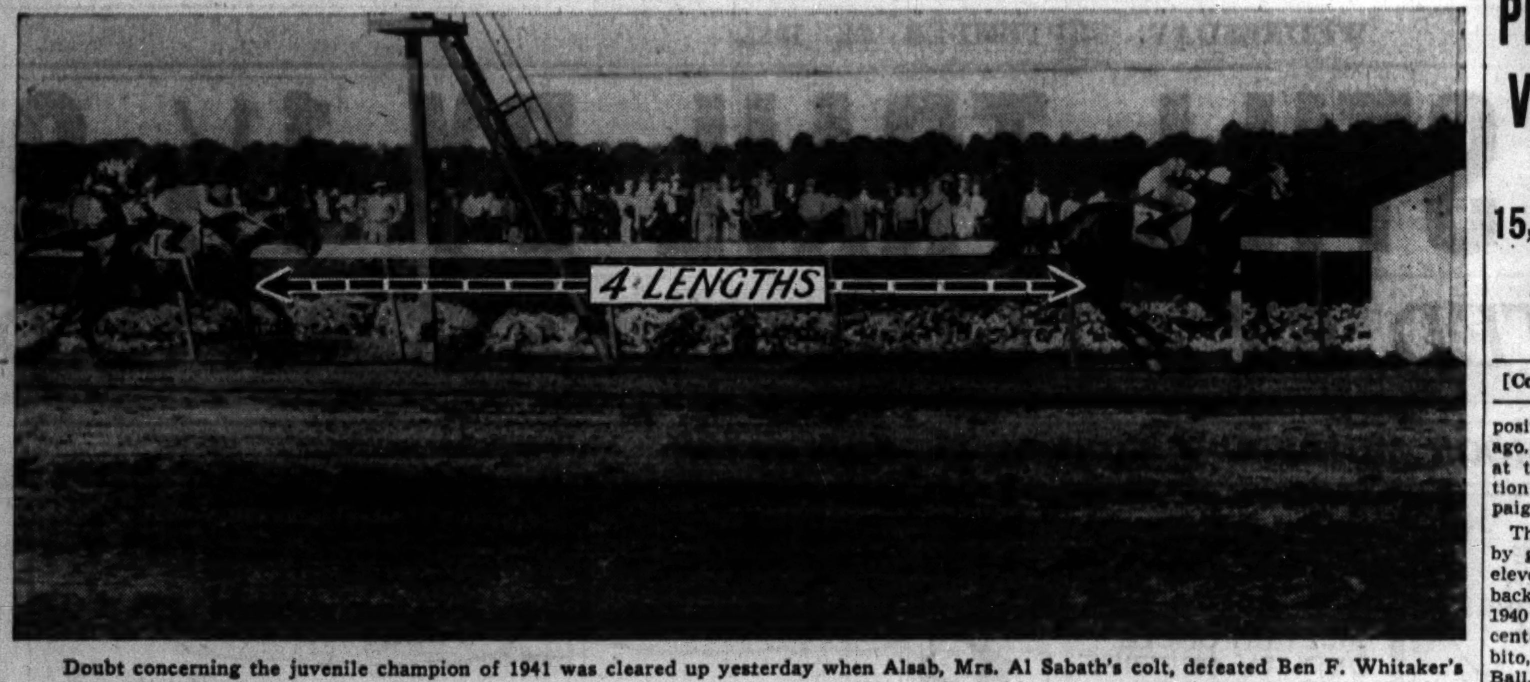
When Match Race for $10,000 Becomes a Rout



Doubt concerning the juvenile champion of 1941 was cleared up yesterday when Alsab, Mrs. Al Sabath's colt, defeated Ben F. Whitaker's Requested by four lengths in a match race for $10,000 at Belmont Park. Requested, heavily backed by easterners, led over most of the 6½ furlongs, but Alsab caught him at the three-sixteenths pole and started drawing away. The finish is shown, with Alsab, Jockey Bobby Vedder up, four lengths in front. Alsab set a track record of 1:16.

Should be— it's MARTIN'S V.V.O.

Every drop of Martin's V.V.O. is liqueur Scotch—which means the very pick of choice mellow Scotch whiskies.

And V.V.O. has another advantage. It's 88 proof instead of the usual 86.8—goes just a bit farther.

MICHIGAN STATE PINS HOPES ON A VETERAN ELEVEN

15,000 to Follow Team to Ann Arbor Saturday.

position as it did four and five years ago. At center and end, as well as at tackle, there's insufficient protection for the difficult nine game campaign.

Three of the seven letter men lost by graduation were on the starting eleven. They were Jack Amon, full back, and Paul Griffith, right guard, 1940 co-captains, and Bill Batcheler, center. Since last spring Dan Morabito, second right tackle, and Walter Ball, the squad's best kicker, have become ineligible.

Ball's ineligibility throws the burden of punting largely on Mike Schelb, senior half back from Allegan, Mich. Since the Spartans' ace forward passer, Wyman Davis, does little kicking, Coach Bachman also had to rearrange the varsity back fields. Schelb and Walter Pawlowski exchanged half back positions, so that Schelb now is at right half and can be paired with Davis. Pawlowski moves from right half to left half and supports Davis. Charles Carey, a right half back last year, now is the No. 1 full back because of the loss of Ripmaster.

Wy Davis Best Passer.

Michigan State was defeated by Michigan, 21 to 14, last fall. The Wolverines had command all the way, leading, 14 to 0, before the Spartans scored. Both of State's touchdowns were accomplished by long passes. Wy Davis probably is Michigan State's trump, for his pitches always are accurate.

Seven sophomores or players without previous varsity experience are listed in the current ratings, but only three of them are expected to be of great value. They are Howard Beyer, second team center; Glenn Deibert, second team left end from Pontiac, Mich., and Bill Milliken, 165 pound quarter back from Senn High school in Chicago. Milliken is a junior, but a series of injuries starting when an artillery caisson rolled over his foot before practice opened last fall, kept him on the bench.

The current ratings of the Michigan State players, with asterisks indicating the names of men without previous experience, follow:

Center—Tony Arena, *Howard Beyer, George Radulescu, Bill Monroe.
Right guard—Bill Rupp, *Don Leclair, Walter Kutchins.
Right tackle—Frank Karas, Dick Mangrum, Howard Pound.
Right end—Bob McNeil, Lew Smiley, *Roy Fraleigh.
Quarter back—Wilford Davis, *Bill Milliken, Bob Sherman.
Full back—Charles Carey, Roman Kaman, Cliff Eckel.

The Pro Titans, Bears, Packers, to Meet Sunday

Professional football is sprouting whiskers, a point which can easily be proved by Sunday's first big game of the year, which sends the champion Chicago Bears into Green Bay against the Packers in the first defense of their title. The game will mark the beginning of the third decade of competition between the two most famous teams in the National Football league.

They first met in 1921 and the Bears won, 20 to 0. They took the second one, too, 3 to 0. Then the Packers came up with a 5 to 0 triumph in the third contest. In all, the rivals have played 44 games. The Bears have won 22, lost 18, and tied four, and have racked up 469 points to the Packers' 403.

The last three games have resulted in Chicago victories. The Bears started the streak in the second of two games in 1939, winning, 30 to 27, in Wrigley field. In Green Bay early last season the Bears shocked the Packers, 44 to 10, after the latter had beaten the national College All-Stars, 45 to 28. When the Packers came into Wrigley field later in the year they also lost, 14 to 7.

The pro champions, who are in their second week of preparation in Delafield, Wis., for Sunday's game, haven't been defeated since Washington turned the trick, 7 to 3, in the Bears' final game on the schedule last year. The Bears came back with a 73 to 0 conquest of the Redskins for the league title, beat the league All-Stars in Los Angeles, 28 to 14, and since have won six exhibition games this season, two by last minute rallies.

MR. DYKES IS STIRRED; PAYS A COMPLIMENT

Hears Football Cards Scored in Sox Park.

goose egg fever to the Cardinals. But Conzelman's friendly spirit prevailed and he induced the Sox manager to address his players.

Dykes admitted he was a thundering full back for Haverford, Pa., High school, but that he made most of his yardage in reverse. Later he confessed the real reason behind his visit was to get a few footballs from Conzelman for use in batting practice. Dykes also requisitioned a few headgears, explaining that the noise from the rival benches is getting terrific.

His visit provided the Cards with a few laughs and enabled them to relax for a few minutes from strenuous practice. The Cards want to win this one Saturday. They want to live up to Conzelman's prediction that this is the best Cardinal team in many seasons. Too, this is the last home game with an out of town team. The Cards' other two Chicago showings are against the champion Bears in Comiskey park and Wrigley field.

They're Really Tackling.

Fresh face cuts and bruises many of the players are carrying around attest to the enthusiasm with which they are tackling their work and each other. Conway Baker, the veteran tackle, looked as tho he had gone a few rounds with Joe Louis. Baker, the oldest man on the squad, who confesses to 31 years, played a strong game against the Rams. In sprint sessions he outruns most of the linemen. Another veteran who seems ready for a big season is Tarzan White, the old Alabama player who also doubles as wrestler. The coaches liked the work of Ray Apolskis, freshman center from Marquette, and still are talking about the way Bob Morrow, the chunky full back from Illinois Wesleyan, plowed thru the Rams line.

Ray Mallouf, who was kicked in the head in the Cleveland game, is his lively self again. Opposing teams are likely to have a hard time distinguishing between Mallouf and Marshall Goldberg. They are dark skinned and built along the same lines. It may or not be coincidence, but Mallouf's number is 89 and Goldberg's is 98. This may make the opposition look twice to determine who is who—and by then it might be too late.

TIGERS DEFEAT BROWNS, 4-1; TIE SOX FOR 3D PLACE

Detroit Scores 3 Runs in Tenth Inning.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers put on a 3 run rally in the 10th inning today to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 1, and move into a third place tie with the Chicago White Sox, one-half a game ahead of the idle Cleveland Indians. The loss, meantime, buried the Browns a full game deeper in seventh place.

George Tebbetts opened the extra inning with a single to left and Frank Croucher sacrificed him to second. Pitcher Dizzy Trout lined out to center but Rip Radcliff, a former Brownie, singled to deep center scoring Tebbetts with the winning run.

They Do Their Running for Leo

Leo Lions' Football Roar Has That Same Old Fearsome Tone

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Leo's Lions are on the loose again on Chicago's south side... The Lions, 1940 Catholic High school league champions, who were tamed by Fenger, 18 to 0, in Mayor Kelly's game last fall, have already picked up two victories in practice games as a hint to league opponents they have no notions of relinquishing the title... Scouts of south division teams experienced several cold shivers as the Lions routed Catholic High of Hammond, 39 to 0, two weeks ago and followed up with a 27 to 0 scalping of St. Patrick in Shewbridge field last Saturday night.

A. L. [Whitey] Cronin, loop barrister and keeper of the Lions, will not predict another championship, pointing out that six regulars from the 1940 cast have been graduated, including Bobby Richter and Skip Carroll... However, rolling up 66 points in two games while holding opponents scoreless seems to be an answer for the 1941 Leo offense and defense... The Lions seek victory No. 3 against De Paul in Shewbridge field Sunday afternoon... They will rest on Oct. 5 and then engage Mount Carmel in the league opener on Oct. 12.

Ed Skoronski, former Purdue star, is assistant to Head Coach Bill Heiland at Austin High... Skoronski will replace Joe Murphy as head basketball coach immediately after the football season... The passing of Mills stadium to make way for a factory building has caused several west side teams to seek new home fields... Austin is playing home games at Key-Branch stadium, Roosevelt road and Central avenue... Fenwick, former Sunday occupant of Mills stadium, will play its home contests at Hanson park, Fullerton and Central avenues.

Elliott Hasan, Hyde Park coach, is a firm believer in the No. 13 superstition... Twenty-four Hyde Park regulars were graduated last June and only one veteran returned this year—Hasan's thirteenth at the south side school... Hyde Park lost its first game to Fenger, 44 to 0, and dropped its second last Saturday to Hirsch, 6 to 0... Coach Hasan also dropped several pounds when his sophomore quarter back called a bad play while in scoring position... Joe Kupcinet, Taft coach, claims he has the lightest and most valuable end in the Public School league... He is Richard Doebler, who weighs 133 pounds and is only 5 feet 2 inches tall.

Proviso claims two former All-Americans on its coaching staff... They are Andy Puplis, Notre Dame, who is head coach of the Pirates, and Chuck Kassell, Illinois, who handles the Proviso ends... Maurie White, Fenwick signal caller, is one of the leading prep golfers in the Chicago district, having finished among the leaders in several junior golf tournaments the last two years... Bob Nussbaumer, Oak Park ball carrier, recently was named a member of the Oak Park All-Star softball team... He is an outfielder.

Indians Close Home Season of Sox Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox and the Cleveland Indians will engage in a baseball match in Comiskey park this afternoon. It will be the 1941 league home finale for the Sox. Thornton Lee will be sent after his 21st victory and will be opposed by Jim Bagby.

The Indians virtually have kept the Sox from falling out of the American league this season. The Sox have whipped them 16 out of 21 and the Chicagoans are the only team which has not been defeated by Bob Feller. They whipped Rapid Robert three times before the batsmen fainted en masse. Last year the Indians beat the Sox 16 out of 22. If that ratio had prevailed this year the Sox now would be on the brink of the cellar instead of the brink of the second division.

No extra details of police have been ordered to handle the crowd at Comiskey park this afternoon. The terrific flop of the Sox in the last month appears to have left the fans cold instead of sympathetic.

ILLINOIS SENIOR GOLFERS HOLD TOURNEY TODAY

The 19th annual fall tournament of the Illinois Seniors' Golf association, one of the country's most interesting tee-and-green organizations, will be decided today at the Exmoor Country club in Highland Park. Thirty-nine foursomes have been registered with Chairman Ross H. Kidston.

Among the guests at the event, which is limited to golfers of 50 years of age or over, will be Admiral John Downes, Capt. E. A. Lofquist, and Capt. William F. Amsden, all from Great Lakes, and Col. Thomas Catron and Lieut. Col. Herbert T. Miller, both of Fort Sheridan. President Francis M. Knight of Exmoor, who has just "come of age" and therefore is an eligible senior; Vice President Jerome P. Bowes, Secretary A. T. Sihler and Treasurer Robert C. Brown, all of Exmoor, also will participate.

BUD WARD OF GOLFING FAME STOPS IN TOWN

Omaha Gallery Friendly on Return Visit.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Marvin Ward.

Marvin Harvey Ward, a personable young man identified as Bud in most places, but definitely known as Killer on any golf course, was in these parts yesterday, en route to his regular job as secretary of the Spokane, Wash., Athletic Round Table, where they are still celebrating the 29 year old curly head's second National Amateur championship victory.

'Tis a busy summer the young man has had, but he had time to discuss such topics as his unusual visit to Omaha, where he repeated his 1939 national triumph; the pattern of the amateur and his foremost rivals. Then, too, the hint of matrimony was introduced. On this latter subject, Bud was somewhat reluctant, his immediate goal being a match with the talented Ken Black at Vancouver's Capilino club on Friday. Perhaps you folks never have heard of Master Black, but he has been great shakes around western Canada for some seasons. And to return to the marital theme, don't be overly amazed if there is a Mrs. Marvin Ward come 1942.

Ward Supplies the Answer.

In locker rooms and on fairways the country over, since that astounding week in August, the question has been, "What did they do to Ward out there?" Bud supplied the answer yesterday, against the stories that the galleries in his final match against Pat Abbott of Pasadena, Cal., had done everything possible to thwart him. Eyewitnesses to the bout still feel that Ward worked against the greatest crowd handicap a golfer ever has met.

"If it appeared that the crowd was 'against' me during that last match with Pat," Ward said yesterday, "it may well be true. After all, I was the favorite and, more important, it was the first time Omaha ever had enjoyed a national golf event. Unfortunately, despite the efforts of the officials of the Omaha Field club, the course was not in top shape, and most of the folks in that last gallery never had seen a golf tournament before.

Gallery Treats Them Well.

"The big point is that one week ago today I returned to Omaha to play a special match with my friend Johnny Goodman, the Field club's best player. I brought a check for $1,000 from Spokane's Round Table as a gift to Father Flanagan of Boys' Town. Johnny and I then went out and played a match in which he had me three down at the turn, but, by going two under par for the last eight holes, I was able to win, one up, with a 73 that matched Johnny's. Most important, of course, was the fact that I never had enjoyed playing in front of such a gallery as we had. They just bent over backward. Not only that, but they paid $460 to see us, that sum going to Father Flanagan and his boys. I enjoyed that every bit as much as I enjoyed winning the tournament in August."

Not only has Bud won the Nationals of 1939 and 1941, but he also holds the record of having won the last two Western Amateur crowns. He admitted yesterday that the home folks in the Pacific northwest would admire to see the 1942 Western Amateur held in his home country, so that it will not be surprising if next year's WGA tourney is held at the Spokane Country club.

Notre Dame's Ticket Sales Hit High Mark

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 23 [Special].—The Notre Dame football ticket department held another intensive workout, before, during and after the scrimmage Coach Frank Leahy ordered for his first two teams today.

Ticket Manager Robert M. Cahill announced that Notre Dame's allotment of tickets for the Army game in New York Nov. 1 had been exhausted, altho tickets still are available at West Point.

The Georgia Tech and Northwestern games, in Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 11 and in Evanston Nov. 15, are nearly sold out, he reported. All box seats for the Navy game in Baltimore Nov. 8 are gone, tho reserved seats remain. The sale for next week's Indiana game is ahead of that for the Purdue game of 1939, which drew 40,000 spectators. The Illinois game of Oct. 25, and the Southern California game of Nov. 22 both are running ahead of 1939, Cahill reported.

BADGERS SHIFT MILLER.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 23 [Special].—Don Miller, 210 pound senior from Dixon, Ill., a right half back for the last two years, was running at full back today as Coach Harry Stuhldreher continued to shift the Wisconsin back field material in his search for a combination packing the most speed and power.

Pat Harder, Milwaukee sophomore, who had been out of action for several days because of a bruised hip, was back at left half back on the first team. Ray Kreick, senior end, was in a suit but limped noticeably and probably will not play in the Marquette game on Oct. 4. Kreick suffered several smashed toes several days before practice began.

MARQUETTE SCRIMMAGES.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23 [Special].—Six sophomores were in the first string lineup as Marquette university's football team scrimmaged offensively and defensively against the freshmen today.

Newcomers in action included Ray Kuffel and Ray Carlson, Milwaukee, ends; Chuck Reger, Toledo, O., and George Groves, Rossville, Ill., guards; Mel Maceau, Milwaukee, center, and Ollie Vogt, Milwaukee, quarter back. Forward pass defense was stressed in the morning drill.

GOPHER SQUAD OF 41 OFF FOR GAME AT WASHINGTON

Bierman to Give Veterans Most of Work.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 23 [Special].—Forty-one Gopher athletes, coaches, and trainers got a noisy send-off here early tonight as their special train pulled out for Seattle. Stops will be made at Miles City, Mont., for practice tomorrow and at Spokane, Wash., Thursday.

Before leaving Coach Bernie Bierman indicated that 17 players will carry the brunt of the work against Washington Saturday because reserves have failed to come along as fast as expected.

The Gophers will spend tomorrow in Miles City for two practice sessions and Thursday in Spokane for one, arriving in Seattle shortly after noon Friday.

ZUPPKE SWITCHES BACKS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 23 [Special].—Coach Bob Zuppke reshuffled his back field and tried new defensive strategy today as his football squad concluded two a day drill against the freshmen with their Minnesota plays.

Buck Correll, sophomore full back, moved to left half on defense and Half Back Steve Susic came in to back up the line. Tony Butkovich, regular full back, practiced at right half.

STUDY VANDY PASSES.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 23 [Special].—Purdue's varsity today took its first look at the type of tricky aerial attack Vanderbilt is expected to use in the season's opener here Saturday as a carefully drilled freshman squad presented its version of the Commodore offense in a dummy scrimmage session.

Commenting on the statement of Coach Red Sanders, "We'll have the best pass catching team in the history of Vanderbilt," Coach Mal Elward admonished the Boilermakers by adding, "Vanderbilt not only has great pass catchers but great passers."

VANDERBILT GETS READY.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 23 [Special].—The Vanderbilt Commodores concluded their two-a-day drills today and will begin tapering off tomorrow for the intersectional opener with Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., Saturday. Coach Red Sanders indicated that four sophomores, End Jimmy Webb, Guard Emil Fritz, and Backs Bernie Rohling and J. P. Moore, would be in the opening lineup.

N. U. STRESSES ABC's.

Northwestern continued to stress such fundamentals as blocking, passing, and timing of plays yesterday as Coach Lynn Waldorf sought to sharpen up the Wildcat attack after the indifferent showing in last Saturday's intrasquad game. He hopes that the emphasis on first principles will pay dividends when the varsity meets the freshmen in a regulation game in Dyche stadium Saturday.

Ready for Bell

Coley Welch. Tony Martin.

Welch, Martin Head Outdoor Show Tonight

BY FRANK MASTRO.

A 10 round bout between Coley Welch of Portland, Me., and Tony Martin will head the last boxing show of the season in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena, Wood and Madison streets, tonight. The former is listed as No. 5 middleweight contender and Martin is No. 6 in the current ratings of the National Boxing association.

Welch, who won a claim to the 160 pound championship of New England by stopping Henry Chmielewski last March, will be making his first Chicago appearance. He earned the chance against Martin by winning his last six fights in the east, one of his victims being Ernie Vigh. If he beats Martin, Welch will be in line for matches with Johnny Colan and Tony Zale.

Criticize Official's Action.

For Martin, however, victory will not be so bountiful. Neither Colan, the New York youngster, who has a record of 28 straight triumphs, nor Zale, world title holder, is interested in trying conclusions with the Wisconsin state ruler in his weight class.

Zale had one fortunate experience against Martin in a nontitle event in Milwaukee last New Year's day and he doesn't care to stretch his luck in competition with the fellow again—not unless he has to, at any rate. On that occasion Referee Ted Jamieson awarded Zale an eight round technical knockout triumph when Martin suffered an eye injury in the third round. The official's action was criticized as being premature, especially since Martin was holding his own at the time.

Martin Defeats Vigh.

That Referee Jamieson merited that criticism was established seven months later when Martin defeated Vigh in 10 rounds despite a badly lacerated eye and a cut nose suffered earlier in the fight.

Supporting matches:

Willie Joyce, Gary, vs. Quentin [Babe] Breese, Milwaukee [10], 137.

Joey Pirrone, Cleveland, vs. Gene Ward, Chicago, [6], 135.

Jack Haley, Kansas City, Mo., vs. Jimmy Joyce, Gary, [6], 130.

George Feltes, Milwaukee, vs. Jack Whittinghill, [6], 150.

BODEVIN WINS CLUB TITLE IN COG-HILL GOLF

A record field of 320 members and guests competed in the 14th annual fall invitation golf tournament of the Builders Tee club yesterday at Cog-Hill course. Included in the day's events was the playoff for the club's annual championship.

John Bodevin, secretary of the organization, captured the club title by defeating Herman C. Frey at the 34th green of their 36 hole match, 3 and 2. The lowest scratch score of the day was turned in by Harold Wymer, young Glen Eagle professional, who was four strokes under par with a 35—33—68. Scoring an ace on the 115 yard 13th of No. 1 course, C. H. Denicke, a guest, played the back nine in a three under par 33 for a 71.

WELLMAN JOINS BOWLING GREATS IN TRIBUNE MEET

Three Entries Filed Before Blanks Are Out.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Entry blanks for the All-Star bowling tournament to be run in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14 by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America will be mailed to more than 5,000 members of the proprietors' group and placed in the hands of the American Bowling congress before the end of this week. In spite of the fact that the blanks and accompanying posters have not yet gone out, however, Secretary Eddie Linsz of the national proprietors' organization already has three entries in hand.

One is the entry of Walter Wellman of Bucyrus, O., one of the country's outstanding 10 pin competitors—both in match and medal play. Wellman's greatest achievement was the winning of fourth place in the eliminations run in St. Louis last fall to determine an opponent for Champion Ned Day in the match finals this year. Lowell Jackson of St. Louis won the eliminations and will meet Day in the finals this fall, the last 40-game block of which is to be rolled as the No. 1 attraction of the All-Star tournament.

Among ABC Leaders.

In addition to having taken fourth place in the field of 42 at St. Louis, Wellman is well up among the leaders in American Bowling congress tournament competition. His average for the last six years has been 200.29.

In view of Wellman's record, particularly in the last eliminations, it is probable that the qualifying committee will name him one of the 60 who are to compete in the eliminations which are to lead to the 1942 challenger title. Sixty men will bowl 20 games apiece the first four days of the tournament and the high 11, together with the loser of the Day-Jackson match, then will enter a round robin. Winner of the round robin will be 1942 challenger.

The other entries already in are those of the winners of two major elimination events held on the Pacific coast during the spring and early summer. They are James Toomey of San Francisco and Gene Gagliardi of Los Angeles. Both won the right to compete nationally from large fields of the coast's best bowlers.

McCoy Likely Entrant.

Another likely entrant is Barney McCoy of Kansas City, who, like the nation's stars in general, is simply awaiting the arrival of the entry blank before mailing his check covering the $25 entry fee to Mr. Linsz. "Bowling's been coming into its own as a spectator as well as participants' sport," McCoy says, "and this promotion's going to prove it. It's going to be a great thing for the game."

Hank Marino, who preceded Day as national match game champion, is high in his praise of the event. Says Marino:

"May I add my boost to the hundreds which I know that you will receive over your new bowling tournament.

"There is only one thing wrong with it. It comes 20 years too late for me to participate in.

The Best from Everywhere.

"I expect to attend every session and know that I will see some great bowling because you are going to draw stars from every section of the country.

"I can hardly wait until Dec. 7."

TWO BOYS FACE LAW, BUT THAT RIDE WAS FUN!

8 and 9, They Collaborate in Driving Stolen Car.

James and Frank Butcher, 9 and 8 years old, respectively, waited calmly yesterday in the Willow Springs county highway police station for juvenile authorities to come and fetch them, and reflected with some satisfaction on the 15 mile auto ride they had taken the day before.

What made the ride worth remembering was that the boys, neither of whom had ever driven a car before, collaborated in driving this one. The car was stolen near 87th street and Archer avenue and abandoned in McCook, when it ran out of gas. The trip was made at speeds ranging from 15 to 20 miles an hour, the boys said, because they couldn't figure out where third speed was.

Try to Thumb Way Back Home.

The two were found at 63d street and Cicero avenue late Monday, attempting to thumb a ride back to their home in Roberts Park, south of Argo. Chicago police turned them over to the highway police, who learned the story.

Frank said he and James skipped school Monday and wandered to a store at 87th and Archer, where they saw a sedan parked in the rear. He said he had often seen his father drive, so suggested that James, the older, get behind the wheel and steer while he used brake, accelerator, and gear lever as needed.

They turned the key on and bumped into Willow Springs road, followed 71st street to La Grange road, then drove to Joliet road and finally into McCook, where the motor sputtered and died. As the car began to lose speed James steered it deftly into a vacant lot and they left it there.

They Just Slow Up.

Frank said they made the journey nonstop, just slowing up for thru highways and stop signs. James peered at the road between the spokes of the wheels and when he slid down to use the clutch, at Frank's direction, Frank gave him a hand in navigating the car.

Frank said they had intended to swing in a circle back to where they found the car and return it, but that the gas ran out too soon. He had a reason for the trip, too.

"We had nothing to do," he said, "and I wanted to teach James to drive."

HOODLUMS SMASH WINDOW IN CUT RATE MILK STORE

Police yesterday considered the possibility of new outbreaks of violence in the milk business after a rock was hurled thru the window of a delicatessen store at 5148 Division street. The store advertised two quarts of milk for 21 cents, or 4 to 6 cents lower than the usual store prices.

Mrs. Lillian Dworak, owner of the store, saw an automobile containing two men draw away from the curb.

The store is supplied by the Wagner Dairy company. The company's milk sells in stores for 11 cents a quart, or two quarts for 21 cents, and its home delivered milk is 13½ cents a quart.

The larger dairies charge 15½ cents for a home delivered quart, and 13½ cents for a store purchased quart.

Mrs. Dworak denied having had any trouble with unions or other dairies. Joseph Wagner, head of the Wagner company, said he had had no labor trouble.

BELIEVE SLAIN MAN MISTAKEN FOR MERCHANT

Robbers who were lying in wait for a market proprietor were blamed yesterday for the murder of Chester Goff, 43 years old, an asphalt plant superintendent, who was wounded fatally Saturday night in the yard of his home, 3403 Maple avenue, Brookfield.

Goff died early yesterday in the Berwyn hospital. Capt. Chester Crosby, of the Brookfield police, said he is convinced the slayers were waiting for Albert Vetrovec, the market proprietor, who also was Goff's landlord and lived at the same address on the second floor. Vetrovec arrived home 20 minutes after Goff was shot. He was carrying the Saturday receipts from his market.

Besides his widow, Goff is survived by four children: Martha, 13; Jack, 8; Larry, 6, and Patrick, 1½. Goff is to be buried at Lawrenceville, Ill., which he left two years ago to take a position with the Pioneer Asphalt company.

EASTERN GROUP WINS BIG ERIE REFUNDING LOAN

Santa Fe to Redeem Debenture Issue.

Large scale financial transactions of two railroads operating from Chicago—the Erie and the Santa Fe—were announced yesterday.

In competitive bidding for an 18 million dollar Erie refunding issue, a group of bankers headed by the First Boston corporation nosed out other syndicates headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. of Chicago and Morgan Stanley & Co. of New York.

The latter firm, the investment company outgrowth of J. P. Morgan & Co., had entered the field of competitive bidding for the first time since its organization, having previously confined its underwriting to direct negotiations with issuing corporations.

Plans Offering at 102½.

The Boston firm, to which the Erie awarded the 3¼ per cent issue on its bid of 101.0959, announced it would offer the bonds to the public at 102½. The Halsey-Stuart bid was 99.7597 and Morgan Stanley's 99.271, the difference of 1.8249 between the high and low bid amounting to $328,482 on the entire issue.

The Erie railroad, which is emerging from federal reorganization, will use the proceeds of the financing to redeem the following issues: $8,000,000 in New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio 4¼s; $2,816,000 of Cleveland and Mahoning Valley 4s; $6,700,000 in Erie-Cleveland and Mahoning Valley collateral trust certificates, and $541,000 in Rayen Terminals first mortgages.

Officials of the parent railroad estimated the refinancing would save $158,000 annually in interest. The bid, announced from Cleveland, O., was approved by a special federal court master.

Santa Fe Calls Debentures.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road announced in New York that its directors had ordered the redemption of $28,070,500 in 4½ per cent convertible debentures—the entire outstanding issue. The debentures, which are not due until 1948, will be retired out of treasury cash on Dec. 1 at 102.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane offered 210,000 shares of Norwich Pharmacal company common stock after the close of the New York exchange at $11 a share.

Offering will be made today of 147,397 shares of $10 par common stock of the Lukens Steel company, Coatesville, Pa., for seven stockholders by a group headed by E. H. Rollins and Sons, Inc., at $14 a share.

United States Sugar corporation filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission covering 200,000 shares of new $25 par value series A convertible preferred stock and 562,500 shares of common stock to be reserved for conversion. The preferred will be offered to stockholders as of Nov. 10. It will carry cumulative preferred dividends at the rate of $1.60 a year. Of the proceeds $2,500,000 will be used for capital investments in connection with expansion and diversification.

Call Victor Chemical Vote.

Stockholders of the Victor Chemical Works have been called to a special meeting in Chicago on Oct. 8 to act on the issuance of 54,000 shares of capital stock, which would raise the outstanding issue to 750,000 shares, the full amount authorized.

American Superpower corporation announced an offer to exchange its holdings of certain public utility stocks against tenders of its own $6 first preferred stock, for the purpose of retirement. The offer will expire Oct. 6.

FURNITURE SALES IN AUGUST 40 PCT. ABOVE YEAR AGO

Retail furniture sales in August averaged more then 40 per cent higher than a year earlier, a survey by the National Retail Furniture association disclosed yesterday. An unusually large increase in business during the last two weeks in August was attributed by dealers to the widespread publicity on federal instalment credit controls effective Sept. 1.

August sales this year increased 35 per cent over the preceding month, a larger than normal rise. Retail sales for the first eight months were 23 per cent larger than for the same period last year.

Dealers reported that sales this month are showing only minor gains over the same period last year, and the lull, they said, was probably due to general confusion in the buyer's mind over the extent of the government's credit curbs.

Vast Truck Strike Threatens; Ship Tieup Goes to Mediators

300,000 Are Involved

A serious threat of a strike of 300,000 motor freight truck drivers in Illinois and 11 other midwestern states was reported yesterday by negotiators for the drivers and truck lines, who had met at Hotel Sherman in an effort to reach an agreement on wages.

John L. Keeshin.

The meeting ended in a deadlock and was recessed until Oct. 7. The drivers have demanded that their pay rate of 3 cents a mile be increased to 5 cents. Negotiators for the truck operators termed the increase "out of the question," and both sides said after the meeting that "there is a serious threat of a strike unless the situation changes between now and Oct. 7.

Agree on Some Points.

John L. Keeshin, Chicago, general chairman of the employers committee, and John O'Brien, also of Chicago, chairman of the negotiating committee for the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, announced that an agreement was reached giving the AFL sole bargaining rights and a closed shop. An accord also was reached on seniority, safety, and other working rules.

"The operators contend," said Keeshin, "that the present pay rates—both the 3 cents regular mile rate and the optional 80 cents an hour for short trips—should stand, because operating costs are rising."

Increase Asked by Drivers.

The drivers have asked that the optional 80 cent rate be raised to $1.05.

O'Brien said that during yesterday's conference the employers proposed that the system of paying drivers by the mile be abandoned entirely and that hourly pay be adopted. He indicated that the union was cool to the suggestion.

Sail Vessels—Roosevelt

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A 10 day old strike of AFL seamen was certified to the defense mediation board yesterday and shortly thereafter President Roosevelt told a press conference that ships could not remain tied up because of labor strife.

Those ships must move, the President said, in referring to 25 strike-bound vessels anchored in various ports. The vessels are needed to transport arms materials to American industries and lend-lease goods to enemies of the axis. The mediation board immediately telegraphed union leaders asking that the men return to work pending negotiations, and called a hearing in the case for next Monday in Washington.

Two More Ships Affected.

The 25 figure was reached yesterday when crews of two more freighters joined the strike which started when union demands for higher war zone bonuses were rejected.

An estimate came from San Diego, Cal., meanwhile that employés had voted 98 to 1 in favor of striking against the Consolidated Aircraft plant which holds 750 million dollars of contracts for bombers. Both company and union spokesmen predicted, however, that federal intervention would defer the effect of strike action.

The balloting was ordered after negotiations over wage increases had broken down.

Company's Offer Rejected.

The union has rejected a company offer to increase the minimum wage scale from 55 to 65 cents an hour to 60 to 75, the rates varying with experience. The union demanded a blanket 10 cents an hour increase for all workers not affected by raises in minimum wages for beginners agreed upon previously.

At Coatesville, Pa., Lukeenwald, Inc., a subsidiary of the Lukens Steel corporation, yesterday was closed by a strike of its 600 employés. The plant's entire facilities have been devoted recently to the production of parts for submarine engines. The strike resulted from a dispute over a bonus system for paying employés.

INT. HARVESTER TRUCK PLANT IN OHIO TIED UP BY CONTRACT DISPUTE

Springfield, O., Sept. 23 (AP).—A quickly called strike halted operations today in the International Harvester company's plant here where 3,500 workers build trucks, some for the army.

While hundreds of workers milled at the Harvester gates, pickets were ordered to prevent any shipments, in or out, and to admit no person without a pass from the United Automobile Workers [CIO]. The UAW, recently granted bargaining rights, stopped work after collapse of negotiations for a contract.

The union sought a blanket 10 cents an hour wage increase, a closed shop, the check-off, paid vacations, and a minimum of 75 to 85 cents an hour for beginners. Present wage rates were not disclosed.

ARGENTINE DAIRY CHIEF STUDYING INDUSTRY HERE

Dr. Enrique L. Yalour, director of dairying in the Argentine department of agriculture, arrived in Chicago yesterday to confer with dairy industry leaders and importers. Argentina has become a principal source of some foreign types of cheese used in the United States. Its exports of butter to this country have been growing monthly, according to Ivan Carlos Weidmann, acting Argentine consul in Chicago.

Dr. Yalour conferred with importers yesterday and today will discuss the handling of milk in Chicago with Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health. He plans a tour of Wisconsin cheese factories and will confer with food dealers on the Chicago Mercantile exchange Monday.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23 [Special].—Prices of 1942 model Cadillacs have been advanced an average of 12.2 per cent over 1941, D. E. Ahrens, sales manager of the Cadillac division of General Motors corporation, told distributors and sales officials at their annual meeting here today.

DUAL JOBS ENDED FOR OFFICERS OF UTILITY SYSTEM

New York, Sept. 23 (AP).—Directors of Commonwealth & Southern corporation, large utility holding concern, today relieved certain of its officers and directors of dual positions held with both the parent company and its service company.

At the same time, two new members were added to the board. They are William A. Parker, president of Incorporated Investors of Boston, and Beauchamp E. Smith, vice president and general manager of S. Morgan Smith & Co. of York, Pa.

In line with proposals made to the staff of the Security and Exchange commission in connection with Commonwealth and Southern's service company, G. H. Bourne, J. A. Brown, W. H. Sammis, and E. A. Yates, directors and officers, have resigned from the parent holding company along with E. E. Nelson, secretary, and J. C. Guild Jr., former president of the Tennessee Electric Power company, who was a director of Commonwealth and Southern.

NONPROFIT FIRM OFFERS TO HELP IN ARMS POOLING

Small manufacturers who do not know how to proceed in participating in subcontracting pools yesterday were offered a nonprofit organizational service by Fischer, Garfield & Co., a firm of certified public accountants and management engineers.

Five hundred manufacturers in the Chicago area were sent invitations to utilize the service, according to Alfred Rodriquez, manager of the firm's engineering division. When their replies are received they will be segregated according to geographical area and the type of facilities owned.

Plants conveniently located near each other and with complementary equipment will be encouraged to unite into a working group to bid on government contracts, he explained.

"We will assist them by laying out a plan of procedure, refer them to the contract distribution division of the Office of Production Management, and attempt to obtain financial assistance for them," Rodriquez asserted.

WARNS PRIORITY RULE MAY RUIN CHICAGO FIRMS

Mayor Asks Speedy Action on 'Pools.'

The Small Business Man's department is on page 34.

Defense priorities are putting the squeeze on small business men in Chicago, Mayor Kelly said yesterday after a three hour conference with 17 industrial and labor leaders named by him to an industrial commission. Yesterday's session was the first held by the group.

Mayor Kelly told the industrialists, "We must try to find work to keep Chicago's factories going because priorities will put them all out of business if they do not get government defense contracts."

His suggestion was that the commission work with the recently organized Chicago Defense commission to stimulate the interest of small factory owners and operators in the formation of so-called industrial "pools" for combined bidding on arms contracts.

F. O. B. Ruling a Problem.

Mayor Kelly said the commission members told him one difficulty in getting military orders here is that most contracts specify delivery of the material f. o. b. the east or west coast. He said efforts will be made to have allowance made for Chicago manufacturers.

He said the defense commission will conduct a survey of all industrial plants in the city to determine what armament contracts might be handled. This material will then be turned over to the industrial commission.

"We hope to have Chicago firms bidding for defense work in pools within two or three weeks," he said.

Industrial Leaders Present.

Present at yesterday's conference were: Aubrey Mellinger, president Illinois Bell Telephone company; Carl Stockholm, Stockholm Cleaners and Dyers; O. D. Jennings, O. D. Jennings company; James Rogan Sr., Calumet Shipyards and Drydock company; H. B. Harvey, Harvey Metal Manufacturing company; Lawrence Hammond, Hammond Instrument company.

Richard Hackett, Central Manufacturing district; B. D. De Weese, Howard Aircraft company; Walter Paepcke, Container corporation; John Holmes, Swift & Co.; E. B. Querl, Association of Commerce; Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor; Victor Olander, Illinois State Federation of Labor; Sam Levin, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America; William Kelly, Arthur O'Leary & Sons; Whipple Jacobs, Belden Manufacturing company, and T. T. McCroskey, Chicago Plan commission.

GOVERNOR PREDICTS CHAOS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23 (AP).—Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Michigan declared today that the nation faces economic chaos "within three months" unless civilian labor and materials priorities are granted immediately to areas unable to participate in the national armament effort.

Appearing as a witness before a special house committee investigating armament migration, the governor asserted production quotas and priorities over essential materials threaten to wipe out the small business man and industrialist.

He said Michigan, as well as other states, was confronted with economic and welfare problems "far worse than the depth of the last depression" because small community industries are being starved by priorities and their resources are not being utilized.

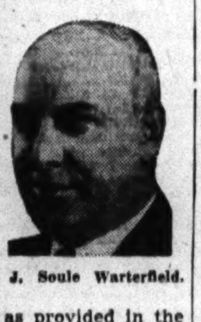
Council Group Acts to Speed Slum Clearing

A proposed ordinance for establishment of a commission to regulate slum area redevelopment projects was approved yesterday by the city council's housing committee, of which Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] is chairman. It will be presented to the council on Oct. 16.



J. Soule Warterfield.

The measure is intended to set up machinery as provided in the recently enacted Neighborhood Redevelopment corporation law. It calls for a five member commission to be named by the mayor. Members will hold office for two years.

Have Condemnation Power.

The redevelopment corporations are intended for rehabilitation of slum areas. The law gives them the power to condemn a part of land needed for a project if realty owners refuse to sell after most of the site has been acquired. The corporations are to be financed privately.

J. Soule Warterfield, vice president of the Chicago Building congress, told the council committee that it was important to have a priority rating established and work started as soon as possible on a demonstration project.

Urges Immediate Action.

"The new commission to be named by the mayor should at once get in touch with New York and Detroit where similar commissions are operating and the three should unite in getting priority ratings for such rehabilitation projects," he said.

"The present administration at Washington is understood to be favorably inclined to the redevelopment corporation idea, having said that it will help in taking up the construction slack which will follow a cessation of armament work, so a priority rating seems assured."

CHICAGO EXCHANGF'S OCTOBER TRADE HOURS SAME AS NEW YORK'S

The executive committee of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday established October trading hours to parallel those of the New York exchange, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., except for Saturday when the session will end at noon.

When Chicago returns to central standard time at the end of October, the Chicago exchange will resume its current trading session, 9 a. m. to 2:30 p. m., with the Saturday close at 11:30 a. m.

MONOPOLY RULE OF HARDWARE SALES CHARGED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP).—The federal trade commission announced today that it had issued a complaint charging the National Wholesale Hardware association, its officers and more than a score of member companies with conspiring to prevent competition in the industry and with creating a monopoly in interstate sales.

Among other charges, the complaint accused the association of coercing and compelling manufacturers to confine sales to members of the association or to others deemed by the association to be "legitimate" wholesalers.

Individuals named include A. J. Becker, vice president, Evansville, Ind., and C. J. Whipple, Chicago, a member of the advisory board. Member companies named included Butler Brothers, Chicago, and Schlatter Hardware Co., Inc., Fort Wayne, Ind.

BANKS' RESERVE REQUIREMENTS HIKED LIMIT IN INFLATION FIGHT

VOLUNTARY WAGE PACTS NEXT STEP IN FEDERAL RULE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP).—Leon Henderson, price administrator, aimed another blow at efforts to include wage regulation in the administration's price control bill when he disclosed today that the government was working toward voluntary agreements to prevent wage increases and thereby help forestall inflation.

Such agreements, he told the house banking committee, are "not only feasible, but highly likely." Altho he did not go into details, Henderson said Sidney Hillman, associate director-general of the Office of Production Management, had been working toward that goal for some time.

Complete Freezing Considered.

Disclosure of the voluntary wage agreement plan came at a time when strong sentiment was indicated in the committee for all-embracing legislation which would "freeze" every element of the nation's price structure—wages, commodity prices, profits, and rents.

In indorsing the voluntary plan for curbing wage increases, Henderson said that despite the war powers possessed by the British government, leaders in that country placed "much more reliance on voluntary understandings than on the law." He asserted this country had been heading toward such a solution of the wage problem toward the close of the World war and expressed belief that it would be worked out in the current emergency by dealing with price and wage matters on a regional basis.

Doubts Value of "Fixing" Wages.

Henderson emphasized that wages should be kept in restraint, but said that at the opening of a great national effort, such as the current armament program, "you cannot get the coöperation necessary by fixing wages."

In answer to questions, Henderson said that if wage increases were forced on an industry for which he had fixed a price ceiling, he would raise that ceiling to compensate.

Official Price Ceilings to Be Set on Paper Board

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP).—Leon Henderson, price administrator, said today that maximum prices prevailing under voluntary agreements covering all grades of paper board sold by leading producers east of the rocky mountains would be incorporated into a schedule of ceiling prices effective Oct. 1. The prices for the three base grades are $45 a ton for chipboard, $60 for single Manila lined board, and $75 for white patent coated newsboard.

Idle Funds Reduced in Effort to Arrest Price Rocketing.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—In a major step to curb inflation of credit and prices, threatened by the armament boom, the board of governors of the federal reserve system tonight ordered a boost to the statutory limit in reserve requirements for member banks.

The action is planned to reduce excess reserves—idle deposits of member banks—from about 5.2 to about 4 billion dollars, by requiring an additional 1.2 billion in deposits to be set aside as reserves. The order becomes effective Nov. 1.

The board and other federal authorities have long been alarmed over the potential credit inflation lying in the excess reserves, which could be expanded possibly tenfold thru lending operations. With less and less goods available for civilians because of the diversion of raw materials and other commodities into the armament channels, such an expansion of credit could cause severe hardship on the public thru rising prices.

Tonight's action was announced after consultation with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, and a joint statement was issued by Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, and Morgenthau pledging constant surveillance of the economic situation to curb inflationary trends.

"The treasury and the board of governors will continue to watch the economic situation and to coöperate with other agencies of the government in their efforts, thru priorities, allocations, price regulation, and

EXPECT STIFFER CONTROL OF TIME PAYMENTS.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP)—The commerce department advised consumers today to expect "further stiffening of consumer credit terms." A department publication said that the present restrictions of instalment credit issued a few weeks ago by the federal reserve board "are not yet designed to curtail consumer credit extensively." More restrictive rules are expected "as it becomes necessary to divert a larger amount of the country's resources to defense purposes." Instalment credit outstanding at the middle of this year was estimated at $5,800,000,000.

STOCKS OF ARMS MAKERS IN LEAD OF MARKET RISE

List Makes Average Gain Second Day in Row.

New York, Sept. 23 (AP).—For the second session in a row the stock market today managed to tack on a modest average advance without the aid of much cheering news.

Early bidding, centering on aircrafts, steels, and motors, later seeped into rails, rubbers, and farm implements. Best gains, running to a point or so for favorites, were shaded in the majority of cases at the close and minor declines were well distributed.

The Associated Press composite of 60 issues were up .2 of a point at 43.7. Transfers totaled 494,060 shares against 423,710 yesterday.

Inflation Fear a Factor.

Speculators, brokers said, found a little inspiration in Russian claims of fresh counteroffensive against the invading Nazis. In addition, inflationary ideas still presented an anti-selling argument. These were bolstered by further talk of growing opposition in congress to the proposed price control bill insofar as it concerned farm products and wages.

Reports of expanding department store sales and rising food demand helped such stocks as Macy and National Dairy to edge into new high ground for the year. Conversely, Consolidated Edison and Public Service of New Jersey were at new 1941 lows altho the former finished unchanged.

THREE CHICAGO PEAKS.

Altho prices again lacked a uniform trend, three issues traded on the Chicago Stock exchange sold at new 1941 peaks yesterday, Raytheon preferred and Sundstrand Machine common each rising fractionally, and E. L. Bruce tacking on 1¼ points.

Trading totaled 22,000 shares in 100 issues, of which 36 advanced, 29 declined, and 35 closed unchanged. Commonwealth Edison and Butler Brothers, two of the more active issues, ended at Monday's final levels.

Marshall Field sold down a fraction to 16⅛ in limited trading, which presumably was not influenced to any substantial degree by Monday's disclosure that Marshall Field III. and the Field estate planned to sell part of their stock holdings.

WILSON VOTES $3 BACK DIVIDEND FOR PREFERRED

Commodities

Cotton futures prices were carried as much as $1.50 a bale higher on a wave of increased buying yesterday, but hedge selling and mill liquidation near the close of the session reduced gains to 25 to 45 cents.

A government report showing ginnings for the season to September totaled 2,093,414 bales, 288,000 bales more than in the same period last year, contributed to the late decline. The early rise was attributed mainly to the tropcial storm headed for Texas and expectations that it would do extensive damage in the cotton belt.

Cottonseed oil lost 0.03 to 0.07 cent a pound after early gains of 0.10 cent. Coffee futures ended 0.05 to 0.17 cent a pound lower on liquidation brought on by uncertainties over quota changes.

PLAN INSURANCE HOLDER DRIVE TO CURB INFLATION

Magill Warns Savings of 60 Million Threatened.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 23 [Special].—Plans for organizing the nation's insurance policyholders behind a campaign to curb the growth of inflation were announced here today by Dr. Hugh S. Magill of Chicago, president of the American Federation of Investors.

Dr. Magill addressed the 28th annual convention of the National Fraternal Congress of America, whose 86 fraternal insurance societies have a membership of more than 7 million.

Plans National Campaign.

The campaign will be directed thru the newly organized National Policyholder's committee, sponsored by the investors' group, and will be carried on nationally because, Dr. Magill said: "Life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries would be among the heaviest sufferers from disastrous reduction in the purchasing value of the dollar, or any form of monetary devaluation."

The committee, he said, will urge upon congress and other public officials the adoption of sound measures for the prevention of inflation and oppose legislation deemed detrimental to the interests of insurance and the American system of free enterprise.

Policyholders Number 60 Million.

With Dr. Magill on the organizing committee of three are Alexander O. Benz, Appleton, Wis., president of the Aid Association for Lutherans and president of the National Fraternal congress, and Lester O. Schriver, general agent of the Aetna Life Insurance company at Peoria, Ill., and former president of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

"Life insurance companies and fraternal benefit societies hold in trust for 60 million policyholders more than 30 billion dollars, a large percentage of which is invested in government bonds," Dr. Magill said. "If only a few million of these policyholders unite in an effort to check inflation, they can not only preserve the purchasing value of the dollar, but can overcome the threat of unreasonable political interference with life insurance as a free private enterprise."

SEN. SPEAKMAN TO HEAD BOARD FOR MINE STUDY

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23 (AP).—State Senator John W. Speakman, Danville Republican, today was elected president of the strip mining investigation commission created by the legislature.

The 10 member commission, which met for the first time, planned to visit strip mining operations and conduct hearings to determine whether regulation of the mining practice is needed to prevent waste of land and resulting loss in taxes.

Harold Hicks of East St. Louis, one of the representatives of the coal companies on the commission, was elected secretary.

ZINC AND LEAD.

I've been considering American Zinc, Lead common stock as an investment because of the large amounts of metals needed for rearmament. I'm interested in learning if this company has been making money and paying dividends, but would also like some general facts.

—A. V. L.

Answer: American Zinc, Lead and Smelting company has had profitable operations in the last two years after a loss of $53,269 in 1938. In 1940, net income was $596,305, compared with $319,633 the previous year. For the first six months this year, profit was $389,296, against $253,640 in the same 1940 period.

Capitalization includes 68,463 shares of $5 cumulative prior preferred stock, $25 par, and 673,088 shares of $1 par common outstanding. At the end of 1940 there were 510 shares of $6 preferred which had not been exchanged for prior preferred and common under a recapitalization in 1935.

The prior preferred is in arrears and no dividends have been paid on the common since 1917. With $5 paid in 1940 and $3.75 thru Aug. 1 this year, prior preferred accumulations were $1.25 a share. Nothing can be paid on the common until the arrears are eliminated.

American Zinc, Lead, incorporated in 1899, mines, purchases, and smelts zinc ore. Lead output is relatively small. At the end of last year, total assets were $11,788,293. Liabilities included $900,000 in long term notes.

The company has announced in 1941 several mine and plant additions. Operations were reported at a maximum, with demand equal to or in excess of production.

SURRENDER VALUE.

How can I determine the surrender value of my life insurance?—A. T.

Answer: A table showing the surrender values for various years usually is found in the life insurance policy.

NEEDLES AND SPOKES.

What is the business of the Torrington company? What is its capitalization and where is its stock traded?—A. F. H.

Answer: This company manufactures sewing and knitting machine and surgical needles, wheel spokes, ball bearings, and other small metal parts. Sole capitalization is no par capital stock, of which 1,628,920 shares are outstanding. Stock is listed on the Boston Stock exchange.

Chrysler Introduces Its New Cars

This is the Chrysler New Yorker, one of the new series of cars now on view in dealers' showrooms.

'Advanced Styling

Newcomers in the display of new automobiles now appearing in dealers' showrooms are the latest products of the Chrysler division of the Chrysler corporation—the senior cars in the corporation's line. The new Chryslers bear a marked resemblance to the Thunderbolt, specially built job that was exhibited thruout the nation last year as illustrative of the car of the future.

The new cars are modernistic in appearance, presenting advanced aerodynamic lines. Front fenders have been redesigned. The steering wheel location has been changed to give more room between the seat and the wheel and the car interiors present refinements and improvements.

New brake linings have been adopted to improve braking performance when brakes are hot or in rainy weather. Engines have been made with closer fitting parts. Horse power has been increased in several models.

BANKS' RESERVE REQUIREMENTS BOOSTED LIMIT

Step in Federal Fight on Inflation.

otherwise, to fight inflation," said the statement. "Recommendations on the question of what additional powers, if any, over bank reserves the board should have during the present emergency and what form these powers should take will be made whenever the treasury and the board, after further consultation, determine that such action is necessary to help in combating inflationary developments."

First Change Since April, 1938.

The reserve board action is the first change in the reserve requirements since April 16, 1938. The new requirements and those now in effect are:

[Percent of deposits.]	Present.	New.
On net demand deposits:
Central reserve city banks	22¾	26
Reserve city banks	17½	20
"Country" banks	12	14
On time deposits:
All member banks	5	6

The board said that at central reserve city banks excess reserves will be reduced approximately from 2.4 to 1.7 billion dollars; at reserve city banks, from 1.85 to 1.5 billion dollars, and at country banks, from nearly 1 billion to about 0.8 billion dollars.

Declares Ample Funds Remain.

"The action will leave the banks as a whole with ample funds to meet all bank credit needs of the defense program and all legitimate requirements of their customers," the board said. "A survey made recently by the board showed that a large majority of the member banks will be able to meet the increased requirements out of existing excess reserves and all but a few of the remainder by drawing upon a portion of their deposits with city correspondents."

Concerning the application of the new requirements, "central reserve cities" are Chicago and New York; "reserve cities" include 60 other cities of lesser size. All the remainder in the reserve system are regarded as "country" banks.

WHEAT HIGHER; CORN DROPS ON CHANGE IN LOAN

Varying Rate Will Penalize Distant Sections.

Moderate buying lifted grain and soy beans markets yesterday but trading in futures continued slow. Wheat prices moved up around 1⅛ cents at one time on the Chicago Board of Trade. Profit taking developed and the close was ⅜ to ⅝ cent higher with December at $1.20⅜.

Corn futures were up about 1 cent early, but a department of agriculture announcement that the government loan on the 1941 crop would be on a different basis than heretofore, with loans in distant areas from consuming centers well below those in other sections, started a selling movement which carried the market off around 1⅛ cents from the top with the finish ⅜ to ½ cent lower.

Soy Beans Resist Selling.

Oats gained ⅛ to ⅜ cent and rye was ⅞ to 1 cent higher. Soy beans were unsettled but gained ½ to ⅞ cent for the day. A decline of $1 to $2 a ton in bean meal led to profit taking by holders of futures, but this was offset to some extent by reports of a good demand for bean oil.

Large receipts of cash wheat in the northwest and a lower basis for damp grain at Minneapolis relative to futures failed to have much effect on the market as a weather bureau forecast indicated that additional rains in the northwest which would check the movement to terminal markets.

Loan to Be Fixed Monday.

The government loan on the 1941 corn crop will be based on the parity price as of Sept. 15 and will be announced on Sept. 29, the department of agriculture said. The lowest loans, about 65 to 67 cents, will be in northwestern Iowa and southern Minnesota where the flat loan basis in effect in recent years has resulted in the accumulation of a large surplus. The highest loans will be 74 to 76 cents, it was indicated.

Two cars of new corn were received at Chicago yesterday and Kansas City has had 4 cars of new grain in the last few days.

GROUP SETS OUT TO DEMAND QUIZ INTO SCARCITIES

A delegation of small business men from Illinois departed for Washington, D. C., yesterday to deliver a petition asking for a congressional investigation of reported material scarcities. They will submit the petition to the state's senators and representatives in congress.

Headed by Frederick A. Virkus, president of the Illinois division of the National Small Business Men's association, and O. L. Wilson, director of the legislative division of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, the group will meet the Illinois congressmen this morning in the office of Senator Wayland Brooks [R.].

ALL INDUSTRIES TO GET REPAIR PRIORITIES AID

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23 (AP).—The Supply Priorities and Allocations board today adopted a policy of granting priorities assistance to all industries in obtaining repair parts. The OPM priorities division some time ago issued a preference rating system for repair parts to 20 industries and later the program was extended to mining, public utilities, and several other public utilities. The new policy will include even those industries which are not essential to defense, officials said.

★SMALL BUSINESS★ MAN'S DEPARTMENT

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published with comment.

RESEARCH EQUIPMENT.

I operate a laboratory engaged in medical research. I have tried unsuccessfully to buy several microscopes and other laboratory equipment. Can I obtain a priority rating? Our work is vital to public health.

Answer: A high priority rating of A-2 is assigned by the priorities division of the Office of Production Management to equipment required by research laboratories. You may qualify for this rating by applying to the chemical branch of the OPM on form PD-88, requesting preference rating order P-43, granted under the research laboratories supplies plan.

The laboratory should state in the application the number of copies of the order which it will need to extend the rating to its various suppliers. The laboratory itself will extend the rating to the companies from which it buys equipment.

Should the A-2 rating be inadequate to procure reasonable delivery of the necessary equipment, the laboratory should file an application with the priorities division on form PD-1. The division may issue an individual preference rating certificate with a higher rating applying to a specific delivery of definite material, if the research work is considered of sufficient importance.

TRUCK OPERATOR.

I have some trucks that can handle 10-ton loads successfully. If the government needs trucks why doesn't it give the small truck operators a chance to move some of the materials? It would at least help in a small way to spread the so-called defense work over more territory and give us little fellows a chance.

Answer: The military services of the government are employing rail carriers to move equipment and supplies made in arms factories. However, an expected shortage in rail capacity probably will result in the movement of some of this government material by truck. You may be interested in listing your name with the storage and traffic divisions in Washington, D. C., of the various military procurement agencies. Also, you may wish to offer your services to the contractors working on the various munitions plants in your area.

CHICAGO ARMS MAKERS FARM OUT CONTRACTS

Smaller Plants Get 44 to 68 Pct. of Work.

Eight large Chicago area companies with prime contracts from the army ordnance department have farmed out from 44 to 68 per cent of their work to smaller plants, an analysis prepared by the department showed yesterday.

The study was included in a nationwide examination by the ordnance department of 50 of its prime contracts on which 40 per cent or more were sublet to other firms. The report disclosed that of the total prime contracts of $271,652,000, more than 60 per cent had been subcontracted.

The companies in the Chicago ordnance district, the dollar value of the prime contract, the percentage of this value let in subcontracts, and the number of subcontractors follows:

ARTILLERY.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY guns, $12,120,000, 60 per cent farmed out to 284 subcontractors.

PULLMAN-STANDARD CAR COMPANY, mortars, $846,000, 48.4 per cent, 143 subcontractors.

PETTIBONE, MULLIKEN COMPANY, gun carriages and spare parts, $3,856,000, 55 per cent, 310 subcontractors.

TANK AND COMBAT VEHICLES.

GUIBERSON DIESEL ENGINE COMPANY, engines and spare parts, $3,895,335, 55.1 per cent, 125 subcontractors.

PRESSED STEEL CAR COMPANY tanks, $18,036,000, 44.4 per cent, 528 subcontractors.

DIAMOND T MOTOR CAR COMPANY, personnel carriers and spares, one for $15,325,810 and another for $4,538,101, 68.1 per cent, 186 subcontractors.

IOWA TRANSMISSION COMPANY, parts for tanks, $11,285,200, 50 per cent, 247 subcontracts.

AMMUNITION.

RHEEM MANUFACTURING COMPANY ammunition, $3,051,657, 56.1 per cent, 175 subcontractors.

The ordnance department made the subcontracting analysis to test the effect of the campaign to spread armament contracts thruout the nation's smaller plants.

"The organization of the war department's new contract distribution division is being completed rapidly and already has begun its work of spreading defense business to the small manufacturer whose normal peacetime work has been badly disrupted by the force of priorities," the report observed.
